BAPTISTS VICTIMS OF ITALIANS' ANGER

Party of American Missionaries Were Blamed for the Earthquake in Avellino.

REPORT MADE TO PREMIER

Vatican Regards the Baptists' Presence as an Insult—Crowd Wanted to Lynch Clergymen.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

ROME, June 16, (by telegraph to Clifden, Ireland; thence by wireless.)—After the various incidents between the Vatican and the American Methodists, emphasized before the public because connected with such men as ex-Vice President Fairbanks and ex-President Roosevelt, there is now another incident between the Roman Catholic Church and the American Baptist Missions established in Avellino Province, which was so tried by the latest earthquake.

On both sides, as with the Methodists, there are accusations of intolerance On the one hand, Mgr. Giuseppe Padula, Bishop of Avellino, and the whole of his clergy, following instructions received from the Vatican, declare that the mere presence of the Baptist missionaries in a region entirely Catholic is an insult and an intolerable outrage, while on the other hand, James P. Stuart of St. Louis, Mo., who was sent to Italy by the American Baptist Missionary Union, and all his assistants in the Avellino district maintain that it is a violation of the most elementary liberty and is an exhibition of mediaeval intolerance to prevent them from ministering their religion wherever they have adherants.

By both sides the Italian authorities are accused of showing insufficient energy in stamping out intolerance.

Mr. Stuart, who now speaks Italian fluently, has already had some proof of how the evangelic sweetness of Christianity is interpreted by an ignorant, fanatical population, and immediately after the earthquake his escape from the hands of a mob was so narrow that a report was circulated that he might be lynched at any moment.

Mr. Stuart's Statement.

Mr. Stuart has just reported to Premier Luzzatti that on the night of the earthquake he and some companions engaged in the mission work were attacked in a most brutal manner, the people apparently blaming them for the earthquake. A crowd numbering thousands of persons attacked the Americans and declared that they meant to hang them. Mr. Stuart says the police wanted himself and the others to leave Avellino, but this they refused to do, owing to the interpretation that would be placed upon their departure. However, they left later, guarded by 200 soldiers.

There is no doubt that the situation was very serious. It appeared so critical that Ambassador Leishman, who allows no American interest or citizen to go unprotected, wrote immediately to the Italian Foreign Office:

"As I am informed that there is a Baptist mission at Calitri, which is one of the towns reported to have suffered considerably from the earthquake shock last night, I would be pleased to have you send any news which may have reached you. As far as I can learn no Americans are injured, and I can only hope that the reports that have reached me may prove to have been false, although it appears that the shocks in the Avellino district were quite severe and that a number of persons were killed.

"It is not to be wondered at that the population are terribly excited, as the Messina disaster is still fresh in the minds of every one, and enough to strike terror into all hearts. I will greatly appreciate any information you are able to send upon the subject."

Mr. Leishman Attacked.

The letter of the American Ambassador could not be more innocent, but it must be remembered that Mr. Leishman has been accused and attacked by Catholics here and in America as responsible for the incident in connection with Mr. Roosevelt's visit to the Pontiff, so that now the Catholic papers print this letter and say he is again interfering, again trying to play the game of the Baptists, after having played that of the Methodists.

The villages where the Baptists have missions in the Province of Avellino, especially Bisaccia, Calitri, Pescopagano, and Quardia-Lombardia, are practically in a state of siege, the Government having sent plenty of troops ready to check all disorders. The situation is especially grave at Bisaccia, which the Baptist minister was obliged to leave and where Mr. Stuart is determined that another shall go.

Premier Luzzatti, knowing the character of his countrymen, has urged upon Mr. Stuart that no retaliatory measures be taken, and Mr. Stuart has agreed not to go back to Avellino at present.

The American Baptist Missionary Union's activity in Italy dates back to 1870, when the occupation of Rome by Victor Emmanuel opened up that city as a field for Protestant Churches. William W. Cote, who had been Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association in France, was sent as the first missionary, and from the beginning made by him in Rome the work spread until there are now twenty-five Baptist Churches and thirty-seven stations in the peninsula and Sicily, Sardinia, and Austria.

The cities containing churches include Rome, Milan, Venice, Modena, Carpi, Bari, and Naples. The total membership is less than 1,000 men, women, and children, and the work of the ministry is carried on largely by local converts under the control of mission headquarters in Rome.

Archbishop Ireland is thought to have included the Baptists in his statement of last Feb. 9 criticising the Methodists. Of churches other than the Baptists, he said: "There are in Rome Protestant American churches for the benefit of Americans that put forth legitimate efforts, mind their own business, and make no war on the Catholic Church."

KAISER AGAIN INDISPOSED.

Abrasion on His Knee the Result of Friction in the Saddle.

POTSDAM, June 16.—Emperor William, who was recently inconvenienced by an abscess on the right wrist, is now troubled with an abrasion on the inside of the right knee.

It was produced by horseback riding, and caused his Majesty to abandon his purpose of witnessing to-day's military manoeuvres at Döberitz. He has also cancelled an engagement for to-morrow at Hanover, and he will not witness, as he had planned, the yacht race at Hamburg on Saturday. The Emperor's household physician stated to-day that the general condition of his Majesty was most satisfactory.

The Emperor's saddle horses have been trained to guidance through pressure from the rider's knees. Recently his Majesty has taken long rides, and, the skin having been rubbed off in a spot on the inside of the right knee, a blister resulted.

This afternoon an official bulletin was issued cautioning the public against the impression that the inflammation was in any way connected with the recent abscess on the wrist, which is now healed. The bulletin adds that his Majesty has not experienced any rise of temperature.

His Majesty was present with the members of the imperial family at a dinner at the palace this evening. Members of his suite, in speaking of his indisposition, say that he went out yesterday with the intention of taking a short ride. The coolness of the atmosphere, after the previous day's deluge, induced him to extend his excursion two hours. When he returned to the palace there was an abrasion of a tendon on the inside of the knee, from which there was a slight watery discharge.

The Emperor rests most of the time on a couch. He is rather impatient over his enforced idleness, but in other respects he is cheerful. His physicians expect a complete restoration to health within a week.

The physicians affirmed to-night that the Emperor's condition does not give rise to any anxiety whatsoever. In view of the fact that his Majesty is just recovering from an abcess on the wrist, his new ailment caused some alarm, but the doctors have only advised the Emperor to refrain from riding; otherwise he may pursue his usual occupations.

CLOUDBURST KILLS 300.

Several Hungarian Villages Annihilated—Floods in Switzerland.

BUDAPEST, June 16.—Nearly 300 persons were killed and several villages were annihilated by a cloudburst to-day in Krasso-Szoreny, a country of Hungary bordering on Transylvania, Roumania, and Servia. The district is mainly peopled by Roumanians.

It is expected that the death roll will be greatly increased when communications, which have been almost completely cut off are restored.

Bridges and telegraph and telephone wires in the district have been destroyed, and it is feared that many of the survivors of the flood will die from starvation or exposure before it is possible to send assistance.

BERNE, June 16.—The floods in Switzerland, caused by continued rains, particularly in the eastern and central districts, have proved to be the most disastrous in the past sixty years.

Twenty lives have been lost in the swollen waters.

Many bridges, constructed at great expense, have been either carried away or seriously damaged.

Property losses aggregating $2,500,000 have already been reported.

POSTAL INDICTMENT.

Head of Ohio Paper Concern Charged in Connection with Post-Card Contract

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The Grand Jury of the District of Columbia has returned an indictment against Peter G. Thompson of Hamilton, Ohio, charging him with attempting to bribe W. P. Zanzinger, a post card examiner of the Government Printing Office, in connection with a contract for post card paper for the Post Office Department. Mr. Thompson is President of the Champion Coated Paper Company of Hamilton, which secured a contract recently for a large amount of paper for post cards.

Some of the paper was used, and complaints about the poor quality of the cards followed. In the course of investigation by the department Zanzinger went to the Postmaster General and gave information which led to the indictment of Mr. Thompson. Mr. Thompson, who was in Washington to-day, gave this explanation of the matter:

"There is no truth in the charge of attempted corruption. The trouble was brought about by a discharged employe of the paper company, who had been our Washington representative. Zanzinger came to our mill in regard to the inspection of post card stock. He gave me some damaging reports of the methods used by this discharged employe to injure us in the matter of our contract, and offered to furnish further information as to the actions of this man outside of his official capacity, for which I agreed to pay him, and did send him $100 for this purpose only.

"Instead of furnishing the information it seems he notified his department, misrepresenting the facts, and denying that he had agreed to furnish the information referred to."

TO WAGE WAR ON ELLIS.

Burton-Cox Alliance Plans to Control Ohio State Organization.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 16.—The displacement of Wade H. Ellis as Chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee and the substitution of A. L. Garford of Elyria, is the latest plan of the allied forces of United States Senator Burton and George B. Cox, boss of Cincinnati. The success of this programme means the loss of control of the State organization by the Taft leaders of 1908, who put Ellis in charge of the organization in February, namely Arthur I. Vorys and Walter S. Brown, and it means the defeat of Senator Dick's hopes of getting control.

Since the announcement of the Burton-Cox alliance one fact has been clearly discernible, the improbability of Theodore Roosevelt's being induced to take part in the Ohio campaign if Judge Brown should be nominated. Roosevelt left Cincinnati very angry after spending a night in that city in the course of his campaign tour as candidate for Vice President in 1900, because the Cox organization refused to arrange a meeting for him or to permit the Stamina Republican League to carry out its plan of escorting him across the bridge from Kentucky, where he had been campaigning. Roosevelt inspired Taft to make his famous Akron speech against Cox in 1905 as a reminder that he hadn't forgotten this. In these circumstances, the chances that Roosevelt would take the stump for a man brought out by Cox are considered infinitesimal.

MRS. DEAN GETS $194,000.

Stepdaughters Agree That Her Diary Shall Be Destroyed.

CHICAGO, June 16.—By a decree entered by Judge Ball to-day pursuant to the terms of a private settlement, Mrs. Susanne Ellwood Dean gets $193,730 from the estate of her late husband, John E. Dean, a millionaire. Her diary, which exercised a potent influence in the case, is said to have been destroyed, this being one of the stipulations agreed to by Mrs. Dean's stepdaughters, who opposed her suit for dower rights in the estate.

This intimate chronicle was offered in evidence during the hearing of Mrs. Dean's suit. Its appearance, with the prospect of its contents becoming public property, was quickly followed by the private negotiations as a result of which a settlement was reached.

CITY ADVERTISING INQUIRY CHECKED

Grand Jury May Now Take Up a Trail the Mayor's Investigator Has to Abandon.

PAYMENTS TO CITY OFFICERS

But Court Rules That Fosdick May Not Compel Production of Private Books Which Might Explain Them.

A ruling of Supreme Court Justice Crane in Brooklyn yesterday set a limit on the powers of Commissioner of Accounts Fosdick in investigating the affairs of city departments and checked temporarily an important inquiry he is holding by direction of Mayor Gaynor into the method of placing city advertising in the last administration.

The Justice's ruling brought out incidentally the serious aspect being assumed by this investigation with relation to certain officials who were close to Mayor McClellan. Last night it was announced that an appeal from Justice Crane's ruling would be taken at once, and at the same time it became known that the interrupted investigation may be taken up by the Grand Jury. In fact it was asserted that District Attorney Whitman has already begun to take an interest in the subject matter of Mr. Fosdick's investigation, and that at least one of the men concerned has been before the District Attorney to answer questions pertinent to the inquiry.

Justice Crane's ruling was on an application of William George Foster to cancel and set aside a subpoena duces tecum, issued by Commissioner Fosdick, which would give the Commissioner the right to look into books and other records bearing on city advertising. Justice Crane held that the law gave to a Commissioner of Accounts only the right to examine city employes and city documents.

"It is certain," said Justice Crane, "that no power is given to issue subpoenas duces tecum to produce private books and papers of persons not in the city's employ.

"William George Foster," continued the Justice, "was at no time an employe of the City of New York or in any way connected with any of its departments. The question is, has the Legislature of this State clothed the Commissioner of Accounts with the power to subpoena any individual? If the Commissioners have the power claimed, then any person may be summoned before them. So broad are these powers that I cannot believe it was the intention of the Legislature or the purpose of the act to extend the duties of the Commissioners to such examinations.

"In my opinion these Commissioners of Accounts are charged with the duty of examining the accounts of the city and its various offices, together with the methods of any of the departments, and for that purpose may compel the attendance of witnesses to explain or testify to the correctness or accuracy of the books or methods of work. The persons to be examined were evidently intended to be the city employes and no others."

John A. Hennessy, Chairman of the City Record Commission, which looked into the matter of city advertising recently, and after whose report Mr. Fosdick was set investigating by the Mayor, said last night in explanation of the decision:

"The application made by Commissioner Fosdick to Justice Crane and denied by the latter was for the purpose of disclosing why Foster gave checks payable to the order of John H. O'Brien, Frank M. O'Brien, and William A. Willis.

"Foster," continued Mr. Hennessy, "through the Mayor's office, practically controlled the city advertising through what is known as the Securities Advertising Company. His partner, William J. K. Kenney, began suit last year for an accounting and a receiver was appointed. Then a referee was named to hear testimony and decide what proportion of the profits should have gone to Kenney. During this inquiry it was developed that certain moneys collected from advertising had been kept in a separate fund by Foster without the knowledge of Kenney. Checks from this fund had been drawn by Foster and made payable to the O'Briens and Willis.

"The City Record Commission could not tell whether these payments were innocent transactions on the part of the O'Briens and Willis. The commission applied to Hamilton Holt, receiver for the Securities Advertising Company, for copies of the checks, basing the application on the ground that an investigation of the city advertising was under way.

"Mr. Holt said he would be glad to give copies of the checks, but was estopped by an order of the court prohibiting him from letting any one except the litigants and counsel have access to them.

"A report was made to the Mayor, and thereupon Mr. Fosdick was requested to go before a Supreme Court Justice and ask for a modification of the original order so that the City Record Commission might learn why Foster had made these payments and what sums had been paid him by certain moribund weekly newspapers for advertising. Justice Crane has denied the application on the ground that George W. Foster was not a city official and that the Commissioner of Accounts cannot seize the books of a private concern doing business with the city."

STATEHOOD BILLS PASSED.

Senate Votes Unanimously to Admit Arizona and New Mexico Separately.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—After a mild debate of less than three hours the Senate to-day unanimously passed the Statehood bill conferring separate statehood upon Arizona and New Mexico. What little fight there was arose from the Democratic effort to supplant the amendments of the Senate committee by the House provisions, and this effort was finally defeated by a strictly partisan vote of 42 to 19. The chief speeches were made by Chairman Beveridge of the Committee on Territories and Senator Frazier of Tennessee, the ranking minority member.

The difference between the House and Senate is simply in the different qualifications required for the voters on the Constitution Arizona will proceed to draft. The House bill leaves the matter as prescribed by the present Territorial statute with its educational requirements. These disfranchise some thousands of Republican voters, and the Republican Senators refused to permit this.

To quiet the fears of the Democrats that the bill would be left to die in conference, Mr. Beveridge assured Mr. Money, minority leader, that the absence of no member of the Conference Committee would be allowed to retard consideration of the measure. Senators Nelson of Minnesota and Carter of Montana were still more emphatic in declaring that the Republicans intended to proceed in good faith to the admittance of the States.

LEAPED TO DEATH IN THE SUBWAY.

MANGLED BY THE CARS

No One on the Station Platform Except Himself and Only the Brakeman Saw Him Jump.

Richard Auerbach, 40 years old, a fur dealer of 86 Mercer Street, and Secretary and Director of the Readograph Company of 5 East Fourteenth Street, leaped to the railway tracks before a north-bound Broadway local train at the Ninety-first Street station yesterday evening. The wheels mangled him beyond recognition. Mrs. David Hays of 306 West Ninety-fourth Street, Auerbach's sister, and other members of his family, insisted that he did not commit suicide. They said his eyesight was defective and that he might have stepped off the platform by mistake.

Identification of the dead man was made by articles in his pockets. Among these was his watch, which stopped at 6:33 P. M., the minute he died. The watch held in its cover the picture of Auerbach's aged mother, Mrs. Josephine Auerbach, the widow of Benjamin Auerbach. Auerbach lived with her and an unmarried sister at 697 West End Avenue in the Wissinoming apartment house. Mrs. Auerbach and her daughters collapsed at the news of his death. David A. Hays, his brother-in-law, dealer in agricultural implements at 21 State Street, went to the West 100th Street Police Station and verified the police identification. Mr. Hays would not talk for publication.

So far as could be learned there were no passengers on the north-bound platform of the Ninety-first Street station at the time Auerbach met his death. Traffic at that hour, north bound, is light. Andrew W. Cochran, motorman of the train, told the police that the first car had just entered the station under control when Auerbach jumped. He applied the emergency brakes and stopped the first car about opposite the middle of the station platform, but too late to save Auerbach. Charles O'Connor, conductor of the train, also told of the application of the emergency brakes.

Auerbach's body was found under the second car. It was placed in an ambulance and taken to the West 100th Street station to await the action of the Coroner. In the dead man's pockets were found besides his watch two spectacle cases and 15 cents in money.

It was learned that Auerbach, together with other members of his family, had been seriously grief-stricken over the death of his favorite niece, who was buried Wednesday. Mrs. Hays said the news of her brother's death would probably kill her mother, who was already heart-broken over the death of her grandchild. She herself swooned, and on recovering consciousness said:

"Isn't it wonderful how much grief the human heart can bear and still live!"

PATTERSON IS RENOMINATED.

Tennessee Democrats Also Recommend McMillan for U. S. Senator.

NASHVILLE, June 16.—The Democratic State Convention, which assembled in the Ryman Auditorium here to-day, nominated the following ticket to-night:

For Governor—Malcolm M. Patterson, Memphis. For United States Senator—Benton McMillan, Carthage. For Supreme Court Justices—W. K. McAlister, Nashville; B. D. Bell, Gallatin; R. M. Batton, Jr., Chattanooga; R. E. Maiden, Memphis; R. B. Cooke, Chattanooga. For Treasurer—Delong Rice, Nashville. For Controller—Frank Dibrell, Sparta. For Railroad Commissioner—J. W. Thomas, Dresden.

The nominations for Senator, Treasurer, Controller, and Railroad Commissioner are in the nature of recommendations to the Legislature, which elects.

The independents or anti-Administration Democrats have already put a judicial ticket in the field, and it is expected that candidates for the other offices will be announced shortly. United States Senator James B. Frazier, who refused to enter the primary ordered by the State Committee, has not yet announced whether or not he will run for re-election as an independent.

TAFT FOR DIRECT PRIMARY.

Thinks New York Factions Should Get Together on Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Taft had a long conference this afternoon with F. J. H. Kracke of Brooklyn, Naval Officer of the Potr of New York, and Fred Greiner, Postmaster at Buffalo, regarding the political situation in New York.

The President has been appealed to for help in puting through the Direct Nominations bill at the special session of the Legislature. He sent for Kracke and Greiner in order to talk maters over with them and see what could be done. When Senator Root undertook to prevent the election of Senator Cobb to succeed Jotham P. Allds as Republican leader in the Senate, Kracke and Greiner were won over to the Root-Hughes side of the controversy, but lately they have shown signs of returning to the machine camp.

The President is not willing to take sides openly in behalf of any particular measure before the New York Legislature, but he is especially anxious to have the party leaders get together there so as to present the best possible front in the coming campaign. He thinks it ought to be possible for both sides to work in harmony at the special session and to enact a measure for direct nominations that would be for the good of the party, and that was the line of his talk with Greiner and Kracke to-day.

MUST GET $30,000,000 TAFT TELLS SPEAKER

Cannon and Payne Informed That Reclamation Bond Issue Must Go Through.

HOUSE LEADERS CONFER

Western Senators Insist on Issue and Settlers Depend on Completion of Unfinished Project.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Taft has taken on another contest with some of the men in Congress with whom he has been working and on whom he has been relying to put through his legislative programme. This time it is Speaker Cannon, Sereno Payne, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and some of their inner guard who have come to grips with the President. The trouble is over the question whether or not the Government shall lend its credit to the extent of $30,000,000 for the completion of reclamation work already undertaken in different Western States, work which cannot be completed promptly unless the reclamation fund is helped out materially.

The Western Senators and Representatives are strongly in favor of the project which the Senate tacked on to the Conservation bill yesterday, providing for the issue of $30,000,000 of Government bonds, bonds and interest to become charges against the reclaimed land, so that the ultimate expense to the Government would be practically nothing. The Speaker and his inner guard are just as vigorously opposed. They say that it is only another way of saddling expense on the Government, that it will increase the appropriations for this year of economy, and furnish campaign ammunition to the Democrats. Also they declare stoutly that the amendment as put on by the Senate cannot possibly go through, inasmuch as it is a revenue measure which under the Constitution must originate in the House.

Senate Tacked On Bond Provision.

The bond provision was tacked on to the Conservation bill by the Senate because the Ways and Means Committee had held up for months the bill originally passed by the Senate dealing with that matter only. It was a Senate scheme to force the matter into conference, where the pressure of the Administration was relied on to put it through.

President Taft was aware of the House opposition and of its arguments when he summoned Speaker Cannon and Mr. Payne to the White House this morning. Also those gentlemen were quite well aware of the fact that Mr. Taft had expressed himself many times as strongly in favor of the bond plan. As a matter of fact, many settlers who have been persuaded or permitted to enter upon reclamation projects before completion are now in desperate circumstances. The only hope of relief is in the provision of sufficient money to complete at once these projects and get the water turned on. The Western Senators have enlisted the support of practically the entire Senate, and the President is heartily with them.

The conference at the White House lasted for an hour or more. The Speaker and Mr. Payne made a great deal of the parliamentary tangle resulting from the Senate action, and made other objections. The President simply insisted that the thing must be done. He said there must be a way by which the matter could be straightened out, and he relied upon Cannon and Payne to find it out. It is understood that Mr. Taft indicated to Mr. Cannon his belief that it was about time for the Speaker to make some return for what the Administration has done in his behalf.

House Leaders in Conference.

As far as the Ways and Means Committee is concerned it was said to-night that the members have not been convinced that the bond issue is necessary to relieve the reclamation situation. They give more weight to that than to the constitutional argument that the bill must originate in the House. There was a long conference of the Republican members of the committee at the House this afternoon after Mr. Payne and the Speaker got back from the White House. No definite conclusion was reached, and the committeemen will reassemble at 10:30 in the morning to renew their discussion.

Meantime the President has made it entirely clear that he wants the thing put through and that he knows just who is responsible for delaying it. The best chance he has for success lies in the vehement desire of the House for adjournment. The Western Senators are determined to have their bond issue, and they have made all kinds of trades and dickers for votes throughout the session, so that they now have the Senate thoroughly tied up on the plan.

They insist that they will keep Congress in session until they get what they want, and now that they have their provision tacked on to an Administration bill that has already been passed by the House it looks as if they were in a strategic position to bring the House around to their point of view, in spite of the reluctance of Cannon, Payne, and Dalzell.

A possible solution is indicated by the action of Senator Nelson, who in the Senate to-day entered a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Conservation bill was passed. The understanding was that if the House Committee on Ways and Means would pass the Reclamation bill as a separate measure Senator Nelson's motion would be called up, the vote reconsidered, the reclamation amendment withdrawn, and the Conservation bill proper repassed.

To make the need of the $30,000,000 more apparent than ever Chief Engineer Davis of the Reclamation Service reported from the field at Pathfinder, Wyoming, that work on many of the projects was being seriously retarded, and the water rights on many of them placed in jeopardy for the lack of money. Large sums now tied up in storage projects would begin to make returns, it was said, if the service had the money to complete them.

COMMUTERS FILE COMPLAINT.

Westchester Representative Says Law Was Ignored in Making Rates.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 16.—Herbert E. Angell of Scarsdale, Westchester County, has filed with the Public Service Commission a complaint against the proposed increase in the rates of fare between Westchester County points and New York.

The complaint alleges upon information and belief that the railroad company has not at any time posted in any of its stations a copy of the schedule as required by law, and that the company has not taken the necessary steps under the Public Service Commission's law to make the proposed changes and increases in rates of fare regular and lawful.

Mr. Angell asks the commission, on behalf of himself and other persons, to prevent the going into effect of the increased rates of fare until the full requirements of the law have been duly complied with.

NEW YORKERS HURT IN AUTO.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Gotschall's Motor in a Collision in Bavaria.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 16.—Mr. and Mrs. William C. Gotschall of New York were injured in their motor car at Hopenkammer, Bavaria, yesterday as a result of a collision with a large automobile dray.

They and their guest, Miss Scherp of Berlin, are now at a hotel in Munich recovering from the effects of the accident.

TO CONFER ON THE LORDS.

Agreement Between Asquith and Balfour—The Probable Conferrees.

LONDON, June 16.—Prime Minister Asquith and Mr. Balfour, the leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, have had several private meetings in the course of the week, and an agreement between them has been reached with reference to holding a conference on the question of the veto of the House of Lords.

The conferrees will probably be the Premier, Lord Crewe, Mr. Lloyd-George, and Mr. Birrell, representing the Government, and Mr. Balfour, Lord Lansdowne, Lord Cawdor, and Austin Chamberlain on behalf of the Opposition.

It is expected that the conference will assemble in a day or two.

TAFT HOME AGAIN.

Did Not Talk of Justice for, but from, the Railroads.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Taft reached Washington at 6:30 o'clock this morning from Marietta, Ohio. He remained aboard his car until 7:30 A. M., when he entered his automobile and was driven to the White House. He was accompanied by his secretary, Mr. Norton, and military aid, Capt. Butt.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Through an error in transmission of President Taft's Parkersburg speech last night the President was made to comment on the Railroad bill as designed, among other things, to secure justice "for" the railroads. The preposition "for" changed the sense of the statement, for what the President really said was that the bill was being enacted into law "not to attack the railroads, but to secure justice from them and to do justice to all interests."

CHILD FALLS ON SPIKE FENCE

She Was Playing Steeplejack with Other Children, Climbing a Stone Front

While attempting to play steeplejack along the ridged stone front of her house with her sister, Minnie Bophleder, and a playmate, Gertrude Frank of 1,571 Fulton Avenue, last night, five-year-old Lillian Bophleder of 1,565 Fulton Avenue, the Bronx, lost her foothold several feet above a sharp spiked fence. She fell across the iron palings and one spike pierced her body.

The two other girls, clinging in terror to the stone front of the house where they had climbed, were unable to help her. They were in imminent danger of falling themselves. A man passing ran up and released Lillian as tenderly as possible, and Policeman Breitman of the Tremont Station rescued the two other girls.

Dr. Carey took the little girl to the Fordham Hospital in an ambulance. It was said at the hospital last night that she would probably recover.

80,000 BEES KILL HORSES.

Runaways Upset Hives—Driver Runs, but Is Badly Stung.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—A swarm of 80,000 bees, disturbed by a pair of horses that ran away when they were stung by two bees and upset the hives, stung the horses to death.

The negro driver was also stung wherever his flesh was exposed, but lives. His face is swollen to twice its natural size, and both eyes are closed. When the bees began to pour out of their hives he ran, but was pursued by hundreds of the honey gatherers.

The bees belong to Dr. Reginald Munson, whose home is on the Virginia side of the Potomac.

BALLOON RISES 17,050 FEET.

A Record for Pennsylvania Ascensions—Journey of Sixty Miles.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—A new altitude record for this State was made today by the balloon Philadelphia II., with Dr. Thomas E. Eldridge, Dr. George H. Simmerman, and Welsh Strawbridge, a well-known banker, in the basket.

A height of 17,050 feet was attained. The former record was 15,600 feet, made by the Ben Franklin two years ago.

The asension was made from this city shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. The landing was at Petersville, Northampton County, Penn., sixty miles distant, at 11:35 A. M. The balloon dropped 17,000 feet in 18 minutes. All the occupants arrived at their homes here to-night.

ELIOT LEADS ROOSEVELT.

First in Balloting for Harvard Overseers—Ex-President Second.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 16.—Twelve Harvard alumni have been nominated for the six vacant positions to be filled on the Board of Overseers of Harvard University from among a list of nearly fifty candidates.

The nominations were made by postal ballots. Five of the vacancies are for a full term of six years and one for two years to fill the unexpired term of the late Simon Newcomb. This year 5,756 ballots were received, an increase of 1,331 over last year.

President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot led the list by a slight majority over the second nominee, ex-President Roosevelt. George Von Lengerke Meyer of Washington, D. C., was sixth on the list; Francis Randall Appleton of New York was tenth; William Slocumb of New York was eleventh, and Edward Bowditch of Albany, N. Y., twelfth.

Ballots were received from every State and Territory in the Union with the exception of Indian Territory, and from all the insular possessions except the Philippine Islands. Ballots were also received from degree holders living in nearly every foreign country. The election will take place in commencement week.

ARREST BILLIARDIST DE ORO.

Usher Accuses Him of Assault and He Retorts in Kind.

Alfred De Oro, the billiard champion, of 249 West 111th Street, was arraigned in the Night Court before Magistrate Kernochan last night on a charge of assault preferred by Frank Lewis, an usher in a motion picture show at 36 Cathedral Parkway. He said De Oro had struck him in the face when he asked him not to crowd down the aisle before the audience left it.

De Oro entered a counter charge of assault, alleging that he had merely tried to protect his seven-year-old son from the surging crowd in the aisle, and that Lewis had shoved him roughly. Neither seemed to have suffered visible injury, however, and at the advice of Magistrate Kernochan each withdrew his charge against the other and went home.

Eighty Vessels Expected to Participate in Naval Parade—Elaborate Police Plan to Guard Spectators.

By Marconi Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

ON BOARD THE SS KAISERIN AUGUSTE VICTORIA, via Halifax, N. S., June 16.—After the high sea yesterday to-day was fine and warm.

Mr. Roosevelt spent much of his time to-day working with his secretary in his sitting room.

For a time he was on the bridge with the Captain, and allowed several photographs to be taken.

SABLE ISLAND, N. S., June 16.—At 6:05 A. M. to-day the wireless station here was in communication with the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria.

The steamer was then 310 miles southeast of Sable Island and 805 miles east of Sandy Hook. She should be off Ambrose Channel Lightship about 5 o'clock on Saturday morning, some three and one-half hours earlier than was indicated in the message from the steamer yesterday.

The Kaiserin Auguste Victoria will probably dock at New York about 11 o'clock on Saturday morning.

READY FOR RECEPTION HERE.

Eighty Vessels in Naval Parade—The Land Demonstration.

TO-MORROW'S PROGRAMME.

6 A. M.—Arrival at Quarantine (expected.)
9 A. M.—Naval parade extending up Hudson to Fifty-ninth Street.
11 A. M.—Welcome at the Battery.
12 M. —Land parade starts. Line of March—Broadway to Fourth Street to Washington Square to Fifth Avenue, to Fifty-ninth Street.
1:30 P. M.—Roosevelt leaves for Oyster Bay.

With the official announcement yesterday afternoon of the plans for the naval display for the home-coming tomorrow morning of ex-President Roosevelt, the last step in the preparations for his reception which have been in progress for two months was completed.

According to the official statement of the Harbor Display Committee, eighty vessels, including one battleship, five torpedo boat destroyers, six revenue cutters, seven police boats, and at least twenty passenger steamboats, besides twice that number of private yachts, tugs, and other harbor craft, will take part in the naval parade.

In addition to these, the committee says that at least 150 excursion steamers will go down to Quarantine carrying passengers to greet Col. Roosevelt. The masters of these steamers have refused to be entered in the parade because their passengers want to hurry to land after meeting Col. Roosevelt's steamer, to be present at the exercises at the Battery and to see the land parade following.

All the boats, those in the parade and those out of it, are expected to be gayly decorated. The United States Navy and Government vessels will "dress ship," while the others are expected to display hundreds of yards of bunting in the National colors.

The naval parade will be commanded by Rear Admiral Leutze, U. S. N., commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard; Fred R. Dalzell, Commodore of the Merchant Fleet; Capt. O. C. Hamlet of the United States Revenue Cutter Service; Capt. Frederick Mott of the harbor police, and Lieut. Richard D. White U. S. N.

This is the alignment of the participating flotilla: Escort of the Androscoggin, the Mayor's committee boat, with ex-President Roosevelt on board; the Patrol, flagship of the harbor police fleet; Police Boats Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4; revenue cutters Calumet and Hudson, steamers Manhattan and the Owlet; United States naval vessels Dolphin, battleship South Carolina, torpedo boat destroyers Smith, Reid, Lamson, Flusser, and Preston, with the revenue cutter Seneca, press boat Mohawk, and the Manhattan, with the Roosevelt family on board, immediately following the Androscoggin.

Formation of Naval Parade.

This is the formation of the merchant fleet, commanded by Commodore Dalzell on the Dalzelline:

FIRST DIVISION—Vice Commodore G. A. White commanding; flagship Albany, with Republican Club of New York; steamer Commodore, with Hamilton Club of Chicago; steamer Nassau, with Roosevelt neighbors of Nassau County.

SECOND DIVISION—Vice Commodore Joseph Peene, Jr.; flagship Ben Franklin, steamers Mattewan, Montauk, Mount Desert, and Clifton.

THIRD DIVISION—Vice Commodore August Hechscher; flagship Anahama.

FOURTH DIVISION—Vice Commodore Frederick Coykendall; flagship G. W. Washburn, steamer E. H. Meade, tugs S. L. Crosby, Pocahontas, and Hercules.

FIFTH DIVISION—Vice Commodore J. F. McLeod; flagship Relief, tugs R. G. Townsend, W. N. Bavier, J. A. Reynolds, C. P. Raymond, Fred B. Dalzell, and Timothy D. Sullivan.

SIXTH DIVISION—Vice Commodore Eugene F. Moran; flagship Eugene F. Moran, tugs M. Moran, Edmund Moran, Julia Moran, Governor Flower, and John Lee.

SEVENTH DIVISION—Vice Commodore Frederick Russell; flagship Dictator, tugs Vigilant and Neptune, steam lighters National and Atlantic.

EIGHTH DIVISION—Vice Commodore Samuel L'Hommedieu; flagship Guiding Star, tugs Robert Palmer, Henry Crew, H. B. Rawson, and Samuel L'Hommedieu, and the launch Ethel May II.

NINTH DIVISION—Vice Commodore Charles E. MacWilliams; flagship Vigilant, tugs Edwin Brandow, President, and A. W. Smith, and the steam lighter Fleetwood.

TENTH DIVISION—Vice Commodore James J. McGuirl; flagship James J. McGuirl, tugs May McGuirl, P. McGuirl, and Erin, launches Jerry McAuley and Irene Davis.

ELEVENTH DIVISION—Vice Commodore R. J. Barrett; flagship R. J. Barrett, tugs John A. Bouker, James Roy, John Lee, and Mischief, and yacht Paula.

TWELFTH DIVISION—Vice Commodore M. J. Tracey; flagship Cyclone, tugs Nellie Tracey, Walter Tracey, and Colerain, and launch Lorreta.

Four naval launches and the launch of Lieut. Wade Cheney of the Department of the East will be picket boats in attendance on the flagship Dalzelline.

Commodore Dalzell has issued orders for all the vessels in the parade to assemble off Quarantine, Clifton, S. I., at 8:30 o'clock to-morrow morning. The head of the formation, in double column, 400 feet apart, will be at a point directly off

Stapleton, S. I. All the vessels will be headed upstream in their positions ready to fall astern of the ship they are to follow without turning.

Fleet to Salute Roosevelt.

The fleet will be apprised of the presence of Col. Roosevelt on the Androscoggin by a salute from that cutter, whereupon the entire flotilla will salute by blasts from steam whistles lasting two minutes. Immediately thereafter the Androscoggin, escorted by the police boats and revenue cutters, will pass between the double column of merchant vessels, finally taking the head of the formation. The entire procession will move at 9 o'clock up the west side of the North River, circling a stake boat off West Fifty-ninth Street and returning on the east side of the river, affording an excellent opportunity for all on the river front below Fifty-ninth Street to see the display.

Mr. Roosevelt and the committee will land at Pier A at 11 o'clock, where Mayor Gaynor will await and receive the ex-President and deliver an address of welcome, to which Col. Roosevelt will reply.

The land parade from the Battery to Broadway, to Fourth Street, to Washington Square, to Fifth Avenue, to Fifty-ninth Street, will start at 12 o'clock. The head of the column is scheduled to reach Fifty-ninth Street, where the parade will be disbanded, at 1:20 o'clock.

First Deputy Police Commissioner Bugher, who will be in charge of the police arrangements for to-morrow, said last night that he would have on duty from early to-morrow morning until after Mr. Roosevelt leaves Long Island City for Oyster Bay fifteen Inspectors under Chief Inspector Schmittberger, fifty police Captains, 125 Lieutenants, 200 Sergeants, and 4,200 patrolmen. This does not include a special detail of 500 or more detectives in plain clothes who will be on the lookout for pickpockets.

Under the general direction of the committee, a complete ambulance and field hospital service will be furnished, beginning to-day at 12 o'clock, by the National Volunteer Emergency Service, which had charge of similar arrangements for the Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

Police Round Up Thieves.

The police set their dragnet last night for pickpockets, snatch-thieves, and crooks of all character, who, they believe, will be attracted to the city by the coming of the Roosevelt reception crowds. Four hundred detectives from Police Headquarters were sent out at 8 o'clock last night with orders to arrest every known pickpocket found.

This order was effective in all boroughs throughout to-day, the detectives receiving instructions to take the men arrested before Police Magistrates sitting in the nearest courts. There the men will be charged with jostling, disorderly conduct, and other offenses for which the Magistrate can hold them two days. Some activity was shown by the detectives last night, eight suspects having been brought to Headquarters before midnight.

The real hunt for the light-handed visitors is expected to begin to-day, however, since the Magistrate can hold them only forty-eight hours at a time. This will enable the police to clear the streets until after to-morrow.

ODELL DECLINES TO SERVE.

Refuses Woodruff's Invitation to be a Roosevelt Welcomer.

Ex-Gov. Benjamin Odell has declined to serve on the special committee from the State Republican Committee appointed by State Chairman Woodruff, to meet Col. Roosevelt to-morrow. Just before leaving the city last night for his home in Newburg he made an announcement to that effect. He said that he had sent a letter to Chairman Woodruff containing a similar statement. He gave no reasons for his action.

County Chairman Lloyd C. Griscom announced last night this committee from the County Committee to meet Col. Roosevelt on the Androscoggin:

Lloyd C. Griscom, Collin H. Woodward, Otto T. Bannard, John Henry Hammond, B. W. B. Brown, Charles S. Whitman, Samuel S. Koenig, John J. Lyons, George W. Wanmaker, Beverley R. Robinson, Thomas W. Whittle, William S. Bennet, Tristam B. Johnson, Nathaniel A. Elsberg, James E. March, Courtlandt Nicoll, John S. Shea, and Max S. Grifenhagen.

To these he added three others who are to meet the Colonel at Pier A in Battery Park on his landing:

William G. Rose, Joseph Levenson, Alexander Wolf, Joseph T. Hackett, William Halpin, Michael H. Blake, Frederick L. Marshall, William Henkel, Anthony P. Ludden, William M. Bennett, Charles K. Lexow, Abraham Gruber, Joseph Nejedly, Alexander Brough, John H. Gunner, Moses M. McKee, Ambrose O. Neal, Morris Levy, Samuel Krulewitch, John B. Cartwright, William Chilvers, Frank K. Bowers, William H. Ten Eyck, John J. Knowitz, Edward H. Healy, and Headley M. Greene.

These will meet at the pier at 10:30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

VERBECK REPRESENTS HUGHES.

Adjutant General Will Give Roosevelt Letter from the Governor.

Gov. Hughes sent word to the Roosevelt Reception Committee yesterday that as he would be unable to be present to-morrow to welcome Col. Roosevelt home he had appointed Adjutant Gen. Verbeck as his representative to greet the ex-President and deliver him a letter from the Governor.

Gen. Verbeck will come to the city to-night and in order to deliver the letter he is bearing—at the same time Capt Archie Butt, aid and special messenger of President Taft, delivers a similar letter from the President—will go down the bay to-morrow morning with Collector Loeb and the members of Col. Roosevelt's family in this country2on the revenue cutter Manhattan. Gov. Albert W. Gilchrist of Florida has appointed Frank Q. Brown to represent him and Gov. Sloan of Arizona has appointed Joseph T. Wilson, Jr., to act in a like capacity. Gov. Clark of Alaska is sending ex-Gov. W. B. Hoggett. The City of Boston will be represented by Charles L. Burrill.

Among the passengers on the French liner La Provence, sailing yesterday, was the Count de Chambrun, Military Attaché of the French Embassy at Washington and brother-in-law of Nicholas Longworth. His mother was at the pier to see him off and will remain here to meet Mrs. Longworth, her daughter-in-law, who is returning with her father on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria.

Announcement was made yesterday that Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and the members of her party will review the land parade to-morrow from the building at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street, which is to be torn down for the Hardman piano building. The house until recently was occupied by the family of the late Theron Butler, relatives of Miss Alexander, fiancée of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

WANT HOUSES DECORATED.

Vanderbilt and Roe Ask Owners to Bedeck Them for Roosevelt.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Chairman of the Roosevelt Reception Committee, and Major Gen. Roe, who will command the land parade to-morrow, united last night in making a special plea to the business houses and residents along Broadway to Fourth Street, Fourth Street to Washington Square, and along Fifth Avenue to Fifty-ninth Street, the route of the parade, to display flags or bunting in National colors all of to-morrow.

Just before leaving the city Mayor Gaynor issued a similar request to citizens whose houses Col. Roosevelt will pass, but in some manner the message went astray, and the publication in yesterday's papers of the appeal of Mr. Vanderbilt was the first many of the householders knew of the committee's wishes. Many persons, however, telephoned to the committee's headquarters yesterday that they would gladly decorate their buildings, and the committee believes all will do so if the request is made known to them.

HERE'S A JOB FOR ROOSEVELT.

C. W. Post Wants Him to Head a "Labor League" at $100,000 a Year.

Those who have been worrying themselves into neurasthenia about what is to be done with Col. Roosevelt will be comforted to know that there is at least one job waiting for him here now, not counting his editorial labors. C. W. Post of aBttle Creek, Mich., announced yesterday that he is here with power to offer to the Colonel the Presidency of the National Trades and Workers' Association, which he describes as a labor union, headquarters in Battle Creek, which does not countenance strikes, boycotts, lockouts, or any form of coercion.

"Now, this organization is only a new one," said Mr. Post yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Seville, "and of course it could not afford to pay Col. Roosevelt the amount of money his great abilities would command. I believe the cause of industrial freedom, for which this organization stands, is a great one, and I am willing personally to pay Col. Roosevelt a salary of $100,000 a year to act as the President of it.

"I am not a member of the National Trades and Workers' Association myself, but I may be invited to become a member. Many of my employes are members. It began in Battle Creek, but I did not start it. It now numbers several thousand members. I have just heard to-day that 4,000 of the Philadelphia street car employes who stayed loyal have joined the organization.

"You see here I have a telegram from James W. Bryce, the President of the National Trades and Workers' Association, authorizing me to offer Col. Roosevelt the Presidency of the organization for one year. What would happen after the first year I don't know; circumstances would have to decide that.

"With him as President, the organization would have a membership of two million members in one year, and the American Federation of Labor would be put out of business. He would set on foot movements that would settle the question of the fight between capital and labor. I have practically retired from business, but I don't know what better use I could make of $100,000 than helping along the National Trades and Workers' Association."

Mr. Post, in explaining the aims of the organization said: "It is a body of craftsmen and workers organized for fraternal and benevolent purposes. It does not countenance strikes, boycotts, picketing, lockouts, or any form of coercion in the relation between employers and employes. It relies solely upon mediation and public opinion for the settlement of differences regarding wages, hours, and conditions."

CANNON IS NOT COMING.

Seems Irritated When Asked if He Will Be a Roosevelt Welcomer.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Speaker Cannon was at the White House to-day. On leaving he was asked if he thought he would go to New York to take part in the Roosevelt celebration on Saturday.

"How can I leave town when Congress is in session?" he asked gruffly and hurried to his waiting automobile.

ROOSEVELT PRAISES MISSIONS.

Writes to World Conference Regretting His Inability to Attend It.

EDINBURGH, June 16.—A letter from ex-President Roosevelt expressing sympathy with the movement and regret at his inability to be present was read at to-day's session of the World Missionary Conference. The communication, which was addressed to Silas McBee, an American delegate, aroused much enthusiasm. Mr. Roosevelt wrote:

> London, May 16, 1910.
> My Dear Sir: It is a matter of real and profound regret to me that I am imperatively called away to America, so that I am unable to be present in person at the World Missionary Conference. I regret it the more as if I had been able to be present it would have been as a delegate from the Dutch Reformed Church of America, to which I belong.
>
> Nothing like your proposed conference has ever hitherto taken place. From many nations, and from many churches, your delegates gather on this great occasion to initiate a movement which I not only hope but believe will be fraught with far-reaching good. For the first time in four centuries Christians of every name come together, without renouncing their several convictions or sacrificing their several principles, to confer as to what common action may be taken in order to make their common Christianity not only known to but a vital force among the two-thirds of the human race to whom as yet it is hardly even a name.
> Surely every man imbued, as every man should be, with the ethical teachings of Christianity must rejoice in such an effort to combine the strength of all the churches in the endeavor to Christianize humanity and to Christianize it not merely in name but in very fact.
>
> Your conference represents the practical effort to apply the teachings of the Gospel to what the Epistle of Jude calls "the common salvation." An infinite amount of work remains to be done before we can regard ourselves as being even within measurable distance of the desired goal; an infinite amount at home in the dark places which too often closely surround the brightest centres of light, and an infinite amount abroad in those dark places of the earth where blackness is as yet unrelieved by any light.
> When such is the high purpose to which you have dedicated yourselves, it is eminently fitting that your invitation should have gone to all Christian churches in all lands. I am sure that there will be a general, and I hope a universal, response.
>
> In missionary work, above all other kinds of Christian work, it is imperative to remember that a divided Christendom can only imperfectly bear witness to the essential unity of Christianity. I believe that without compromise of belief, without loss of the positive good contained in the recognition of diversities of gifts, and differences of administration, the Christian churches may yet find a way to cordial co-operation and friendship as regards the great underlying essentials upon which as a foundation all Christian churches are built. This is one of the lessons which has been particularly impressed upon me by what I have seen of Christian work in Africa, both in heathen and Mohammedan lands.
> I believe that unity in a spirit of Christian brotherhood for such broad Christian work will tend, not to do away with differences of doctrine, but to prevent us from laying too much stress on these differences of doctrine. It is written in the Scriptures that "He that doeth My will shall know of the doctrine," but the reverse of this proposition cannot be found in Holy Writ. Emphasis is to be put upon "doing the will"; if only we can make up our minds to work together with earnest sincerity for the common good, we shall find that doctrinal differences in no way interfere with our doing this work. Wishing you all success, I am very sincerely yours,
> THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The Rev. Dr. J. Campbell Gibson of the English Presbyterian Church, the Chairman of the Commission on the Church in the Mission Field, presented the commission's report. One by one the report takes up the countries of the world and describes the progress which has been made in each.

It tells of the Fiji Islanders, who, not many years ago ignorant of Christianity, are strongly under the influence of the Church; of the thousands of Christians among the aborigines of Australia, the converts from the wild and savage inhabitants of New Guinea; the hundreds of thousands in Japan who are Christian worshippers; of the Church in Manchuria, still persisting in its work despite the persecution to which it has been subjected repeatedly; the converts in various countries on the continent of Asia and in the regions of Africa which are in the sphere of Christendom. The countries yet almost untouched by mission workers are also alluded to, such as Mongolia, Tibet, Turkestan, Afghanistan, Arabia, and large portions of Africa.

ROUGH RIDERS TAKE THE CITY BY STORM

Roosevelt's Former Troopers Arrive by Train and Boat to Greet Their Leader.

REGIMENT HAS A DAUGHTER

"Theodora" Was Born on the Way East from St. Louis and Started Life with a Bank Account.

The Hotel Buckingham was in the hands of the Roosevelt Rough Riders last night. Fifty former members of the band swept into the hotel last evening as if they were charging up San Juan Hill again. Twenty-five, including Col. "Aleck" O. Brodie of St. Paul, Minn., who succeeded Roosevelt as commander of the regiment, arrived earlier, and there are some fifty or more who live in and near New York. They were all there last night, and such a round of handshaking the hotel clerks admit they never saw before. San Juan Hill was recaptured a dozen times between 6 and 11 o'clock.

Capt. Arthur F. Cosby, in the dual capacity of a Rough Rider and Secretary of the Roosevelt Reception Committee, was on hand with Col. Brodie to welcome the newcomers, most of whom had arrived on the special car in which they traveled from St. Louis. They stopped over in Washington a few hours to meet President Taft.

The newcomers had some rare experiences to tell when they had begun to unbosom themselves. But the talk last night lingered longest about Theodora, the new daughter of the regiment, less than forty-eight hours old, with a bank account of $41. This is how she came to be the daughter of the regiment:

While the train was speeding east between St. Louis and Cincinnati a baby girl was born in the coach just ahead of that bringing the Rough Riders. Several of the wives of the Rough Riders heard the news, and "Bill" McGinty, described by Col. Roosevelt as the best broncobuster in the world; Louis Maverick of San Antonio, Texas, whose father gave his name to unbranded cattle, and a lot of the others formed a committee to start the young woman in life with a bank account. When the wives of the Rough Riders conveyed the purse to the mother and told her the Rough Riders wanted to adopt the little pink stranger and name her Theodora in honor of the great "Theodore," the mother sent back word that she would be "de-lighted."

Many of the Rough Riders arriving last night wrung the hand of Warren Crockett until his knuckles cracked. Crockett is a Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue in Marietta, Ga., and for the eleven years since the war has been chasing moonshiners in the mountains of that State. He got to the city ten days ago, and went to Yonkers to visit some friends, when he was taken ill. They put him in a hospital, and the doctor told him he was still suffering from the effects of the yellow fever he caught in Cuba, with a touch of appendicitis.

"But I am going to ride in that parade on Saturday," Crockett told the doctor. But the doctor said if he did it might kill him.

"I lay there two or three days," Crockett said in telling about it, "and then when the doctor wasn't about and the nurses weren't over watchful I slipped on my clothes, and here I am. And I am going to ride in that parade if it does kill me."

Among those at the Buckingham last night was Capt. Martin Crimmins, U. S. A., son of John D. Crimmins, of this city. Capt. Crimmins, who is an old Rough Rider, is now on his way to Alaska, where he has been ordered by the Secretary of War on special duty. The oldest man in the group, and one of the most remarkable, his comrades say, is "Capt." G. B. Chapin, of Nutrioso, Arizona, where he is in the United States Forest Service. Capt. Chapin was 61 years old when the Spanish war began. He told the enlisting officer he was 42. "That was my military age," said he, by way of explanation, "nineteen years under my real age, don't you see."

"Well," he continued, "I went through the Spanish war, was at San Juan Hill and every other engagement the regiment was in, and was discharged at the end of the war with the certificate which reads, 'Privileged to enlist again.'"

Frederick Herrig of Fortune, Mon., and W. J. McKoy of Texas were bunk mates in the war. They met for the first time since they parted here eleven years ago in a hotel in St. Louis. Besides these there are Benjamin Colbert of Tishomingo, Okla., a United States Marshal with Indian blood in his veins; R. B. Miller and W. G. Reynolds, Hugo, Okla.; E. G. Piper, El Paso, Texas; W. H. H. Llewellyn, Las Cruces, N. M.; Frederick Muller, Santa Fé, N. M.; J. L. B. Alexander, Phoenix, Ariz.; Ernest Hecker, Henadarko, Okla.; Dr. A. A. Luther, Houston, and Benjamin Daniels. Col. Roosevelt called Daniels in one of his books the "bravest man I ever saw under fire." Then he added:

> Some of our best recruits came from Colorado. One, a very large, hawk-eyed man, Benjamin Franklin Daniels, had been Marshal of Dodge City when that pleasing town was probably the toughest abode of civilized man to be found anywhere on the continent. In the course of the exercise of his rather lurid functions as peace officer he had lost half of one ear—"bitten off," it was explained to me. Naturally, he viewed the dangers of battle with philosophic calm. Such a man was, in reality, a veteran even in his first fight, and was a tower of strength to the recruits in his part of the line.

"Well, if here isn't Ed Piper!" said one of the newcomers last night on seeing a Rough Rider friend in the offing. Piper, the records show, was trumpeter of Troop G. He came up from New Orleans by boat, accompanied by another Rough Rider named Smith, who had charge of one of the Colt guns on San Juan Hill.

JUROR BRINGS HIS TRUNK.

Prepared, He Says, to Sit on Case All Summer.

CINCINNATI, June 16.—M. J. Keefe told Judge Gorman to-day he had come prepared to do his whole duty as a juror. Then he went out into the corridor and dragged a trunk into the courtroom.

"What's that?" asked the court attachés.

"My wardrobe," said Keefe, as he took the trunk into the juryroom. "Now I don't care how long school keeps. I am prepared to sit on this case all Summer."

FUSHIMI ON ROOSEVELT.

"Always on the Jump"—Princess Admires American Women's Hats.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Prince Fushimi, cousin of the Emperor of Japan, and his wife spent to-day in Chicago. Accompanied by their suite and John E. Wilkie, Chief of the United States Secret Service, they started to-night for Seattle.

The interviewers tried to get the Prince to talk about Mr. Roosevelt, politics, &c., but the local Japanese Consul refused to allow them to ask leading political questions. Before the questions were stopped, however, the Prince offered the following on Mr. Roosevelt:

"Col. Roosevelt is a great man. In our country we think of him as always on the jump. And I gues that is the way he is spoken of generally."

When the Prince was asked his opinion of President Taft the Consul refused to allow him to answer, saying: "The Prince is not here on a political mission, so please do not ask him any questions about politics."

Prince Fushimi was enthusiastic over the progress made by American aviators.

"It is wonderful," he said in fluent English. "I have watched the recent experiments with great interest, and when I go back to Japan I shall try to introduce aviation among the younger men. As for myself, I do not think I should care to fly.

"I think the United States Navy is a great institution," he added, "but I did not have time to study it as thoroughly as I should have liked."

The Princess, who is one of the most beautiful women in Japan, confined her spoken opinion to American women's clothes.

"American women's clothes are pretty," she said through an interpreter. "I think the women of this country are the best dressed of any I have seen. The clothes of the American women are not as cool or as comfortable as the costumes worn by the Japanese women. American hats are beautiful."

HID THE AUTO HE BOUGHT.

Dr. Samuelson Didn't Pay the Balance Due and Is Locked Up.

Charged with larceny because he refused to tell where he had secreted an automobile for which he had deposited a small sum when he purchased it, Dr. Aaron Samuelson of 1,417 Prospect Avenue, the Bronx, was held in $500 bail yesterday for examination by Magistrate O'Connor in Morrisania Court.

Abraham Kauffman, a real estate dealer at 368 East 149th Street, said he sold the car to Dr. Samuelson for $750 and accepted $150 as the first installment. He has failed to make any more payments, and when Mr. Kauffman tried to locate the car to seize it Dr. Samuelson would not tell its whereabouts.

Magistrate O'Connor gave the prisoner ample opportunity to disclose the whereabouts of the car, but when he said he wanted a lawyer the court grew angry and said:

In lieu of a bondsman this was done.

KELIHER CONVICTED.

Found Guilty of Aiding Coleman in Stealing Bank Funds.

BOSTON, June 16.—William J. Keliher, called by his friends "Big Bill," was found guilty to-day in the United States Circuit Court of aiding and abetting George W. Coleman, the twelve-dollar-a-week bookkeeper who pleaded guilty and was sentenced a month ago for the theft of $309,000 from the National City Bank of Cambridge. The verdict was reached four hours after the case, which had required a month for its trial, had been given to the jury.

Immediately after the conviction of Keliher, Frank J. Wood was arrested, charged with perjury. Wood was a witness for Keliher. He is a grocer, and is said to have had intimate relations with Keliher. Warrants are out for the arrest of a number of witnesses who, it is alleged, gave false testimony. According to Mr. French proceedings will be begun at once against John H. Strosneider, Martin J. Walsh, John R. Walsh, and a Boston man, whose name is not disclosed.

Out of twelve shots from the six-inch guns eleven were placed in the bull's-eye.

Say Seyler Was Shot in Family Row.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 16.—Jasper Seyler, shot by his father, Peter Seyler, last night during a quarrel, is still alive in the City Hospital, although for a time to-day it was feared the young man would die at any moment. Peter Seyler is confined in the city jail, and so is his other son, William, who is detained as a witness of the shooting. The police say they have a number of witnesses to prove that the two Seylers were in the midst of a heated family row when the shot was fired.

HUMPHREY ATTACKS STEAMSHIP LINES

Congressman Says They Favor Oil, Steel, and Harvester Trusts Through Rebates.

GERMANS CONTROL TRADE

Names Newspaper Man as Their Washington Representative, and He Subsequently Resigns.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Declaring that the greatest and most powerful trust of to-day is that consisting of practically all the European steamship lines, and that every freight and passenger rate between the United States and Europe and between the United States and South America is controlled by this combination, Representative Humphrey of Washington, a member of the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, made a speech in the House to-day in favor of ship subsidy. The Standard Oil Company, the Steel Trust, and the Harvester combine, asserted Mr. Humphrey, are the main beneficiaries under the rebate system employed by this "conference" of foreign steamship lines.

"I challenge any man," said Mr. Humphrey, "to refute or deny the following propositions:

"That 90 per cent. of our commerce is carried by a giant monopoly composed of foreign ships, between which there is not the slightest competition; that these lines constitute a complete monopoly of the sea, and that each and all are pledged to stand together to destroy any competitive line that may attempt to enter the field; that there is not a regular line of foreign vessels carrying our commerce that is not in a trust, conference, or pool that agrees on freight rates, and gives rebates or other preferences; that there is not a single foreign vessel carrying our commerce that does not discriminate against products of this country whenever and wherever these products compete with the products of the country whose flag the vessel flies.

"That the service between this country and South American ports is grossly inadequate and grossly discriminatory against this country in favor of the countries of Europe.

"That there is not a line of foreign vessels engaged in carrying our commerce on either ocean that does not give special rates and other preferences to the Standard Oil Company, the Steel Trust, and the Harvester combine; that these combines dictate freight rates to and from interior points, and that they dictate the ports through which interior freight shall pass.

"That many of the lines in these combines are receiving subsidies and other assistance from their Governments and are performing Government functions and form part of the naval auxiliaries of the various nations.

"That there is a combination between transcontinental railroads of this country and Japanese steamship lines that fixes the rate of continental freight on land and sea.

"The fact that these things have never been fully published by the press of this country is one of the highest tributes to the power and influence of these great combinations. What method they have used to suppress these facts is something that, so far as I know, has not been made public."

One of the combinations, he said, is known as the "Continental Conference," embracing the French lines, the Holland-America Line, the Hamburg-American Line, the North German Lloyd, the Scandinavian-American, and Russian-American Lines.

"The head of this world-wide trust," said Mr. Humphrey, "is Herr Ballin. He sits in Germany and absolutely fixes the price that the American merchant, the American manufacturer, and the American farmer must pay on every pound of freight they send to Europe or to South America. He dictates the amount of money the American citizen must pay to visit Europe or to visit South America."

Representative Humphrey said he would introduce a resolution later looking toward retaliatory legislation. He suggested an increase of the tariff by 10 per cent. on all goods carried in any foreign ship to this country if such ships were in the combination. He also suggested a commission to investigate the subject.

During his speech Mr. Humphrey declared that the Washington representative of the German shipping interests was a member of the local staff of The Associated Press. The newspaper man resigned from The Associated Press to-day. This evening The Associated Press sent out the following statement:

> It having come to the knowledge of the executive officers of The Associated Press that an employe in the Washington office has been engaged, under salary by two foreign steamship lines to furnish them with certain classes of information, an investigation has been made. It has been disclosed that, while such employment did not at any time involve any act on the part of the employe which could in any way affect the integrity of the service, nor even interfere with his legitimate and proper work for The Associated Press, nevertheless such employment is so subject to misconception as to seriously impair his usefulness, and his relation to The Associated Press has in consequence ceased by the acceptance of his resignation.
>
> This termination of his long, useful, and honorable service does not justify any assumption that he has been consciously guilty of any misconduct, nor that, in the work which he has performed for the steamship companies, he has done anything which one not connected with The Associated Press might not have done with perfect propriety.

BILL FOR MOODY WILL PASS.

No Opposition in Either House to Retiring Justice on Full Pay.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The retirement of Associate Justice Moody of the Supreme Court of the United States upon full pay was practically assured to-day by the action of both the Senate and House Committees on Judiciary in favorably reporting the bills offered by Senator Lodge and Representative Gillette of Massachusetts.

In the Senate Chairman Clark asked for immediate consideration, but withdrew his motion temporarily at the suggestion of Senator Bacon in order that there might be a larger attendance to consider a measure of such importance. It is planned to take up the bill in the House to-morrow, and so far as can be learned there is no opposition to the passage of the bills in either branch.

When the Moody bill was taken up in the Senate committee to-day there was considerable discussion of the propriety of a successor being appointed and of his taking a seat in advance of approval by the Senate.

BOSTON, June 16.—To inquiries concerning his attitude toward the bills for his retirement Justice Moody has said:

"I do not feel in spirit to discuss my physical state, and it would not be proper for me to discuss Senator Lodge's bill."

Dr. William A. Brooks, who lately assumed charge of the case, said:

"The time that I have been in charge of Justice Moody's case has been too brief for me to have made a thorough study of it, but from my investigation thus far I am hopeful that he will show improvement soon."

TAKES PISTOL TO SEE TAFT.

Big Visitor at White House Says He Is Being Persecuted.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—A muscular man, over 6 feet in height, with black hair and heavy mustache, called at the executive offices of the White House to-day and asked to see the President. He was immediately recognized as the same man who visited the executive mansion June 17 of last year, and when arrested at that time had two big pistols in his possession.

Taken in custody again to-day he was found to be armed with a 44-calibre pistol—only one this time. The man gave his name as James Stricklin, and said he was from Cumberland, Md. When arrested a year ago Stricklin said he came from Arkansas. The man is being held, for observation as to his sanity. He asserts that various persons are persecuting him and he wants the President to put a stop to it.

STEEL INQUIRY VOTED.

House Resolution Asks for Evidence of Conspiracy.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—A resolution calling upon the Attorney General for information tending to show a conspiracy in restraint of trade between the Carnegie Steel Company, the Federal Steel Company, the American Tinplate Company, the National Tube Company, the American Bridge Company, the American Steel and Wire Company, the American Steel Hoop Company, and the United States Steel Corporation was to-day passed by the House upon recommendation of the Committee on the Judiciary.

The resolution also calls for facts tending to show what coal companies, railway transportation companies, banks, and insurance companies have conspired with the United States Steel Corporation to increase the cost of iron and steel to consumers.

PLAN TO FIX RULES BEFORE INSURGENTS

Rules Committee Is Moving to Rescue Bills from Dilatory Committees.

FAVOR CHAMP CLARK PLAN

Regulars and Democrats Hope Thus to Deprive House Insurgents of Credit for the Reform.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The House regulars, through the instrumentality of the revamped Rules Committee and the Democrats, are about to steal the thunder of the insurgents, who early in the week gave notice that they would attempt another revision of the rules before the end of the session, with the purpose of taking away from committees the power to kill legislation by holding up bills indefinitely.

The Rules Committee held meetings yesterday and to-day to consider the several resolutions before it to amend the rules. The insurgents also held meetings, but after their fourth session adjourned this afternoon without taking action in order to await the action of the Rules Committee. The information to-night is that the committee has practically concluded to report a resolution introduced by Champ Clark, the minority leader, providing for the discharge of committees in event desired legislation is held too long in committee. The insurgents admit that this plan will improve the House rules, and it will have the insurgent support, although it is admitted at the same time that it will probably forestall the fight which the insurgents proposed to wage on their own account.

When the Rules Committee concluded its session this afternoon it was with the understanding that it would meet again to-morrow and decide upon some form of resolution for rules reform. The Clark resolution provides that any member of the House may move to discharge a committee from the consideration of a bill. At the expiration of a week's notice such a motion shall be in order, and if approved by a majority of the House the committee shall be considered as discharged and the bill so taken from the committee shall be placed upon the calendar just as though it had been favorably reported. Such motion, it is provided, shall have precedence over any motion to suspend the rules. In all probability the Clark plan, without substantial change, will be agreed upon by the committee, and the regular Democrats as well as the insurgents will put it through.

In this connection it is suggested that the House regulars have learned a lesson from Senator Aldrich, who has a habit of climbing on the band wagon when it is shown that the opposition has the whip hand. The belligerent attitude of the insurgents for the past few days has convinced the Republican leaders that another attack upon the rules is imminent, and plans are now being devised to rob the insurgents of full credit for such a proceeding.

It was stated that the dethronement of Speaker Cannon was discussed at the insurgent gathering, but that no definite decision on this subject was arrived at. Many of the insurgents are opposed to the attempted removal of the Speaker, although if the matter is forced on the floor they admitted they would vote that way.

Meantime Representative Fowler introduced a resolution to-day requiring the Rules Committee to report a rule to the House at the beginning of the next session, providing for a Committee on Committees. It was referred to the Rules Committee.

"The issue," said Mr. Fowler, "is a simple one. Are you in favor of Cannonism, with all its crimes of political blackmail and political corruption, or are you against it? That is the question.

"There is no possible doubt of the unfaltering purpose of the progressive Republican members to destroy one-man autocracy in the House of Representatives. Will the Democratic members hesitate to join and aid in this purpose despite the declarations of their last National platform?"

RENO TO GET FIGHT; SUIT BEGINS TO-DAY

Rickard Admits He Has No Hope of Defeating Gov. Gillett's Move.

WILL SUE FOR DAMAGES

Governor Says Bennet Telegram Did Not Influence Him—Jeffries and Johnson Continue Training.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—While not ready to make a formal announcement, "Tex" Rickard virtually admitted to-night that the Jeffries-Johnson fight would take place in Reno. He said he did not have the slightest hope of holding it in San Francisco, and that every day of indecision as to where it would take place merely increased his financial loss.

"If the court grants an injunction here I leave for Reno Sunday morning and will immediately commence the erection of an arena there," he said. "My attorneys have advised me not to buck the Governor and the Attorney General, but I have agreed to wait until Saturday."

With a motion for a permanent injunction against the fight and an application for a temporary restraining order against the Kaufman-Langford contest, to be filed in the Superior Court here to-morrow morning, Attorney General Webb will fire the first legal gun in the war declared on prize fighting in this State by Gov. Gillett.

Attorney General Webb said to-day that on account of the proximity in time of the Kaufman-Langford contest, which is scheduled for next Saturday, he will ask for a temporary restraining order against that fight, as the court would hardly have time to hear arguments for a permanent injunction against it. As the big match is set for July 4, the Attorney General does not see the necessity for similar action, and the motion will be made for a permanent restraining order.

"The fact of the matter is," declared the Attorney General, "that if this contest is one in which the contestants enter the ring with the avowed intention of knocking each other out, it is a prize-fight and against the law. If they do not contemplate knocking each other out, I apprehend it is a fake and ought to be stopped."

When informed of the intention of the Attorney General to-day, "Tex" Rickard, promoter of the big fight, said that immediately on an adverse decision of the court he would remove the contest to some other State, and would begin a civil action against the Governor and Attorney General to recover damages for the expense he has already undergone to prepare for the fight here.

That the various promoters are preparing to shift the big fight as well as other proposed contests to Nevada was made manifest to-day when it was learned that "Billy" McCarey had been sent to Reno with instructions to obtain permits for two matches there. "Joe" Woodman, manager of Langford, said one of the permits was for the Langford-Ketchel fight of July 2, in the event of adverse action by the California authorities, and the second for the Jeffries-Johnson fight two days later.

Gov. Gillett arrived here to-day to preside over a mass meeting for the Panama-Pacific Exposition. He declared that he did not care what opposition he encountered, he proposed to carry out a clearly defined law and stop the fight. Told of Rickard's plan to sue him, Gov. Gillett said:

"If Tex Rickard is looking for a fight with me he will get a bigger one than he has advertised for July 4."

To the statement made by Mayor McCarthy of San Francisco, in Chicago last night, which criticised the Governor's intervention in the fight, the Governor said he would probably issue a formal reply later.

The Governor denies that political considerations prompted his action or that he was influenced by the telegram from Congressman Bennet, saying that the fight would interfere with San Francisco's chances of securing Congressional designation as the site for the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

"Billy" Delaney, the veteran trainer and manager of prizefighters, took charge of the Johnson camp to-day. Delaney arrived from Harbin Springs at noon and went immediately to the Ocean Beach to join the champion in a conference then in progress. He declared that he had joined the negro's forces as the result of an understanding reached three weeks ago when he was in San Francisco.

"Johnson appears to be in fine fettle," said Delaney after the fighter had gone through his usual workout in the afternoon before a large audience.

George Little, the champion's former manager, stirred up further trouble in the camp in the morning by attaching Johnson's automobile. The attachment is to secure $2,350 alleged to be due Little.

In spite of the worries of the day the champion seemed to be in good spirits and went through his training routine with his usual zest. George Cotton was taken on for four rounds of fast boxing, and Johnson delighted the fans by making sport of his sparing partner.

BEN LOMOND, Cal., June 16.—"I don't care where we go so long as we fight," declared James J. Jeffries to-day, as he appeared for his usual training work. "Any old place suits me. Sooner than miss the chance to meet Johnson now, after all the trouble I've gone to, I'd box him in private. I want Rickard and Gleason to know that I'm with them in whatever they do. I'll box in any town they select. I think square sporting men should stick to them to the last."

Jeffries feels that if the fight goes to Nevada all the mountain climbing he has done here will stand him in good stead. He has done a lot of work that took him to an elevation of 2,000 feet above sea level, and the Nevada altitude will not bother him. He defeated Corbett handily in two straight handball games to-day.

SULLIVAN EXPECTS FAIR PLAY.

He Flouts Talk That the Big Fight Will Be a Fake.

Special to The New York Times.

SWIFT CURRENT, Saskatchewan, June 16, (with the John L. Sullivan party on the way to the Jeffries-Johnson fight.)—John L. Sullivan has proved himself a veritable advance agent for the big fight. He is not, of course, employed in this capacity, but it seems that the folks in this region are somewhat skeptical about the fight, many believing that it will not take place. They can advance no logical reasons for such a belief, but the idea is strongly intrenched nevertheless.

Most of the questions the big fellow has been called on to answer have been on this score. He invariably tries to shatter this impression, and he has changed so many minds in the last twenty-four hours that if the contingent from this quarter of Canada is larger than was indicated in San Francisco a few days ago the promoters of the Jeffries-Johnson affair can thank John L. Sullivan for the missionary work he has done.

John does not concern himself with the negative features of the July 4 battle at all. He has no sympathy with fake fight talk or any comment about Jeffries's so-called queer training methods or Johnson's either, and he will not be drawn into any arguments on these subjects. To him the fight is the biggest sporting event of the present day. It was conceived in the strictest sporting sense, and it is pure sport all the way through and nothing else. His honest sporting character cannot absorb any of the details which to many seem significant of this and that feature which will tend to cast any reflection on the honesty of purpose of those mostly concerned in the fight.

It does not mean anything to him beyond the fact that it is a record purse, that "Tex" Rickard came to New York with a $101,000 offer for the fight to take place in Utah or California. He does not care whether Rickard's original intentions were to hold the fight in Salt Lake, Emeryville, or 'Frisco or not.

"The match was made, wasn't it?" says he. "They are preparing to fight, are'nt they? Well, what more do you want?"

That's Sullivan all the way through. He hasn't any time for the small-minded or calculating sport. He takes the game the way he finds it, and if anything comes out which has a tendency to the ulterior he can be just as bitter as he is staunch on the other side.

As Col. Byrne of the Sullivan party said this morning: "If John should discover anything wrong with this fight; I mean should he find out that either one of the principals had not been living up to the strictest sense of his duty to the public, I believe it would start him to training again, and he has not touched a drop of intoxicants for over six years."

Sullivan is different from the majority of the later professionals. He has a large idea of the debt the successful professional athlete owes to the public. He says that when a fighter, ball player, runner, or similar person goes for the gate money his sole consideration should be the rights of the people who pay to see him perform.

"I know," he admitted, "I didn't always give them a run for their money, but it was not from any vicious motives. I was a fool on many occasions, but I'm over that now and what success I am now having, and the happiness, thank God, that is coming to me every day, I owe all to the public that stuck to me even in my bad hours. I've reached the age where I can look back on all that foolish stuff with disgust. A man doesn't know how to live until he is 50 and just beginning to live."

ENGLISH CONDEMN GILLETT.

His Course in Forbidding Fight Is Called Unsportsmanlike.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 16.—The action of the Governor of California to stop the Jeffries-Johnson fight, in which almost as much interest is taken here as in America, is subjected to much criticism in sporting circles here. The view is held that the Governor's move is anything but sportsmanlike, considering his previous declarations and the lateness of his action.

Lord Lonsdale, England's most famous sportsman, who contemplated seeing the fight with a party of friends, said to-night, when seen at the horse show:

"I think the Governor's is rather a high-handed action because the contest between the two men can be stopped only on the ground that it is illegal. Where there is no malice aforethought it seems very remarkable that such a line should be taken. It is certainly just as wrong to describe such a trial of skill as illegal as to condemn a trial of skill with the foils, in wrestling or in football.

"It is as though a baseball match were stopped because the batsman might strike the ball hard and kill the first baseman, or a steeplechase prohibited because the risk of life in the event of a bad fall, or a shoot interferred with lest a stray beater be fatally hit."

"Big Tim" Sullivan, the stakeholder, who is at present touring Ireland, sails from Queenstown on the Lusitania on Sunday.

FIGHT BARRED FROM UTAH.

Might Be Held Near Salt Lake, but Across Nevada Line.

SALT LAKE, June 16.—A movement to bring the Jeffries-Johnson contest to this city received a setback to-day when Gov. Spry announced that he saw no reason to change his former view that it could not be held in this State.

It was suggested to-day that the fight take place just across the Nevada line, and the following telegram was sent to Rickard, promoter of the contest:

"Railroads here say they can handle crowd of 30,000 to fight if it were held just across line in Nevada, 120 miles from here. Could leave here on morning of fight, returning that night."

NO GAIN FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Gov. Gillett's action in forbidding the Jeffries-Johnson fight, which has been ascribed largely to representations that such a match in San Francisco would militate against that city's designation by Congress as the site of the Panama Exposition, apparently had no influence on the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, which voted to-day to report both the resolution naming San Francisco and that naming New Orleans. No action on the matter by either house is expected at this session.

The resolutions authorize the President to invite foreign nations to participate in an exposition to be held in one or the other city, providing they raise $7,500,000 as a guarantee fund. Originally $5,000,000 was named as the monetary requirement, and San Francisco advised that it had raised that amount. New Orleans followed with a similar guarantee.

The real test will come when the House Committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions reports a resolution providing for the participation of this Government in the exposition and recommending an appropriation for the purpose. During the Summer this committee will probably accept an invitation to make a visit to New Orleans and to the Panama Canal as guests of Louisiana.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company to-day money was pledged to raise the present subscription of approximately $6,000,000 to the $7,500,000 required to obtain National aid for the fair.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 16.—When informed that $7,500,000 must be raised before either San Francisco or New Orleans would be eligible for Panama Exposition honors Gov. Sanders said to-day: "Louisiana will raise it."

GRAND JURY QUEST IN UNITED WIRELESS

"Postage Stamp" White a Government Witness Against Officials Accused of Swindle.

THEY DENY THE CHARGES

Contend That Post Office Inspectors Have Misrepresented Their Conduct of Company's Finances

The Federal Grand Jury began an investigation yesterday into the affairs of the United Wireless Telegraph Company, whose President, Col. Christopher C. Wilson, with the Vice President, Samuel S. Bogart, were arrested on Wednesday by local Post Office authorities charged with sending out literature designed to mislead the public in regard to the concern's stock and capitalization.

Several persons supposed to have an intimate acquaintance with the affairs of the company were subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury within the next day or two. One of the first to be subpoenaed was Abraham White, known in the financial district as the "postage stamp financier," because of his method of bidding at a sale of Government bonds several years ago while President of the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph Company before it was absorbed by the United Company.

He appeared at the Federal Building with a bundle of letters and papers which may shed considerable light on the workings of the company now being investigated. The letters are supposed to have passed between White and Wilson when the United Wireless Telegraph Company was being formed about three years ago. White left the documentary evidence with Assistant United States District Attorney Stevenson, who has charge of the case.

William W. Tompkins, President of the New York Selling Agency of 18 Broadway, which handled the stock and advertisements of the United Wireless Telegraph Company until about three months ago, who was also arrested on the same charge as that against Wilson and Bogart, furnished $10,000 bail yesterday and was released from the Tombs. Mrs. Frieda Hart of 59 West 109th Street went on his bond.

At the office of the United Wireless Company at 42 Broadway an attempt was made to explain the charges of the Federal authorities. It was denied that the International Loan and Investment Company of Denver had no financial standing, as Chief Post Office Inspector Mayer alleged. According to President Wilson it has a fully paid-up capital of $100,000, and for the last three years has carried an average daily balance of more than $100,000.

"No literature issued under the present management of the United Company ever stated that this company had a controling interest in other wireless telegraph companies or that it had large holdings in the Marconi Company," said Wilson. "As a matter of fact the holdings of the United Company in the Marconi Company were comparatively small. It is true that the stock of the De Forest Company was exchanged for that of the United Company, but that was pursuant to the original plan of the company.

"At intervals the market value of the stock was advanced, but this was justifiable, in view of the increasing business of the company. It isn't true that while the inside officers of the company were privileged to sell their stock, all of the outside purchasers were required to accept stock certificates stamped 'non-transferable until Feb. 5, 1911.' The fact is that all purchasers of United Wireless stock received stock which was transferable on the books at any time, and a large amount of this stock has been transferred by holders from time to time.

"The stock which was stamped non-transferable until February, 1911, was that issued in exchange for securities of the American De Forest Company. The stock which was issued to officers of the United Company for their salaries was based on the selling price of the stock at the time it was issued to them, and the stock was also issued for cash advanced by the officers, reaching at one time to $167,120. This stock was issued for cash, and the officers receiving it, in order to recoup themselves for their advances, were thus privileged to sell their stock, just as other holders were privileged to sell their stock for which they paid cash.

"The further statement that the operating expenses have been much greater than the receipts is also untrue. The fact is that the receipts from operation of the active land and boat stations for commercial business have exceeded the expenses of operation, and the surplus of receipts has been invested in additional stations and equipment.

"The Treasurer of the company was quoted as admitting that $300,000 of the $317,488, representing cash in the treasury, was fictitious. Such statement was never made by that officer. It is also charged that the valuation placed upon the patent and patent rights, $5,520,233, was unjustified. In view of the existing conditions and the prospects for the future of wireless telegraphy this estimate is exceedingly conservative, taking into consideration the number of patents owned by the company and their great commercial value.

"It is untrue that whenever a new contract was obtained from a ship or line of ships the stock was increased $5 a share. If this statement were true, then in view of the fact that within the last eighteen months 100 ships have been equipped on Mr. Mayer's own premises, the present market value of the stock would be $500 a share.

"We agree with Mr. Mayer in the statement credited to him 'that the real assets of the company consist of land stations, patents, manufacturing plans, and real estate.' But he omitted a very important asset, namely the number of ships equipped. We deny, and it is absurd in the extreme, that any one officer or all the officers put together have cleaned up $5,000,000 and possibly $10,000,000. The statement is utterly false.

"The company is and for the last three years has been engaged in conducting a commercial wireless telegraph business, and for all practical purposes it may be regarded as the only wireless telegraph company on this continent. It has equipped 310 ships plying the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans and the Great Lakes with its system of wireless telegraphy. These ships are in actual daily operation and communicating with the company's 100 land stations, which are also in daily operation. The United Wireless has more land and boat stations than all the other wireless companies of the world combined, and the equipment of the United Wireless Telegraph Company does by far the largest percentage of the world's wireless telegraph business."

Abraham Gruber admitted yesterday that he had taken an active part in furnishing the material on which the Federal authorities had based their case against the company. He said he was counsel for many Western stockholders. He denied that one of his clients was White.

After a conference with Inspector Mayer and Assistant United States District Attorney Stevenson, White said he expected interesting developments as the result of the Government's inquiry.

"I have had no connection with wireless companies for several years," he said. "I believe the United Wireless Company has the best and largest system in the world to-day. It is the method by which the affairs of the company have been conducted that I object to. I cannot go into details in respect to the charges at present as I am a witness for the Government, but I will say this much: I don't think the stockholders of the United Wireless Company should become panic-stricken and throw away their stock to brokers who doubtless would like to get it at their own price. The work I am doing for the Government is independent of any one. I don't need Gruber to help me. He doesn't represent me and never has."

NO ARBITRATION IN YONKERS.

Trolley Line Receiver Refuses Overtures from the Striking Employes.

The efforts of Mayor James T. Lennon of Yonkers to have the differences between the striking carmen and Receiver Leslie Sutherland of the Yonkers Railroad adjusted by arbitration have failed. A fruitless conference was held yesterday, those attending it being the receiver, Chairman O. C. Pratt and Representative William B. Fitzgerald of the International Committee of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America, and five members of the local Strike Committee.

Mr. Sutherland firmly declined to submit to arbitration and informed the conferrees that his last word to the employes was to resume their places on the cars without any compromise or promise.

As the men are firm in their intention to remain out until they get an increase in wages, the situation is at a standstill. Mayor Lennon not only stands between the railroad and its employes, but is the representative of the public, which is greatly inconvenienced by the strike. He twice tendered his offices to the receiver, and they were rejected, because Mr. Sutherland feels that, in the face of a court order, he cannot make terms.

The public is demanding trolley service, and there is good reason to believe that Mayor Lennon will communicate with Attorney General O'Malley to-day as to the proper procedure to compel the receiver to run the cars or have the franchises vacated. This the Mayor says he hesitates to do, but in view of the advice of Receiver F. W. Whitridge of the Third Avenue line, which owns most of the stock of the Yonkers road, that Mr. Sutherland should lock his cars in the barn, some drastic action may be necessary.

The suggestion has been made that Corporation Counsel Thomas F. Curran go before Justice Morschauser, who appointed Receiver Sutherland, and ask that he be directed to operate his cars. The Mayor and his legal adviser will decide this point to-day.

A strikers' meeting was held last night in Hibernian Hall, and there was no evidence that they were likely to give up the fight. The fear is now entertained that the strike will be a prolonged one and that in the event of the receiver making any effort to run the cars violence will result.

Three years ago there was a disastrous trolley strike in Yonkers in which there was constant rioting and destruction of property. At that time a committee of citizens settled the trouble by inducing the strikers to return to work pending an investigation by the company of their demands with a view to the fixing of an equitable wage rate.

The employes say they have not been fairly dealt with since that time. They have several times made demands for better wages, but without result, Receiver Sutherland contending that he was unable to raise their wages at this time without instructions from the Supreme Court. He says the financial condition of the road, which went into bankruptcy in January, 1908, does not warrant such additional outlay as would be involved in an increase of wages.

DEMANDS ON YALE MEN.

Secretary Fears Alumni May Be Surfeited with Appeals for Funds.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 16.—Secretary Stokes of the Yale Corporation in his first annual report to that body, says that there is danger that Yale graduates will be surfeited by indiscriminate demands for funds, and that few gifts come except in response to carefully prepared plans and definite opportunities for service. Among recent rules adopted by the corporation is one giving the professors a sabbatarian year at half pay, and assistant professors absence at full pay, but with the proviso that they provide a substitute at their own expense.

According to the annual report of Frederick S. Jones, the new Dean of the academic department, the records of the year show that the public High Schools, while they do not fit men for college so well as the private preparatory schools, supply men who do better work in college. The Dean cites the recent elections of high scholars to the senior societies as showing that scholarship at Yale is obtaining fuller undergraduate recognition.

89 MORE JEWS EXPELLED.

Kieff Crusade Continues—Senate Decides in Pharmacists' Favor.

KIEFF, June 16.—Eighty-nine Jews were expelled from Kieff to-day.

Twenty-six of these had been permitted to settle their affairs, while the others received passports to a specified destination.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 16.—The Russian Senate to-day granted the appeal of the Jewish pharmacists at Moscow who had been regarded as subject to expulsion on the ground that they were not actively practicing their profession, and ordered the repeal of the Ministerial circular of last July 23, under the authority of which the provincial authority recently began to act.

The decision of the Senate that Jewish pharmacists may remain by virtue of their diplomas, even if not actually engaged in their profession, will have a wide application in the Don, Terek, and Kuban territories, where a university degree is the sole title to residence of the Jews.

The local authorities had declared that all Jewish pharmacists were subject to expulsion, and thirty pharmacists and assistants at Rostoff-on-Don had been ordered to quit the town.

A MONTE CARLO FOR HAVANA.

Americans to Conduct Gambling, Bull Fights, and Cock Fights.

HAVANA, June 16.—A bill legalizing the revival of bullfights has been favorably reported from committee to the House and is now awaiting further action.

The bill gives a company, the capital of which is principally American, the exclusive concession for thirty years to operate a Monte Carlo on a tract near Camp Columbia, at which the attractions will be gambling games, bull fights, cock fights, horse races, and other sports. The object of the bill, it is declared, is to attract tourists to Havana.

Los Angeles-Salt Lake Route Open.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 16.—Passenger traffic over the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake route, which has been tied up since the great flood last Winter that wiped out nearly a hundred miles of track in Eastern Nevada, was resumed yesterday. The company is using the old right of way through the flood district, but work on the parallel high line is being pushed.

$4,000,000 IN TAXES GOES TO CHURCHES

Law Exempting Them Costs the City That Amount Every Year.

WORK NOT SUPERVISED

Nothing Under Existing System to Show Whether They Are Making Any Return for the Aid Received.

Edward S. Avery, whose article on "Tax-Exempt Churches" appears in Harper's Weekly, issued yesterday, has collected interesting facts and figures on the subject of tax exemption. Mr. Avery says that the churches of Manhattan Borough alone get from New York City more than $4,000,000 a year through tax exemption. This amount is in addition to exemptions granted on other tax-exempt real estate owned by the churches and used for schools, charitable organizations, societies, clubs, asylums, and homes. Of this sum about $300,000 goes to Trinity Church in lower Broadway, $114,000 to St. Patrick's Cathedral, $84,000 to St. Paul's Church in lower Broadway, and about $30,000 to each of the Fifth Avenue churches. Enormous contributions to the churches have been made year after year for generations.

In all this time there has been no investigation by the city or State to ascertain what, if anything, is being done by each church for the people of New York in return for tax exemption. A church may be doing so much to help the city in its government of the people that the city can well afford to allow it exemption from taxation. On the other hand, the church may be closed and idle ninety-nine-hundredths of the time, its attendance nominal, and its local charities insignificant, and yet it may enjoy an exemption each year of $3,000 or $30,000 or $300,000. In some of the churches no pews are reserved for public use, all so far as possible being rented to members of the church, notwithstanding the fact that the city contributes as much to the support of the church by way of tax exemption as do the church members in pew rents. Exemption unfortunately is based on the bare fact that the church is used for religious purposes, and the amount of the exemption solely on the value of the real estate, regardless of the number of persons benefited or good accomplished.

The question has been asked: "Is it morally right for a church to accept tax exemption without giving an equivalent in active service to the people, when it is morally wrong for a politician to receive pay as an employe of a ferryboat out of commission most of the time?"

A complete list of the tax-exempt churches of New York would more than fill an entire newspaper page. They are all to be found in The City Record, which contains a full list of all taxable real estate, the values placed thereon by the city, and what property is exempt from taxation. Mr. Avery gives the following list of tax-exempt churches in Manhattan, which are valued for tax purposes at $200,000 or over. If these churches were not tax exempt they would pay to the city each year $16.78 for each $1,000 of valuation:

There seems to be a growing sentiment in favor of requiring the churches to pay taxes, Mr. Avery declares. Those who hold this view maintain that there should be a complete severance of Church and State. If the Church is entitled to exemption, then the State has a right to ask what a church is doing in return for exemption. This immediately gives the State a supervision over the churches, which is contrary to our Governmental principle of tolerance toward all religious beliefs. Others opposed to the present exemption law propose that it be amended so that the churches shall pay taxes on the land but not on the buildings erected thereon.

Another objection to tax exemption of churches is said to be that exemption enables churches to locate at fashionable or business centres where they hope to get an increase in the value of their real estate, but where they are far removed from the people and of little use to the City Government. Suppose one of the Fifth Avenue churches ceased to be tax exempt. It would be forced to sell its Fifth Avenue plot at, say, $2,000,000. Then it could purchase another plot of equal size and erect a suitable church building away from Fifth Avenue at, say, $700,000. This would leave $1,300,000 to be invested. From such investment a church would receive over $50,000 a year for philanthropic and church purposes.

The question is asked, Have not some of the Fifth Avenue churches buried their talents in Fifth Avenue plottages? By some it is said that we are drifting toward class-religion, with the rich in aristocratic churches and the poor in the mission churches. The tax-exemption law was originally enacted when the land was worth little compared with present prices in New York City, and the yearly exemption of each church was only a few dollars. Those who originally enacted the exemption law could not have foreseen present conditions.

MENAGERIE IN TRAIN WRECK.

Seven Animals Escape and Terrorize Neighborhood Until Recaptured.

EBENSBURG, Penn., June 16.—Wild animals from a traveling circus of Frank A. Robbins were liberated by the heavy wagon cages striking a girder of a low bridge as the train was running from this place to Gallitzin on the Cresson and Cambria branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad early to-day. The bridge spans a deep gully. As the circus train passed over it three of the wagons which contained the animals struck its low hanging girders and were overturned. The cars carrying the wagon cages were derailed and thrown over the embankment leading to the bridge.

The animals reported escaped were two lions, an elephant, a leopard, hyena, jaguar, and an ibex. Ten circus employes were injured. The more seriously hurt were removed to hospitals in Altoona.

In the darkness of the early morning the confusion following the derailment was terrifying. The howls of the wild animals, which fled in every direction, were mingled with the cries of the injured men, pinned under the wreckage. At the time of the accident the train was making over twenty miles an hour on a down grade. The engineer stated that he threw on his emergency brakes when he felt the first shock of the cars against the bridge girders. His act probably saved many lives.

The entire country for miles around was in a state of terror. Many of the farmers and their families refused to leave their homes to aid in the search for the liberated beasts. Circus employes scoured the woods, hauling temporary cages with them, in an effort to corral the animals.

A special train, sent from here, with physicians and nurses, assisted in the care of the injured. Two of the circus employes may die.

Later in the day all the animals were captured except the hyena, and the circus was able to show at Gallitzin to-night.

DEAF-MUTES GIVE A PLAY.

Pupils Also Dance to Music They Cannot Hear at Annual Exercises.

Sixty deaf-mute boys, and as many deaf-mute girls, of St. Joseph's Institute for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes, danced to the sound of music they could not hear, silently enacted plays, played baseball, and took part in athletic exercises at St. Joseph's Hall, Tremont and Washington Avenues, the Bronx, last night at the annual exhibition of the institute's work.

There were fifteen numbers on the programme, including a sailor's hornpipe dance by boys and girls of the kindergarten class, a gypsy dance by the girls, and a Dutch dance by kindergarten pupils in wooden clogs of their own making. In each dance the music of the orchestra was interpreted to the children by a teacher, who sang an accompaniment from the stage, the children gathering the time and rhythm of the music from the movement of her lips.

Eight of the older boys took part in a play written by pupils of the school and called "The Lost Heir," in which all the lines were given by means of the deaf-mute code. The exhibition closed with gymnastic exercises by the older pupils.

New Lord President.

LONDON, June 16.—Earl Beauchamp was to-day appointed Lord President of the Council in succession to Viscount Wolverhampton, who resigned that office yesterday.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

ROME, June 16.—The Pope to-day received privately Roque Saenz Pena, who is President-elect of Argentina, but who is still Argentine Minister to the Quirinal, and so by the rule of the Holy See barred from the presence of the Pontiff. This difficulty was overcome by the declaration of Senor Pena that he had in fact ceased to be a Minister to the Quirinal, although he had not yet delivered his letters of recall.

TCHERNIGOFF, Russia, June 3.—The trial and condemnation to death of three men for the murder of an entire family named Buikhovsky last Spring in the neighboring town of Pochep has revealed a judicial error, by which an innocent man, a peasant named Glusker, suffered death for the same crime. Glusker was tried before the Tchernigoff military court soon after the murder, and was convicted and executed.

CITY OVERSPREADS OLD WATT CEMETERY

Coffins Taken Out Yesterday as Directed by the Late Mary Pinkney's Will.

FAMILY ESTATE DIVIDED

The Dead Now Disinterred Will Be Reburied in Woodlawn at Miss Pinkney's Request.

An undertaker and his assistants worked under the trees of the old Mary Pinkney estate, which covers an entire block at 140th Street and Seventh Avenue, yesterday in the drizzling rain, and by nightfall the men had removed two of the coffins which still reposed there and put them in the stables. The property is that which belonged to old Archibald Watt, who willed it to his stepdaughter, Mary G. Pinkney, when he died. It had been a farm in the early days, and Miss Pinkney continued to use it as a farm. One large section of this valuable lot is still used to grow vegetables on.

In the olden days it also included the family burying ground, and in 1882 Mary Goodwin Watt, the wife of Archibald Watt, was buried there. She was the last one to be buried on the ground. Before her her husband, Archibald Watt; Antoinette Watt, and Grace Watt, two aunts of the grandchildren of Archibald; Thomas Watt, and another Mary Pinkney were buried there.

The coffins were in each case inclosed in brick masonry and sealed at the top, but there was no mark over the graves. Under the grape arbor the six of them lay without a head or foot stone of any description.

George W. Freeborn of 122d Street and Lexington Avenue is at present excavating for the coffins. His father was the undertaker who buried four of them, and he has the description of all of them. When Mary Pinkney died at the age of 99, about eighteen months ago, she left a request in her will that these bodies be removed at once to Woodlawn Cemetery, where she was buried. In the first place, since the city has grown up around the farm it has not been considered right to have a burial ground there, and in the second place, since the property is to be sold for city lots, there is no desire on the part of the family to have the graves desecrated by building excavations.

Thomas L. Watt was Miss Pinkney's executor, but after her death he was suddenly taken ill and was unable to attend to this request. Two months ago he died, and now his wife, Mrs. Thomas L. Watt, is taking the matter in charge and will remove the bodies to the family plot in Woodlawn Cemetery.

In the first two vaults, which were opened yesterday, the coffins were found to be in excellent condition, with the name plate still readable. They were removd to the stables and put in zinc boxes. They will stay in these from this time on.

Miss Mary G. Pinkney was regarded as one of the richest women in America. Just how high her wealth ran has never been exactly established. Outside of the fact that the figure reached the millions there has never been anything to show what its extent was except the property she owned in this city. Miss Pinkney herself was averse to having these facts known, and did much to veil the information by a peculiar financial system by which the city virtually became her banker.

When Mr. Watt died in 1843 he left the whole estate to her with instructions to look out for the rest of his descendants. That she did splendidly. At various times parts of the farm have been condemned for city purposes, and this has added to the fortune.

Miss Pinkney always took her time in paying taxes on the theory that while her property continued to appreciate so rapidly she could well afford to pay 7 per cent. interest on arrears. She owed the city hundreds of thousands of dollars in unpaid taxes at one time.

Several years ago an authority in the Assessment Department said a conservative estimate of Miss Pinkney's holdings represented a valuation of $10,000,000, or an average of $10,000 for her 1,000 lots. In spite of these facts Miss Pinkney continued to farm on this land up to the time of her death, spending her Winters at the Hotel Buckingham in Fifth Avenue.

SURE CHARLTON IS ALIVE.

Italian Police Fear He May Escape Owing to Roosevelt's Arrival.

Special Cables to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, June 16.—The officials engaged in the Lake Como inquiry are now directing all their efforts to finding Porter Charlton. It is believed that there was an accomplice in the crime.

The police feel certain that Charlton is en route to the United States and are fearful lest the abnormal conditions due to Mr. Roosevelt's return may enable him to elude the vigilance of the authorities.

Ispolatoff's brass knuckles have been found at his lodgings by the police. Il Secolo states that these weapons bore marks of having been recently cleaned and repolished.

I was assured to-day from an official source that the rumor that provisional liberty is about to be given to Ispolatoff is entirely baseless, also that information relative to his antecedents solicited from the Russian Government is not yet to hand.

GENEVA, June 16.—The Swiss police are now almost convinced that Porter Charlton took a ticket at Como for London via Lucerne, Basel, and Calais, but changed his mind at Lucerne and took another ticket there for Lausanne, Paris, and London.

His description tallies with reports from various station masters.

COMO, June 16.—Although divers sent by the Italian Government worked all day in the waters of Lake Como, their labors were not rewarded with the finding of anything that would aid in solving the mystery of Mrs. Mary Scot Castle Charlton's murder or serve as a clue to the fate of the woman's missing husband, Porter Charlton.

Many visitors, including Americans, have come here from outlying districts and from adjoining towns to watch the divers at work, and they seemed greatly disappointed that nothing more gruesome was brought up from the bottom of the lake than a ragged hat, an old shoe, and similar articles of apparel which were found to have no connection with the case.

Nothing was discovered to-day that in any way would justify the supposition that Charlton's body is in the lake, and the search has tended to strengthen the belief, entertained all along by the police, that Charlton has made his way out of the country and may now be on board some outward-bound steamer.

Temporarily the examination of Ispolatoff, the Russian suspect, has been suspended, while the efforts of the prosecutor are being directed to a thorough investigation of the scene of the murder and the domestic and social relations of Charlton and his wife.

EARTHQUAKE IN SPAIN.

Houses Damaged—Sharp Shocks Indicated by Seismograph.

MADRID, June 16.—Earthquake shocks varying in duration from four to ten seconds were felt here this morning and simultaneously at Cordova and Almeria in Andalusia.

No casualties are reported, but in Almeria some houses were damaged.

MELILLA, Morocco, June 16.—Two earth shocks were felt here to-day shortly after daybreak, lasting twenty and thirty seconds respectively.

No damage was done.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—An earthquake of considerable intensity and duration occurred this morning at a distance of approximately 4,000 miles from Washington, according to the seismological observatory of Georgetown University.

The shocks began at 1:48 A. M. and continued for two hours and twenty-three minutes, ceasing at 4:11 A. M.

The preliminary tremors were followed by two heavy shocks. The first of these lasted three minutes, beginning at 1:50 A. M., and the second, lasting the same time, followed it immediately. These two heavy shocks were the principal movements noted in the course of the long record. After these there followed a series of lesser shocks and continuous tremors.

Observers at the university were unable definitely to locate the disturbance. The movements were mainly east and west.

It is considered probable that the locality of the disturbance was Italy.

Murray's Lotion Relieves Sore Throat in 3 Hours

The Murray Chemical Co.,

Gentlemen—My sixteen-year-old son, Eugene, had an ulcerated sore throat for ten days which greatly frightened us. We tried peroxide and four other supposed "cures," which did not help him.

A friend, who had used Murray's Lotion, told me about it, and I bought a bottle. Eugene used it as a gargle, and in three hours his throat was almost clear.

NEW BRITAIN HAILS AVIATOR HAMILTON

His Home Town Gives Him the Freedom of the City, and He'll Fly for It.

TALK WITH GAYNOR HERE

Aviator Tells of His Round-Trip Flight to Philadelphia and Gives Him Mayor Reyburn's Letter.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., June 16.—Charles K. Hamilton came into his own in this city to-night. Following his record-breaking flight of last Monday between New York and Philadelphia under the auspices of THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Philadelphia Public Ledger, the progress of every stage of which was telephoned to New Britain from THE TIMES special train bulletins, the aviator received the freedom of his home town.

He was welcomed at the railroad station by a crowd numbering well into the thousands, and an hour later was the guest of honor at a dinner, then he turned himself over for a reception and a modest narration of his New York-Philadelphia flight to more than 3,000 friends who packed the City Hall.

As a direct result of this reception and a movement which has been brewing for several days past Hamilton has agreed to bring his aeroplane to New Britain for a public flight on July 2. The day has been turned over to him completely, just as his home city to-night surrendered to him, and will be known from now on as Hamilton Day.

Hamilton has given his services without charge on July 2 for a cross-country flight which will embrace almost every city and large town within a radius of ten miles. The occasion will be utilized as a "tag day," the proceeds going to found a local orphan asylum and to benefit other charitable institutions already established. These were the sole conditions under which Hamilton agreed to make the exhibition flight, which will be the first aeroplane journey ever made in a New England State.

At the reception in the City Hall to-night every citizen of prominence in New Britain pledged his assistance toward making the day a memorable one, and a number of neighboring cities sent delegations to promise their co-operation. As a result of invitations sent to them by F. H. Johnston, President of the New Britain Business Men's Association, the Chief Executives of three New England States have promised to be in New Britain on July 2. These include Gov. Prouty of New Hampshire, Gov. Draper of Massachusetts, and Gov. Weeks of Connecticut.

The site selected for the start of the cross-country flight and for an extended exhibition of an aeroplane's capabilities, to be given either just prior to or just after Hamilton makes his around-the-loop aerial tour, is beautiful Walnut Hill Park, the highest point in the city, which is in the shadow of the lower end of the Green Mountains.

From that park Hamilton will be able to launch his machine over a field similar in many respects to that he employed for alighting and starting in his recent New York-Philadelphia flight. Members of the National Guard of Connecticut will patrol the field and the roads in its vicinity, with police assistance from neighboring cities. It has been arranged to follow THE TIMES's method of signaling Hamilton's probable start, his actual moment of leaving the ground, and the progress of his flight.

When Hamilton stepped off the train he was met by a reception committee, at whose head was ex-Mayor George M. Landers. His co-committeemen were Mayor Thomas Riley of Meriden, Mayor J. M. Halloran of New Britain, J. A. Gleason, Col. F. H Alford, F. H. Johnston, T. W. O'Connor, Frank Hamilton, an uncle of the aviator; H. L. Platt, and C. H. Tredennick.

As he reached the station platform for the first time since he started to achieve world fame as an aviator the massed bands of the city broke into "It Looks to Me Like a Big Night To-night," and they kept it up as the procession swung up Main Street.

From every window and every door, of stores and residences, American flags were suspended or displayed in clusters. Many of the shop windows displayed large photographs of Hamilton in various poses, a goodly number of them being clippings from THE NEW YORK TIMES. The photograph which was most fancied was that published in THE TIMES last Tuesday showing Hamilton in the rear of THE TIMES special train, traveling at fifty-five miles an hour.

The most prominent café in town has a sign in its window announcing "the Hamilton cocktail—it's a bird," and under the sign hangs a row of pictures showing stages of Hamilton's flight to Philadelphia and back.

At the dinner at the New Britain Club the toastmaster, ex-Mayor Landers, referred to the stimulus given to aviation by Hamilton's cross-country flight to and from Philadelphia.

Hamilton will return to New York tomorrow to prepare his machine for the series of exhibition flights at Nashville, starting next Monday, under the supervision of the War Department.

HAMILTON SEES THE MAYOR.

Tells Him About His Great Flight to Philadelphia and Return.

Charles K. Hamilton delivered to Mayor Gaynor yesterday forenoon the letter from Mayor Reyburn of Philadelphia which the aviator had carried on the return leg of his New York-Philadelphia flight of Monday under the auspices of THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Philadelphia Public Ledger. The Mayor greeted him cordially.

Robert Adamson, the Mayor's private secretary, introduced Hamilton and P. L. Young, his business representative, to the Mayor, saying: "Here's the man that did the trick all right, and he's brought the letter through safe and sound."

"How much do you weigh, Mr. Hamilton?" was the Mayor's first question, as he shook hands with the aviator.

"Oh, 110 pounds, or thereabouts," was the reply.

"Well, you are a lightweight, aren't you? No wonder you're a flier," the Mayor responded.

"Mr. Mayor, I have here a letter to you from Mayor Reyburn of Philadelphia, which I have the honor to deliver, although its delivery is a trifle belated," said Hamilton. "I did not get back here on Monday afternoon until after your office was closed, and you have been out of town for two days, which accounts for the delay in presenting the message to you."

"How was it you were late?" the Mayor asked.

"Oh, I just made the mistake of taking a swamp for a good piece of meadow and got into a hole," the aviator replied.

"True, you had a flying machine, not a submarine. Well, I'm mighty glad to receive the letter and to congratulate you on your success," the Mayor said. "But you had a bit better luck going down to Philadelphia than you did coming back, eh?"

"Yes," Hamilton said. "Your letter to Mayor Reyburn seemed to give me good luck."

"That's right; that's good," replied Mr. Gaynor. "Blame it on Reyburn. He's at fault for having been a hoodoo. I'm pleased to think my letter to him was a good talisman and I'm sorry that he wasn't as fortunate. But don't forget to blame your misfortunes on him. You see, he's 100 miles away, and he can't hurt you any, whereas I'm right here on the job."

Then the Mayor shook hands again with Hamilton and Young, and the aviator and his business representative went uptown to their hotel.

> TIMES, New York:
>
> I regret my inability to be present at the luncheon given by you to Charles K. Hamilton, which is such a well-deserved testimonial to his skill and resourcefulness.
>
> To THE TIMES is due the credit for furnishing the incentive and to Hamilton the glory of successfully accomplishing the most daring flight in the history of aviation.
> G. H. CURTISS.

Owing to the non-arrival from the Hammondsport factory of a new propeller with which to make any flights and the failure of the propeller lent by Miss Todd to fit the shaft of Hamilton's biplane, he will not make a flight in the vicinity of New York for at least a week. He left for New Britain yesterday afternoon to receive the freedom of the city and be the guest in his home town of the leading business men at a dinner tendered in recognition of his achievement of Monday.

To-morrow he will ship his biplane, minus a propeller, to Nashville, where he has been engaged by the United States Army to give an exhibition at the military tournament to start on Monday. This lasts throughout the week, and at its end Hamilton will return to New York and fly around the Island or up the Hudson to Tarrytown and back for the benefit of those who did not see his arrival at Governors Island on Monday.

THE AVIATION ERA.

More Comments on Hamilton's Great Flight and Others in Prospect.

From The Atlanta Journal.

Charles K. Hamilton's aeroplane flight from New York to Philadelphia and back again, made under the auspices of THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Philadelphia Public Ledger, is in many particulars the most remarkable of an era when remarkable flights are accomplished almost every day.

New York the Flying Centre.

From The Boston Journal.

It has been said that these flying feats have more than recovered the attractiveness that New York lost when the races for the America's Cup stopped. Hamilton's brilliant exhibitions last Saturday and Sunday, preliminary to the epoch-starting feat of Monday, were distinct achievements by themselves.

Aviation No Man's Proprietary Right.

From The Cincinnati Enquirer.

The magnificent overland flights of Curtiss and Hamilton have demonstrated beyond question that the art of aviation is no longer the proprietary right of any man or set of men.

Possibilities and Limitations.

From The Pittsburg Dispatch.

Hamilton's flight from New York to Philadelphia illustrates at once the expanding possibilities of the aeroplane and its present limitations.

Confidence in Long Flights Strengthened.

From The Troy Times.

Airship flights have become so common that they have ceased to be a novelty. But some of the exploits are notable, and that credited to Charles K. Hamilton, who this morning made a trip in a biplane from Governors Island to Philadelphia, is of exceptional interest. The result strengthens confidence in the success of the long-distance trips under consideration, among them those between New York and Washington, New York and Chicago, and New York and St. Louis. The day of practical aerial navigation appears to be steadily drawing nearer.

Mishap Loses Him No Credit.

From The Boston Herald.

The mishap to his motor which caused him to descend at Perth Amboy does not deprive Aviator Hamilton of any of the credit for his remarkable flight between New York and Philadelphia. The New York to Chicago flight comes nearer to view, and the trip across the continent will soon be in order.

Curtiss's Feat Outdone.

From The Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

New records in aviation continue to succeed one another with great rapidity. The recent feat of Glenn H. Curtiss, who covered the distance from Albany to New York with only two brief stops in record-breaking time is now outdone by that of Charles K. Hamilton, who yesterday made an unbroken flight from New York to Philadelphia, a distance of 88 miles, in 1 hour and 51 minutes, and the return flight in 1 hour and 36 minutes.

Curtiss's Laurels in Danger.

From The Portland Press.

Glenn H. Curtiss would better look to his laurels, for he has a rival that may take them from him. The flight of Charles K. Hamilton in an aeroplane from New York to Philadelphia and back is quite as spectacular and wonderful as the flight of Curtiss from Albany to New York.

Hamilton's Notable Feat.

From The Worcester Gazette.

Within a fortnight we have seen some remarkable demonstrations of the efficiency of the heavier-than-air craft as flying machines. Rolls's crossing of the Channel and back without stop, the flight of Glenn H. Curtiss from Albany to New York, and the latest performance of Charles K. Hamilton, when he made the trip from New York to Philadelphia and return, are notable events.

March of Aviation Events.

From The Albany Journal.

Already the recent achievement of Aviator Curtiss, his flight from Albany to New York, is overshadowed by Aviator Hamilton's round trip between New York and Philadelphia.

This will almost surely shortly be supplanted in public attention by a flight from New York to one of the cities of the Middle West, probably Chicago or St. Louis.

NEW YORK-CHICAGO FLIGHT ASSURED

Curtiss, Hamilton, and Other Aviators Say the Race Will Be Flown and the $25,000 Won.

CONTEST AS THEY SEE IT

They Agree That It Will Be Advantageous to Have It Start from Chicago.

Interest in the proposed race between Chicago and New York for the $25,000 prize offered by THE NEW YORK TIMES and Chicago Evening Post has been intensified by the record-making achievement of Charles K. Hamilton last Monday in completing the first round trip ever made in an aeroplane between two large cities, adhering so closely to a time table prepared and published three days in advance that in a leg of eighty-six miles he did not vary from it by more than a fraction of a minute.

Glenn H. Curtiss, who started the recent ball of aerial enterprise to rolling by his Albany-to-New York flight, said just before starting for Louisville and Minneapolis, where he is to give a series of exhibitions, that the contest would undoubtedly be one of the greatest trials of men and machines that aviation had yet brought forth.

"The mere idea of making such a trip, let alone entering upon it as a race," he said, "shows the remarkable strides that heavier-than-air machine flights have made in the last year. If any one had so much as hinted last June that we aviators were seriously considering going into such a competition, or that anybody would be enterprising enough to put up such a handsome prize, the whole world would have laughed at him.

"Yet here we are to-day taking the contest quite as a matter of course, with half a dozen operators ready to make formal entry just as soon as the conditions of the race are announced. If that doesn't demonstrate the growing interest in aviation and the tremendous forward strides it has made in the last twelve months I don't know how the growth could be illustrated.

"Will the prize be won on the first attempt? Well, of course, that is a rather hard question to answer. There are many things to be considered. If the contest should start from Chicago, thereby gaining the advantage of the fifteen-mile westerly breeze, the regular strength and direction of the air currents in that section, then I should answer the query with a decided 'Yes.'

"The magnitude of the proposed race is in the light of recent cross-country aerial navigation apt to be rather lightly considered by the public. It is not yet easy by any means to travel 960 miles through the air, regardless of how many stops for replenishing fuel supplies, repairs, or resting by the operators are permitted. There are always the vagaries of the gasoline motor of today to be considered, and what the engine will do from minute to minute no man can say.

"When we have evolved the perfect engine and the equally perfect electrical system for it, then running through the air on a time table will not be so very far from accomplishment. The supporting surface, that is, the biplane or monoplane itself, is fairly well devised and made nowadays, although of course we are just tapping the surface of the science of flying. We have provided a stable platform on which to mount the engine, but the motor itself is the thing, particularly in a long race.

"To my mind no better way of advancing the art of aeroplane gasoline engine building could be devised than THE TIMES-Evening Post race. Only a well-built machine and a finely constructed engine can hope to pull through. What we shall learn from the breakdowns on that trip will be invaluable to the progress of the art. THE TIMES may count on at least one Curtiss machine being on the starting line."

Charles K. Hamilton says he will enter the Chicago-New York race just as soon as its conditions are published. "There isn't any doubt about the feasibility of the contest," he said, "unless it is hedged around with conditions which I believe will not be made. The race will be run and won.

"There is no reason in the world why an aeroplane should not go through the air successfully from Chicago to New York. Incidentally that is the only direction in which the contest should be flown."

Capt. Thomas S. Baldwin believes with the others that the contest should start in Chicago and finish in New York. "The prevailing winds in the territory over which the contest will be held," he said, "are westerly and average, so the Weather Bureau says, from twelve to fifteen miles an hour. There is no use to buck these head winds, while every advantage is to be gained from riding with them.

"The $25,000 purse which THE TIMES and Chicago Evening Post have offered will certainly produce some fine flying. The contest cannot come off too soon to suit me. I shall certainly want to be in it, and I may build a special machine for that purpose, based on the work which my 'Red Devil' is doing at Mineola."

SAYS HIS AIRSHIP CAN'T FALL.

Bayonne Man Thinks His Invention Will Stay Aloft Automatically.

J. Fillmore Cox, a mechanical engineer of Bayonne, announced yesterday his intention of attempting airship flights in that city in the near future.

He has manufactured several machines, but has never made a public flight. He also stated his intention of entering all the airship races announced. Cox has a machine which, he says, will remain in the air automatically, notwithstanding any possible interruption of its motor power.

BOMB TERRIFIES A TENEMENT.

Black Hand Outrage Drives 32 Families to the Street by Fire Escapes.

A bomb supposed to have been filled with dynamite and made by blackhanders who have demanded money from a tenant exploded early yesterday morning in the hallway of the five-story tenement at 1,143 First Avenue. A panic followed and the thirty-two families, numbering 150 men, women, and children, after finding their escape cut off by the wreck of the stairs, got to the street by the fire-escapes.

Reserves from the East Sixty-seventh Street Station and firemen responding to an alarm remained in the neighborhood for more than an hour to quiet the excited people, houses all around having been emptied of their tenants by the general fright.

On the ground floor of the house blown up Frank Fassett, an Italian, ran a barber shop. He has lived in the neighborhood for eighteen years and has prospered. He lived in the rear of his shop with his wife and two children. In the last year and a half he has received about twenty letters from the so-called Black Hand Society. In each of the letters $500 was demanded.

Fassett received his last letter about three months ago. He and the detectives who watched with him believed that the writers had given up.

The bomb that exploded yesterday had been placed against the partition of his barber shop. The vestibule doors were blown into the street and the rear door leading into the yard was blown off. The partition was thrown inside the barber shop, the stairway leading to the second floor torn from its support, and a gaping hole torn in the floor.

SPARROWS AS DETECTIVES.

Birds Discover a Jewelry Store Burglary for the Brooklyn Police.

Sparrows earned recognition from the Police Department yesterday by uncovering a burglary in Brooklyn. Now it is suggested that the dog squad be abolished and a flock of sparrows trained for police work.

At daybreak yesterday Patrolman Strenk of the Adams Street Station was passing Hanover Place on Fulton Street when he noticed a small flock of sparrows flying and hopping about in a great state of excitement. Watching their movements he was astonished to see them fly, as he thought, straight through the plate-glass window of the jewelry store of D. J. Greenberg on the corner. Strenk soon found that the winodw had been smashed. The proprietor, who was called, discovered that thieves had stolen jewelry worth $125 from the show window.

While the sparrows were busy getting results complaints were being received from Flatbush and Parkville that the police dogs were having no effect on the operations of burglars there. Most of the dogs are trained animals imported from Belgium. They have been in the Brooklyn suburbs for several years doing police work, but it is asserted by the residents in those districts that they have not driven the housebreakers away. Conditions, it is complained, are about the same as they were before the dogs were introduced there. There are said to have been many burglaries in Parkville in the last few weeks. An attempt was made yesterday morning to rob the drug store of George W. Thayer at 976 Gravesend Avenue. The robbers fled when Thayer appeared with a pistol.

STEERS MAY RECOVER SIGHT.

Former Police Inspector, However, Has Been Totally Blind Since Tuesday.

There is a fighting chance, it was said last night, that Henry Van Wart Steers, once Chief Inspector of Police, may recover the sight of both eyes, which failed him suddenly on Tuesday. He has been totally blind since.

Mr. Steers, who is 76 years old, lives with his daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Holland, at 473 West 152d Street. He complained of a cold in the left eye on Sunday evening. His grandson, Dr. Steers Holland, treated him, but soon saw that his condition was serious and called in Dr. Alfred Wiener, a specialist of 616 Madison Avenue, for consultation later in the night. The next morning he had quite lost the sight of the eye, and on Tuesday the second eye, too, failed him.

The physicians believe the blindness resulted from a gathering of pus behind the optic nerve as a complication of catarrh from which he had suffered for nearly fifteen years. Owing to his advanced age it was feared to attempt an operation, but the physicians say that Mr. Steers's robust constitution may ultimately bring about a restoration of his sight. Meanwhile he will remain in a dark room at his daughter's home.

Broker Held on a Theft Charge.

Thomas C. Dougherty of 2,513 Seventh Avenue, who says he is a broker with offices at 81 New Street, was arrested yesterday at his home and arraigned in the Tombs Court charged with having applied to his own use $307 placed in his hands six months ago to purchase Cobalt Central stock for James H. Everett of Kingston, N. Y. No regular complaint was made out, but Dougherty was held in $1,000 bail for examination on June 24.

The detectives told Magistrate Herbert that the prisoner used letterheads bearing the name of Dougherty & Merrill, 25 Broad Street, but that Merrill denied the partnership.

THE SUPREME COURT.

The Senate Judiciary Committee and the House Committee on the Judiciary have by a unanimous vote in each committee reported favorably the bills providing for a grant of full pay to Justice Moody of the Supreme Court upon his retirement. There is no doubt that the bills will be promptly passed in the Senate and House. It is to be assumed that Justice Moody has assented to the arrangement contemplated by this legislation, and that he will at once retire from the bench. In view of the precarious state of his health, and of the somewhat urgent necessity that the court reconvene in October with a full bench, there will be general approval of his determination. He has, we think, been well advised, and his retirement will be evidence of his disinterested patriotism.

There is, as we have said, an urgent need, there is a well-nigh imperative necessity, that the court shall sit with a full bench next October. The death of Justice Brewer, creating the vacancy filled by the appointment of Gov. Hughes, who will take his seat in October, made it necessary to set down for a rehearing three very important cases—the American Tobacco Company case, the Standard Oil case, and the Corporation Tax case. Besides these, some thirty other cases of minor importance went over for reargument. Though unavoidable, it was most unfortunate for the business interests of the country that the decision of the court in the three cases we have mentioned should be delayed. It is vitally necessary that there shall be a final determination of the extent to which the Anti-Trust act applies to the business concerns of the country. It is necessary not only for corporations and men engaged in business, it is necessary for the legislators to know what will be the determination of the court upon the questions raised in these cases. If the court shall take the view expressed by Judge Lacombe in the Tobacco case, it is to be assumed that the legislative branch will be disposed to grant some relief from the unmerciful rigor of the act. In doing that it would follow the repeated recommendations of President Roosevelt, who has insisted that an amendment was necessary if honest men are to be permitted to do an honest business without violation of the provisions of that statute, adopted with so little consideration or understanding of its import that it must be assumed that Congress did not consciously intend what the court, guided by the language of the act, has declared to be its intent.

With the full number of nine Justices upon the bench there would be, of course, a greater probability that any decision reached in these and other cases would have the concurrence of a majority of the court. It has been inferred that less than a majority, that is to say, fewer than five Judges, have been able to agree upon the view to be taken in the cases set down for reargument. It is desirable, also, that the appointment to the vacancy to be created by Justice Moody's retirement shall be promptly made. The advanced age of some of the Justices, Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Harlan are each 77, having both been born in 1833, is another reason for the immediate filling of the vacancy. If the bill accomplishing Justice Moody's retirement be passed at once, the President will be able to name his successor in time to receive the confirmation of the Senate before adjournment. The new Justice will then be qualified to sit with his associates at the opening of the October term.

A MAN HUNT.

Silas Phelps, murderer and alleged desperado, was caught, crazed with hunger and thirst, after being tracked by bloodhounds and chased for three days by a small army of Deputy Sheriffs and militiamen through the wild country near Monroe Bridge, in Massachusetts. Phelps had for years the reputation of being a dangerous neighbor. He had bullied the countryside with his firearms. He had served a year in the Greenfield jail for shooting at an employer; he had been charged with shooting his brother and with horsewhipping his wife; he committed last week a murderous assault with a long-bladed jackknife upon the mill Superintendent who employed him, and he shot and killed Sheriff Emmett Haskins of Charlemont, who forced his way into the house of Phelps to arrest him. While fleeing toward Monroe Mountain he cunningly cut the telegraph and telephone wires leading east of Monroe to facilitate his escape. Weak from lack of food and wild with thirst—he had dug a hole in the clay for water—he welcomed the relief that came with his capture. When questioned as to his motive for the murder, the man declared that Sheriff Haskins "went on the stand at Greenfield and lied about me," saying that he had known of Phelps shooting at many people. He was a dead shot, and, but for his weakness, would have killed many of his captors as they closed in upon him through the underbrush.

This is the story of a typical man hunt. Such hunts, with their dangerous and picturesque accompaniments, are found expedient every year in many of the States of this Union. They are not necessary. They could be prevented long before they become inevitable. They stir the primitive and beastlike instincts of the communities in which they are indulged. They result in the capture of human creatures whom courts and juries almost invariably find to be insane. Why, in this enlightened and humane age, should not their insanity be detected, or foreseen and prevented, before their irresponsible crimes are committed?

GOV. GILLETT AND THE PRIZEFIGHT.

Gov. Gillett's action in regard to the prizefight is perfectly justifiable. Prizefighting is against the California law, and the Governor has done no more than his duty in trying to prevent the meeting between Jeffries and Johnson in San Francisco July 4. The Governor's assertion that the contest is to be a prizefight, with all the brutality that term implies, is unanswerable. To call it a "sparring exhibition" deceives nobody. The suppression of such an exhibition is wise quite apart from the evil reputation it would give to San Francisco and the State.

Mention has been made in the dispatches telling of the Governor's action and its effect, of the desire of San Francisco to have a world's fair in 1915 to celebrate the completion of the Panama Canal. There is an idea that the rigorous suppression of lawlessness in California is essential to the success of that project. Doubtless if New York was compelled to choose between a world's fair and a prizefight it would prefer the fight, though such an exhibition in this neighborhood is quite out of the question. But the prizefight would not last all Summer. San Francisco, however, wants a world's fair, and its friendly rivalry with New Orleans in this matter has attracted the sympathetic interest of the whole country.

Gov. Gillett's plan of action against the lawbreakers and their commercial adherents is well-considered and free from any suspicion of insincerity. Through the State's Attorney General he proposes to have the matter brought before the Supreme Court. Nevertheless the Mayor of San Francisco, Mr. McCarthy, assumes an attitude of fine defiance. He declared yesterday:

> I am running San Francisco. I am taking no orders from Gillett or his Attorney General. You can bet your last dollar that the big fight will be pulled off in my town, just as advertised.

The promoters of the fight are greatly agitated. One of the foremost of them has asserted that he will lose $30,000 if the contest is prevented in California. He probably does not exaggerate his prospective loss. The "sporting fraternity" may rest assured that Jeffries and Johnson will fight somewhere July 4. It must be admitted that the meeting of these gladiators interests more people than any other forthcoming event. But enforced removal from San Francisco will largely decrease the attendance and the receipts. Because of the uncertainty caused by the Governor's interference fewer persons will travel long distances to see, with their own eyes, and at great expense, the triumph of the "best man."

THE CORPORATION TAX.

Senator Cullom introduced the bill delaying the payment of the corporation income tax "by request," as though he were ashamed of it. He might at least have said by whose request. The understanding is that the suggestion came from the Chicago Clearing House, and it may be said that this Western idea would have come previously from the East, if the East had not learned that for it to make such suggestions was to doom them to undeserved suspicion and opposition, inviting defeat on other grounds than the merits.

The President "has expressed his emphatic disapproval," and the Attorney General is "indignant" at a proposal which reflects upon their project of law. Their state of mind is natural enough, but it springs from personal reasons. It is not to be supposed that they would feel similarly if they were not the authors of the law about which seven Judges could not agree upon an opinion which they were willing to render. An authority upon the law superior to the Administration has given notice that the presumption is in a measure against the validity of the law which requires the corporations of the country to part with $27,000,000, and then possibly or probably to receive it back again, without interest. It is not right to put the burden of the blunder upon them. Neither is it right to ask the Treasury to collect so considerable a sum, and perhaps to pay it back to the contributors.

The only reason for collecting the doubtful impost is that the Treasury needs money. But no argument can be drawn from the Treasury's need of other people's money. In fact, the irregular payment of this considerable sum is undesirable because it would lessen the Treasury's pressure for legislation which would relieve its finances permanently, instead of spasmodically. To assist the Treasury now with money which presumptively must be repaid is to stimulate temporarily rather than to relieve the Treasury in any true sense, and thus to put off the day when it will have authority to enter the investment market in some manner not prejudicial to the outstanding three-quarters of a billion of outstanding bonds, and the currency based upon them. This is a large but simple matter, if it is approached directly instead of by attempts to accomplish something by a feat of financial legerdemain.

The country ought to be tired by this time of maintaining its bonds upon an altitude so unstable that the pyramid has to be watched as anxiously as a speculator's margin account. No bank knows from month to month at what time the Treasury may demand more margin upon its circulation account, because the 2 per cents are selling more than a speculator's margin above their investment worth. No more bonds should be issued upon that basis. If the Treasury borrows it should borrow at the market rate, high or low, and without any privilege conferring upon the bonds a fictitious price which has to be nursed. The present task is difficult enough; it would be made easier if it were settled that the policy is not to enlarge an objectionable privilege. This would give a scarcity value to the 2 per cents, and would not threaten the country with a note circulation expanding as the Panama disbursements increase. If the postponement of the payment of the corporation tax would increase the pressure for the adjustment of the currency and loan situation it would have an effect much to be desired, apart from the obvious propriety of procedure when the corporation tax situation alone is considered.

If the Cullom bill fails a solution of the difficulty might be found in authorizing the Treasury to issue interest-bearing receipts, pending the decision of the court, available in payment of dues to the United States should the tax be declared unconstitutional. In that case all subject to the tax might both pay it and have the equivalent of their money in a form negotiable and available upon demand for commercial purposes.

THE UNITED WIRELESS CONCERN.

The United Wireless incident suggests the question why anybody should be poor when it is so easy to get other people's money. It would seem as though all the money there is is available to the man who is willing to take it in exchange for his own promises of things which nobody ought to expect. Such incidents leave the sophisticated wondering how such things can happen. The only explanation is that the "investing" public is either childish or dishonest. Either these "victims" were believers in fairy tales or they were expecting to get something for nothing.

It is necessary to be indulgent toward the illusions of childhood, even second childhood; but it is otherwise regarding those in neither their infancy nor dotage, who think to lay down one dollar and take up several without rendering an equivalent. The attested facts would be incredible except for the evidence, and even on the evidence it is impossible to believe that the victims appreciate the quality of their acts. They may be surprised and pained at the lack of sympathy in their misfortunes, but they have placed themselves in position to be told plainly that there are degrees of foolishness which are not permissible, because they tempt others to crime.

It is difficult to say whether it is more wrong to make money in that way or to lose it in that way. Since there are such people in the world it is well that the Government officials intervened to prevent the one class from being bitten and the other from biting. Those who belong to neither class can only stand aside and marvel how such things can be.

MUSIC ON SUNDAYS.

The Sunday Observance Association of Brooklyn is pursuing a short-sighted policy in opposing the plan of the Philharmonic Society to give concerts Sunday afternoons in the Academy of Music. The association cannot, by any means at its command, prevent the "commercialization" of Sunday to some extent. Good music is an incentive to high thoughts and good living. Canon Chase argues that the musicians are entitled to rest on Sunday. Musicians, as a class, are not easily driven to work they do not care to do. Canon Chase may rest assured that the Philharmonic's instrumentalists who take part in the Sunday concerts do not consider themselves overworked. The Canon's chief objection to the concerts, however, seems to be that a charge is made for admission. This is trivial. The expenses of the so-called "free concerts" in the parks are paid by public appropriation. Musicians are not expected to play for nothing.

It is precisely such entertainments as these the Philharmonic Society has planned that should be encouraged on Sundays by people who are shocked by the prevalence of low vaudeville shows and moving picture exhibitions. To argue that they attract people from the churches is unavailing. The churches themselves hire expensive choir singers to attract attendance. Sunday afternoon concerts, with "very short" addresses by the pastor, are growing in favor, too, among the churches. The singers and the pastor alike are paid for their services, else they could not live. We firmly believe that the most intelligent part of this community is heartily in favor of good music on Sundays.

THE LAKE COMO MYSTERY.

The mess the Italian police have made, thus far, of their investigation of the recent murder of an American woman in a villa on Lake Como ought to make us less severe in our judgment of the failure of the New York police to fathom the mystery of certain murders. Volumes of testimony touching the identity of the woman, her life in Italy, her pastimes and companions, have been forthcoming, without a sound clue to the identity of her slayer or the cause of the crime. The police have found the body, but not the weapon or the motive.

Modern civilization is confronted with too many such cases. The false old adage, "Murder will out," never seemed falser than in this enlightened era. Murder is as frequent as it ever was, while the capture and identification of murderers seem to grow more difficult. We have no reason to decry either the activity or the intelligence of the Italian police. They have done no worse than ours have done in several memorable cases.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Universities and Medical Education.

"Bulletin No. IV." of the Carnegie Foundation for Teaching, Dr. Flexner's report on the state of medical education in this country, especially as carried on in schools not connected with universities, is savagely attacked by the New York State Journal of Medicine. Not only does it resent the assumption of authority and finality with which the author of the report writes, and sarcastically doubt if "unlimited access to the pocket of a multi-millionaire" warrants the taking of that tone, but it calls attention to the fact that many of the most brilliant teachers in the schools commended by the report are graduates of just such institutions as it condemns.

Without depreciating the value of laboratory training, the State Journal demands for didactic teaching the recognition which Dr. Flexner rather scornfully refuses to give, and it denounces as entirely unsound the theory that the student's instruction should be limited to the cases that actually come before him in the course of his hospital experience. Moreover, the State Journal expresses more than doubt as to the invariable and inevitable advantage to a medical school of connection with and subordination to a university.

As a matter of fact, it says, this sometimes has decided disadvantages, and it instances in support of its contention the recent failure of three university Presidents in this State to lend efficient aid to their medical schools in fighting attempts to make the Legislature restrict and hamper vivisection. This failure, according to the State Journal, was due, not to any ignorance on the part of these Presidents as to the vital dependence of medicine upon animal experimentation, but to the knowledge that certain men of large wealth were interesting themselves in anti-vivisection and that to antagonize them would make money contributions for general university uses harder to get.

As another evidence of the sort of help that medical schools get from universities, the State Journal instances the establishment by Columbia of a course in "optometry," every graduate of which, however competent he may be for making glasses from prescription, will be a dangerous quack the moment he attempts to act independently of the real oculist, who must be a man with a broad medical education. In this, at least, the State Journal is right, and one of the most serious mistakes made by Gov. Hughes was his signing of the outrageous bill which legalizes the doing by optometrists of the work which only oculists can do properly or safely.

Evasion Still Possible.

It remains to be seen whether the law that forbids bookmaking "with or without writing" will put an end to racing. By general admission, without betting there can be no racing, and such is the often repeated lesson of experience, but, just as it was found possible to "make a book" after the law put its ban on the actual "book," so now ingenuity may for a while, at least, get around the new and more stringent prohibition.

As newly defined, apparently, the crime consists in the offering and taking in any manner by one man of odds so balanced that he is sure, or believes himself sure, of a profit, whatever the result of the race. If the race-track gamblers combined among themselves and each offered wagers on only a single horse, covering the entire field between them and sharing proceeds later, would that be bookmaking? A complaisant Judge might easily deny it.

Moralities Have Peculiarities.

Mayor Gaynor, in his Annapolis address, called attention to the curious fact that no inconsiderable number of people who would scorn to steal or swindle in any of the ways that deprive definitely identified individuals of their property, yet will show neither hesitation nor compunction when the victim of precisely similar crimes is an aggregation of individuals, municipal, State, or National. The phenomenon, though inexplicable in the sense that, while such robberies are logically no more defensible than pocket-picking or bank-breaking, yet are committed by multitudes of men who not only pass for, but really think themselves, good citizens, has a close connection, probably, to the present failure of the aggregations thus victimized to practice the same sort of morality that is expected from and usually shown by their units in dealings with each other.

Governments, until very recently, have recognized little difference between right and might, and as a rule they still take anything they want or need, so far as their power permits, either without paying for it or at a price fixed by themselves, regardless of the owner's estimate of its value. It is little wonder, in the circumstances, that the owner, if he can, gets from the State more than his property is worth, since he knows that he runs a chance of getting less. It is doubtful if the taxdodgers outnumber the taxpayers, who bear an undue share of the public burden, so there again the crime committed can be viewed as a sort of wild justice. Evasions of the tariff are probably to be ascribed to an underlying conviction that the whole tariff system is wrong. In no other way, at any rate, can one explain why so many otherwise impeccable men and women will feel elation, not a sense of sin, when they succeed in geting a few foreign purchases by the Inspector without paying duty on them.

As for ordinary "grafting," custom counts for much in that. People do with little thought what "everybody has always done," and they are apt to feel sincerely aggrieved when a sudden uplift in public sentiment numbers them among criminals. Knowing themselves no worse than their predecessors, they wonder why they should be treated so much more severely. It was only yesterday that the title of Ambassador gave its bearer a right habitually to lie that was as well recognized as is still that of the soldier to kill and burn to the full extent of military expediency.

THACKERAY ON AVIATION.

Of the Time When Cockneys Would Set Out in Aerial Machines.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Thackeray's suggestion of a possible flight from London to Armagh in an aerial machine makes interesting reading at the present time. In "The Irish Sketch Book," published in 1843, speaking of Armagh Cathedral, he wrote:

> It wants a hundred years at least to cool the raw colors of the stones and to dull the brightness of the gilding; all which benefits, no doubt, time will bring to pass, and future cockneys setting off from London Bridge after breakfast in an aerial machine may come to hear the morning service here, and not remark the faults which have struck a too susceptible tourist of the nineteenth century.

A POSTAL EXPRESS.

Progress League Asks Congress to Act on This Proposal.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

On the last week in April the representatives of full ten million voters of the United States came before the House Postal Committee of Congress demanding a domestic postal express equal to that of our foreign service. The existing discriminations in favor of the foreigner against the citizen had been clearly set forth in the speech of the Hon. William S. Bennet of New York of May 13, 1909.

DOMESTIC POSTAL EXPRESS—WEIGHT LIMIT 4 POUNDS.

Rate, 1 cent per ounce, 16 cents per pound; 2¼ pounds, 36 cents; 7 pounds, (two parcels,) $1.12; 11 pounds, (three parcels,) $1.76.

An Italian posts an 11-pound parcel, Venice to Seattle, for 79 cents. We may not mail anything over 4 pounds, and its postage, Washington to Alexandria, Va., is 64 cents.

Our Bill H. R. 10762, providing for a postal express, general rate 1 cent 2 ounces, with a rural service 1 cent a pound packet, 5 cents on the 11-pound packet, 10 cents on 25-pound packet, bulk limit, 6x12x24 inches, with a reasonable system of postal insurance would eliminate the postal deficit, save the public a hundred million dollars a year, and so increase the earnings of the rural carriers as to allow them salaries of $1,200 a year. The one thing demanded as to this bill is the extension of its 4-pound weight limit to 11 pounds.

On the 27th of May Chairman Weeks of the Postal Committee answered the public demand in his Bill, H. R. 26848, providing for a merchandise post 1 ounce ⅝ cent, 2 ounces 1¼ cents, 3 ounces 2¼ cents, 4 ounces 3 cents, 5 ounces 3¾ cents, 6 ounces 4¼ cents, 7 ounces 5¼ cents, 8 ounces 6 cents, &c., and on June 1 he writes me that nothing more than this parcels post legislation will be considered at this session of Congress.

On June 6 we replied with the bill of the Hon. William Sulzer of New York, H. R. 26581, extending the 4-pound weight limit of H. R. 10762 to 11 pounds.

The second session of the Sixty-first Congress is not yet closed. Its members will want your votes next Fall. Write to them immediately that their votes in your behalf now will determine your votes next Fall.

The President's Influence.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is announced that President Taft is arranging a tour of education, planning a trip through such of the Western States as he thinks require instruction on the policies of his Administration. It is a great mistake. He should remain at his post of duty and educate from there. He may think his addresses to the crowds he may chance to meet on his travels will have a great influence. But not so. The personal effect will be scarcely appreciable and the loss of prestige great.

The people will pay much more heed to the utterances of the President from his post of duty than from car and platforms and street rostrums. He may think he is making a deep impression by his personal appeals, but even the few who hear him will doubt the wisdom, and he will distinctly lose, not only in public esteem, but popular support. The more he sustains the dignity of his office the more will he be appreciated. Attention to duty will win support, not personal appeals.

Gottlieb Graul.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I see in yesterday's Times that the death is mentioned of Gottlieb Graul, who expired at the age of 108 in Cincinnati. The notice states that Graul was employed by the Longworth family for almost ninety years. This is not true. Gottlieb Graul was the head gardener of my grandfather, the late Charles A. Heckscher, at his country place, Beau Sejour, Orange, N. J., from about the year 1845 until my grandfather's death, in 1866. It was not until then that Graul was employed by the Longworth family. I saw Graul when he visited Orange in 1893, and he was then a strong and vigorous man. He told me at that time that his father had lived to be over 100 years old, and that he expected to do better. He remembered seeing Napoleon Bonaparte when he was a boy.

A List of Roosevelt's Deeds.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In days of old, when a conqueror returned home or entered a captured city, (either simile will do,) the populace would come forth and lay flowers and trophies at his feet. In like manner, on this coming Saturday, the press of New York will have an opportunity to pay a most graceful tribute if they will publish a carefully itemized list of his actual achievements—deeds, not words. Most enlightening, too, would be an exact definition of what "my policies" are, and a statement of how many were enacted into law during a seven-year administration.

Calvary Church Resignation.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In the article published in The New York Times of Monday, June 13, relating to Calvary Church, it was stated in substance that Mr. George W. Riggs was opposed to certain views of the rector in relation to the foreign element in the parish. Mr. Riggs is absent from town and authorizes me to state (1) that he has always been in absolute accord with the rector of Calvary Church on all subjects; (2) that he is not now a member of the Vestry.

PAN-AMERICAN DELEGATES.

Our Representatives for Conference at Buenos Ayres Sail.

The American delegates to the International Conference of American States at Buenos Ayres sailed yesterday morning on the United States Army transport Sumner. Those who will represent this country are Henry White, ex-Ambassador to France; Lewis Nixon, the shipbuilder; John Bassett Moore, Professor of International Law at Columbia University; David Kinley of the University of Illinois; Bernard Moses, Professor of Political Science in the University of California; Col. Enoch Crowder, assistant to the Judge Advocate General, U. S. A.; Paul S. Reinsch of the University of Wisconsin, and Lamar C. Quintero of Louisiana. The Secretary to the delegation is Prof. Shepherd of Columbia University.

Mr. White deplored the fact that the people in this country take so little interest in the growth of commercial interests between this country and South America. Pan-American conferences originated when James G. Blaine was Secretary of State. The first one met in Washington in 1889. One was held in Mexico City in 1901 and another in Rio Janeiro in 1906. The present conference, which opens on July 9, will be the fourth. The object is to strengthen the friendly tie between the South American States and the United States.

"This is the most important conference that we have ever held," said Mr. White. "I have been actively interested for years in this project. We will carry forward the work of the other three conferences. There is also to be held in July at Buenos Ayres an international exposition of fine arts and industries. Our exports to Japan are far less than to South America, and yet we appropriated more money for an exposition at Tokio than we did for a South American exposition."

The American delegates will visit Chile, Peru, Ecuador, and other States before returning.

Selling a Branch of the Union Bank.

An order authorizing State Superintendent of Banks O. H. Cheney to sell to the Corn Exchange Bank of Manhattan the Greenpoint Branch of the defunct Union Bank of Brooklyn for $95,000 has been signed by Supreme Court Justice Crane of Brooklyn. Mr. Cheney asked to be permitted to make the sale at $90,000, but representatives of the Union Bank held that the branch was worth $100,000. The Corn Exchange Bank then added $5,000 to its offer.

A BELT-LINE SUBWAY.

To Connect with the Belmont Tunnel —East Side Subways.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Now that Gov. Hughes has signed the enabling act that will permit the adjustment of the Belmont tube situation, the suggestion arises that, instead of the single subway route that now exists between Manhattan and Queens, a belt line be created of which the present tunnel should be a part, such belt line to run:

From the Queens terminus of the Belmont Tunnel over the Queensboro Bridge, under Fifty-ninth Street to Tenth Avenue, down Tenth Avenue to Thirty-third Street, (which will bring it in touch with the New York Central freight depot,) through Thirty-third Street to Seventh Avenue, thus connecting with the Pennsylvania Station; up Seventh Avenue to Times Square, thus supplying the link to the Interborough system either upon the same or a lower level, and east through Forty-second Street to the Grand Central Station, there to join that part of the Belmont Tunnel that has been constructed.

While making this suggestion it will not be out of place to call attention to the fact that if the City Hall spur of the Interborough Subway were extended down Park Place, thence to the McAdoo Tunnel, a great public convenience would be served.

A further suggestion occurs to me, and one that may help to solve the immediate problem of rapid transit on the east side of Manhattan, namely, to continue the Lenox Avenue line from 110th Street south at or near the easterly wall of Central Park, so that it may join the main line at the Grand Central Station. It does seem rather absurd that Harlem and Bronx passengers should be carried all around the west side in their daily trips up and down town, and that the stretch from Ninety-sixth Street to Forty-second Street should be burdened with this circumambient traffic. The many advantages of such a cut-off are obvious. It will facilitate speed on the present system, save any amount of wear and tear, economize time to and from the upper east side, give the middle part of the east side of town something more than a pis aller in the way of rapid transit, make Central Park accessible from all over the city, and can be built without much public discomfort, loss of business, expensive construction, while Boards of Estimate, Public Service Commissions, civic organizations, and existing transit companies are dickering as to when, where, and how much-needed trunk lines shall be constructed.

THE YOUNG MAN'S PROBLEM.

To Save Money and Have Right Friends on $25 a Week.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

This is the problem: How can a young man, with only $25 a week, save enough money and at the same time have a circle of pleasant acquaintances? All the New York men and women seem to demand spending power as the basis of friendship. After six months in New York I confess to loneliness and discouragement.

I'm not a churchman, and therefore cannot avail myself of the social life which the churches usually afford. A trial of a political club proved unsatisfactory; perhaps partly because I'm a Canadian and have not yet grasped American politics. But aside from that the men, while jolly good fellows, were too reckless and dissipated to prove acceptable as friends. How can a man, a stranger, get acquainted with the right sort?

The Chain of Prayer.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

You have met what is to Catholics one of the veriest nuisances of the time in "The Chain of Prayer." Its origin has not been traced, but its existence is forced upon us in one form or another through the mail very frequently. The prayer is not always worded alike, but the threat of evil consequences more or less dire that will follow the breaking of "the chain" is never absent. The Church authorities have frequently condemned it in the Catholic papers, but it never seems to reach the silly people who spend their time and stamps in disseminating it. In most cases the nine copies are to be made at once and mailed. In several cases the name of some Bishop is given in whose tomb it was said to be found, but said Bishop never existed.

A CONSTANT READER.

Brooklyn, June 11, 1910.

TO-MORROW'S FOOL.

You dream of wonder days to come,
Of silver sails and fav'ring breeze,
Of storied cities like old Rome,
Of poet-haunted, azure seas!
You dream of wealth, imperial powers,
Of fragrant, pale To-morrow-flowers—
And so you waste Life's morning hours!

You deem Ambition consecrate,
And think to blow your spark to flame;
Of Might and Mammon still you prate
And of that sordid strumpet, Fame!
And as you dream to-day slips by,
Its many magic moments fly
And all your golden chances die!

You plot, you scheme, you glibly quote
The sophistries of empty fools;
Upon your lips forever float
Unanswered questions of the Schools;
And all the while Life, comrade-wise,
Beseeches you to spurn old lies
And meet her human-tender eyes!

You dream of women proud and fair,
Of old-time chivalrous Romance,
Of maids with poppies in their hair,
Asway in some forgotten dance,
Of Undine, kissed by silver spray,
Of Princess, Naiad, Sprite, or Fay—
And thus you miss your Mate, to-day!

ELIZABETH NEWPORT HEPBURN.

WILLCOX CONTEMPT CASE IS DROPPED

Justice Brady, After Reading an Extract from the Speech, Finds There Was No Contempt.

NO DISRESPECT INTENDED

And the Justice Can Discover None—Ends Proceedings, Regretting This Was Not Made Plain Before.

Supreme Court Justice Brady dismissed yesterday the contempt proceedings he had brought against William R. Willcox, Chairman of the Public Service Commission. At a previous hearing of the contempt charges on June 1 Mr. Willcox, through George S. Coleman, chief counsel of the commission, pleaded that the remarks attributed to him were privileged and argued that Justice Brady had committed a misdemeanor by sitting in a case on which Mr. Willcox commented. Justice Brady accepted yesterday a statement that no disrespect had been meant by Mr. Willcox and that Mr. Willcox had been inaccurately reported. Alton B. Parker appeared for Justice Brady, and after reading a page from Mr. Willcox's typewritten speech said that the matter contained in it was not contempt of court.

The contempt proceedings arose out of a suit for $750,000 brought by the commission against the receiver of the Union Railway Company to recover penalties for disobeying an order of the commission. The suit was tried before Justice Brady, who dismissed it. The commission issued a statement that an appeal would be taken. Later, Mr. Willcox commented on the suit in an address before the West Side Y. M. C. A. A day later Justice Brady issued an order to Mr. Willcox to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt. The show-cause order said:

> And whereas I am informed that since the said trial William R. Willcox has made and published false and grossly inaccurate statements and reports of the proceedings at the said trial, in the course of which he stated, among other things, in substance that the suit was tried before a Judge who admitted that he was the owner of stock in the company, and the suit was dismissed on a technicality and that the case would be appealed on the ground that Justice Brady ought not to have heard the case, because he was a stockholder in the company.

Justice Brady said he was particularly aggrieved at these statements because they misrepresented his remarks on the trial, made for the purpose of informing counsel of his remote interest in the case, and because they failed to show that the attorneys for the commission had consented that he should sit. He stated on the day of the first hearing that he based his complaint on a newspaper article, which he had learned was a second-hand report, and asked Mr. Willcox to affirm or deny that he had been correctly quoted. This Mr. Willcox did not do, but through Mr. Coleman, his counsel, argued that counsel for the commission had no right to waive Justice Brady's alleged disqualification, and that his ownership of Third Avenue Railroad stock made him an interested party in litigation affecting the Union Railway Company. He said the disqualification acted to such an extent that instead of being Judge in the case Justice Brady was a "mere idle spectator."

Of the reported statement, which Mr. Willcox defended through his attorney, Justice Brady said yesterday:

"The statement reported to have been made by the respondent in a public speech concerning the proceedings at the trial was not only false as a matter of fact, but was contrary to the record. It constituted a criminal contempt, and I deemed it my duty, not to myself alone, but for the enforcement of the respect due to the administration of justice to require an explanation, and if the examination should warrant a finding that the respondent was guilty, to enforce the full punishment provided by law.

"The respondent now details the language which he says he used and which differs materially from that reported, and he disclaims that when speaking he himself entertained or desired to create in his hearers any lack of confidence or respect for the Justice who presided at the trial or in the administration of justice. I regret that the respondent did not make this disclaimer on the return day of the order to show cause herein. However, the court accepts his explanation and assurance; hence no issue of fact remains to be determined.

"Proceedings such as this afford the only form of protection remaining to the courts of justice to defend their good name and the honesty of their proceedings from attacks either wanton or heedless of unthinking critics, or disappointed litigants. The proceeding is dismissed."

Mr. Coleman offered to the court, as Mr. Willcox's actual remarks as contained in the typewritten copy of his speech, the following paragraph:

> The case was recently brought on for trial, and was dismissed on what, I am informed, were technical grounds, one reason being that, while there was no question that the car had no wheel guard, there was a question whether the order should not have been signed by all the Commissioners. The Judge presiding at the trial announced at the beginning that he was a stockholder in one of the roads of which the defendant was receiver, and suggested that the attorneys might desire the case to go to another Judge. The attorneys did not object, and the case went on. It should not be assumed that any prejudice was shown by the Judge, but it was unfortunate that the attorneys did not act differently upon the suggestion made at the beginning of the case, and send it to another part of the court. No case of this or any kind should me tried before an interested party, even though the interest is most remote.

FIRE INSURANCE REFORMS.

State Commissions in Session Here Agree on Amendments to Present Laws

At yesterday's session of the conference of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners at the Hotel Manhattan marked progress was made in the discussion of the regulation of the $9,000,000,000 of fraternal insurance now outstanding in this country. After prolonged deliberations all fraternalists present agreed to the following principles upon which the tentative bill for the regulation of fraternal insurance should be amended so as to provide as follows:

1. That annual valuations and publicity should be made, not as a test of solvency but to show conditions to members of societies. Said valuation to begin Jan. 1, 1912.
2. Valuation as of Jan. 1, 1918, properly certified, shall be submitted to the home insurance department and triennially thereafter. If valuation shows a deficiency the society must reduce the deficiency at least 5 per cent. during each triennial period. Failure to reduce deficiency will permit the State Insurance Department to take steps to correct this condition or wind up the society.
3. The National Fraternal Congress tables of mortality shall be the standard for valuation or any higher standard upon which societies shall have calculated rates of contribution.
4. After passage of the bill no new society shall be incorporated or admitted which does not provide for stated periodical contributions sufficient to provide for meeting the obligations contracted when valued upon the basis of the National Fraternal Congress tables of mortality or any higher standard, with interest assumption not more than 4 per cent. per annum.

In commenting on the proposed regulation, C. E. Piper said:

"The commissioners seem inclined to accept the amendments as providing for a distinct improvement in the condition of fraternal insurance, although they would be better pleased to have the improvements in condition required by the bill to begin at an earlier period."

Argue for More Pay for Firemen.

The Salaries Committee of the Board of Estimate held a public hearing yesterday on the proposal to largely increase the pay of the various grades of policemen and firemen. It is probable that several recommendations of this nature will be made to the board in the near future. The salaries of many of the grades have not been changed for years, while those of similar positions in other city departments have been tending upward. The principal speakers in favor of the recommendations yesterday were Fire Commissioner Waldo and Alderman Dresch of Brownsville.

BROWN STILL SECTARIAN.

Corporation of University Postpones Charter Change Till October.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 16.—Action on the proposed change in the charter of Brown University eliminating sectarian requirements was postponed to-day by the corporation of the university until next October. At to-day's meeting of the corporation the Committee on Charter Revision submitted its final report, reaffirming its preliminary report, made a year ago, to the effect that the proposed change was desirable. A recent poll of the alumni showed that they were overwhelmingly in favor of the change. At a meeting of the Associated Alumni held here earlier this week, however, last year's President of that body, the Right Rev. Frederick Burgess, Episcopal Bishop of Long Island, gave an address in which he opposed the proposition.

The Revision Committee to-day recommended that the corporation consider the matter of securing such funds as will enable the university to have an adequate pension system and also presented a form of amendment to the charter and form of declaration.

The report was signed by six of the nine members of the committee, Everett Colby, Arnold B. Chace, Robert H. I. Goddard, Gov. Charles E. Hughes of New York, Stephen O. Edwards, and President William H. P. Faunce of the university.

WOMAN WITHOUT THE PALE

Is She Who Smokes Cigarettes—Not Even Hope for Her, Says Miss Gaston.

Speaking to a small circle of women at the Hotel Martha Washington last night about the evils of the cigarette, Miss Lucy Page Gaston, founder and Superintendent of the National Anti-Cigarette League, said she desired to be put on record as saying that "the self-indulgent society woman who smokes cigarettes is out beyond the pale of even hope." An aged woman had just asked her if she would address the Colony Club while here.

The work of the league having languished somewhat in the last year, partly due to ill-health on the part of the Superintendent, she is here to begin anew the campaign against tobacco generally and the cigarette especially. Leroy B. Crane had already agreed to be the head of the work in this city, she said, and she would carry the fight from State to State as long as her strength held out.

The last quarter of a cigar has more poison in it than all the first three-fourths, she said, and yet men throw that most poisonous part on the street for boys to pick up. Hudson Maxim was her authority for the statement that the mere burning and inhaling of a cigarette is like taking in poisonous illuminating gas in small quantities.

The membership of the Anti-Cigarette League is now 500,000. Miss Gaston will try to raise it to a million. She will take the fight into girls' schools next year and attempt to prevent pupils from experiencing the first fatal fascination of the cigarette. Already, she went on, ten States have passed laws prohibiting the manufacture and sale of the cigarette, and she will try to get the other States to follow their example.

These States are Tennessee, Oklahoma, Alabama, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Washington, South Dakota, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. Of these Kansas also makes it an offense for a minor to smoke at all, no matter where he gets his cigarettes.

Mrs. Jessie H. Stubbs of the Chicago Woman's Club said that she was against the cigarette for biological reasons. "Let us not be sentimental about it," she said. "It is simply biologically harmful. Whatever is bad for an adult is many times more harmful for a child.

"As for women taking up smoking, I don't look on that as unethical or nonethical, even. What's the sense of deliberately cultivating a habit that can't do any good and can't help doing harm?"

FOR CONTROL OF WIRELESS.

Senate Passes Bill Requiring Operators to Obtain Licenses.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The Senate to-day passed Senator Depew's bill regulating the use of the wireless telegraph. It requires all persons operating wireless stations to obtain licenses from the Department of Commerce and Labor. The purpose is to prevent interference with Government and other important messages.

There are said to be 50,000 amateur wireless stations in the country, many of them conducted by boys, and it is said that in many instances they have prevented the delivery of business messages.

SAYS BROWNE BRIBED HIM.

Beckemeyer Tells of Getting $1,000 for Voting for Lorimer.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Fourteen objections by the defense to the admission of the testimony of State Representatives Myers, Link, and Beckemeyer in the trial of Lee O'Neil Browne for bribery were overruled by Judge McSurely to-day after five hours' argument. This permitted the first corroborative evidence in support of the story of Representative Charles A. White that he got $1,000 from Browne for voting for William Lorimer for United States Senator.

Myers testified that Browne called him aside on the day of the election of Lorimer and asked for his vote, saying that there were lots of jobs and plenty of the "ready" for those who voted for Lorimer.

Beckemeyer corroborated White in every material point. He said he had been called to St. Louis as White had been, and there a package was handed to him by Browne, who remarked: "There's your Lorimer money." Beckemeyer said he opened the package and found $1,000 in $50 bills.

The defense promised to-day to introduce a confession on its side of the case. E. C. Erbstein, of counsel for Browne, returned from a trip and declared that he had found a witness who confessed to entering into a plot with White to obtain money from Browne and Lorimer. It was declared that the confession would prove that a blackmail plot existed.

MISS GRACE LA RUE GETS $316

Playwright Who Failed to Supply Her with Sketch Must Return Commission.

A jury awarded to Miss Grace La Rue, an actress, $316.90 in a suit she brought in the Gates Avenue Municipal Court, Brooklyn, yesterday against George V. Hobart, playwright, to recover the sum of $250. The verdict was for the sum sought, with interest and costs.

Miss La Rue alleged that Mr. Hobart agreed to write a vaudeville sketch for her for $500. She paid him $250 on account, she asserted, but the sketch was not delivered. Mr. Hobart declared that it was not his fault that Miss La Rue had failed to receive the sketch. He was unable to complete it because he could not get into communication with the actress to consult her as to certain features of it, including the music.

MME. NORDICA SINGS FOR THE SUFFRAGISTS

FREE MUSIC FOR OUTSIDERS

Just as Good Wafted Through the Windows as Inside Where It Cost $3 a Seat.

Mme. Lillian Nordica, having announced herself as a friend of the suffragists some time ago, put her friendship to a practical test last night by giving a concert for the benefit of the cause in the Town Hall at Irvington-on-Hudson under the auspices of the Hudson River Equal Franchise League.

Mrs. Henry Villard, the President of this league, said when she introduced Mme. Nordica that she thought it was the first time that a great singer had offered to give a programme for the benefit of suffrage. She also announced that Mme. Nordica was ready to go through the fight until the end, while the soprano stood by, smiled, and nodded approval.

Before the concert started it was evident in the street outside that some sort of a great event was going to take place. There were enough automobiles standing outside to stock several garages, and the street was as crowded with the boys and girls of Irvington as if some very celebrated persons were going to get married. There was a reason—the concert sounds wafted through the open windows, and those outside got almost as much as those within who had paid $3 for the privilege of entering. The outsiders signified their gratitude by whistles and cheers after each number.

The audience was as smart as it well could be, and the hall was very well filled when the concert began. There were two numbers on the programme before Mme. Nordica made her appearance. When the soprano finally came out she was led by Mrs. Villard. Mme. Nordica wore a purple gown, her diamond tiara, an emerald collar and earrings, and more strands of diamonds than are usually seen even on the stage. Her appearance was the signal for a wild burst of applause. She inclined her head several times, and then asked Mrs. Villard to bow hers. Then Mrs. Villard said:

"I am very happy to be able to introduce to you the great singer, Mme. Nordica, who also dwells beside the Hudson River with the rest of us. I want to express to her the thanks of the Hudson River Equal Suffrage League for her kindness and graciousness in coming here to-night. I know that it is not rare for great artists to give their services for charitable causes, but this, I feel, is different. Mme. Nordica comes here to represent a noble cause, and one which is not yet popular. And she says that she is prepared to fight it through to the end. We redouble our thanks."

The applause again burst forth, and it seemed for a moment as if the singer were going to favor the audience with the speech which she had promised for the occasion, but she evidently decided to trust only to her singing voice, and she began with her programme.

Her programme included Cornelius's "Song of Solomon," Schumann's "Der Nussbaum" and "Waldgesprach," an air from "Madama Butterfly," Bizet's "Veille Chanson," Debussy's "Mandoline," Elgar's "Pleading," Mrs. Beach's "Ah, Love! But a Day," the Wakefield-Cadman "Indian Love Song," and Richard Strauss's "Ständchen." To these she added two other numbers.

E. Romayn Simmons, who for so many years played the accompaniments of this singer, has again returned, and last night his share in the programme was by no means a light one.

Christian Hansen, a young tenor, sang the "Preislied" from "Die Meistersinger"; songs by Cornelius and Liebling, "O Paradiso" from "L'Africaine," and "Vesti la Giubba" from "Pagliacci."

The stage was banked with white flowers until it resembled a bower and every now and then ushers brought more blossoms of a pale hue to Mme. Nordica. These were intercepted by Mr. Simmons and piled on the piano.

The ushers were announced as Irvington bachelor converts to the suffragist cause. They were A. B. Beswick and F. S. Abercrombie. Mrs. F. Q. Brown, whose husband is the President of Dobbs Ferry, was in charge of the affair. The boxholders were F. Q. Brown, Samuel Untermyer, M. S. Beltzhoover, Mrs. Max Sana, Mrs. Roswell Skeel, Charles J. Gould, H. S. Carpenter, Mrs. Harold Villard, Mrs. Henry Villard, and Mrs. Frederick Trevor Hill.

Suffragist literature was obtainable at the door.

A STATE THAT WANTS RAIN.

Minneapolis Suffers from Drought and Outside Farmers Complain.

Special to The New York Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 16.—Minneapolis is suffering from the worst water shortage in its history. The rainfall in Minneapolis from March 1 to June 16 has been 2.25 inches. The normal rainfall for the same period is over 10 inches. The total rainfall for June to date has been .13 of an inch. The water pressure is but nineteen pounds, where normally it is sixty pounds.

Minnehaha Falls, made famous by Longfellow, has gone dry. Throughout the State the conditions are no better, and farmers report much damage. It is feared that if rain does not come soon there will be serious fires. Already there have been some disastrous fires in the northern part of the State, where everything is dry as tinder.

NINE WIVES SEEK A PASTOR.

Negro Went Courting Again with Rabbit's Foot, Gin, and Cologne.

RICHMOND, Va., June 16.—The Rev. S. W. Tucker, pastor of a flock of negro Christians at Scuffletown, has jumped his bail and disappeared and his bond of $500 has been forfeited.

Seven women have come forward claiming Tucker as husband. Two more have written to the same effect from North Carolina. When Tucker was arrested for prowling at night around the house of still another colored woman, a rabbit's foot, a bottle of gin, and a bottle of cologne were found in his pockets.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Eva Macdonald, an Australian actress, who has been engaged by Wagenhals & Kemper for "Seven Days" next season, arrived in New York last Wednesday, and has begun rehearsals of the comedy. She will appear with the New York company for a number of performances this Summer.

At the end of the run of "The Mikado" at the Casino Theatre Andrew Mack will sail for England to make preparations for his appearance there in a number of the old plays of his repertoire. He will also try to obtain the American rights to "The O'Flynn," by Justin Huntley McCarthy.

Goodale will try out the aeroplane later in the Summer. It is to be shown on the stage during the performance of the play in the Winter and used for advertising flights when the weather permits.

William Courtleigh, who appeared last season in "A Fool There Was," is to present a new sketch in vaudeville at the American Music Hall next week. It is called "Winning a Pippin," and is by George V. Hobart, who wrote the sketch, "Peaches," in which Mr. Courtleigh has been appearing.

There will be contests between the holders of medals, including those who have the record for endurance in waltzing against time, and those who have the honored position of having waltzed a mile faster than any other couple. The champions in the latter contest once danced a mile in four minutes and two and a fraction seconds.

Hart Urged Nephew to Fight Mme. Guillemin's Claim.

Letters from Benjamin Hart, whose $2,000,000 estate is the subject of a suit now in the Supreme Court before Justice Greenbaum, were introduced into evidence yesterday. Michael Hart, the nephew to whom Hart left the residue of his estate, received some of the letters. In one of the letters to his nephew, Hart said he was leaving him a large part of his estate with which to fight the claims of his adopted daughter, Mme. Guillemin, who is now contesting the will.

"Fight it with the last dollar of my money if necessary. I have already provided for her," the letter said.

In another letter Hart said he had obtained the best legal advice and was persuaded that the adoption of Mme. Guillemin was of no effect in France. Hart referred to Jean Guillemin, his adopted daughter's husband, who is in the French diplomatic service, as a "money cormorant."

Ida Brown, who had been governess to Mme. Guillemin, received a letter which said:

"I have been a fool. As for Bella, I think you are right. I regret that venture, (the adoption.)"

In other letters to Miss Brown he exclaimed: "What a worthy woman is Mme. de Bie!" (his housekeeper,) and declared: "I have only a feeling of disdain for the ignominious conduct of Mme. Guillemin." He also referred to her as "very ungrateful."

Maitre Edouard Clunet, a French counselor, called as an authority on French law, by the executors and proponents of the will, testified that the adoption of any person in France not in conformity with French law was void in that country. He testified that the provisions in Hart's will creating trusts for Mme. de Bie and others were legal, and would be sustained by the French courts.

POSTAL CLERKS GIVE A BALL.

Third Annual Festival Held at Sulzer's Harlem River Park.

The third annual festival and dance of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, New York Local 13, was held at Sulzer's Harlem River Park, Second Avenue and 127th Street, last night. In accordance with a resolution by the National Committee of the Federation last September, each of the seventy-five unions throughout the country held its festival at the same time, setting aside 10 per cent. of the net receipts as a contribution to the proposed Home for Superannuated Postal Clerks now in course of construction at a cost of $100,000 in Denver, Col.

It is estimated that $2,500 was cleared from the dance last night. The festival was presided over by Henry J. Goggin, President of the local union. Among those present were Postmaster Edward M. Morgan, Congressmen W. S. Bennet, Henry Goldfogle, and C. Van Vechten Olcott.

WIVES JOIN AGAINST HUBER.

One Charges Electrical Engineer with Larceny, Another with Abandonment.

Charged with stealing a gold watch and chain valued at $80 from one wife to give them to another woman, who says she was married to him on Saturday last, and charged by the newly married one with abandonment, Carl Huber, an electrical engineer, of 119 West 111th Street, was arrested at the home of the second claimant of his name, Mrs. Emily Sassa Huber, 124 West 124th Street, by Central Office Detectives Hawkins and Lander last night.

Mrs. Sassa Huber told the police that she was married to Huber by the Rev. Mr. Bushe, at 142 West 123d Street. Since then she had learned that he had another wife, Mrs. Susanna Stritzel Mahler of 143 East Fifty-fifth Street, to whom he had been married under the name of Curt Mahler by the Rev. Edward Herlorn of 242 East Forty-eighth Street on April 21 after a courtship of only three days.

The detectives took Mrs. Sassa Huber to 366 Linden Street, Brooklyn, where they had traced Mrs. Stritzel Mahler. The latter no sooner saw Mrs. Sassa Huber then she identified as hers a gold watch and chain Mrs. Huber wore and which, she said, had been stolen from her room when she lived with Huber at 143 East Fifty-ninth Street. She said, too, that she had given him $215 on the day of her marriage to him and $15 since. He had telegraphed to her brother in Iowa, she said, for a draft of $100, which he received but had not cashed.

The two women say they identified a manicuring set stolen from Mrs. Mahler with one given by Huber as a courtship present to Mrs. Sassa Huber. Then they combined forces against him.

Y., June 16.—The site for the monument to be erected to the memory of Samuel Champlain, the intrepid discoverer of the lake which bears his name, has been selected by the New York State and Vermont Tercentenary Commissions at Crown Point, N. Y., a locality associated with many important events in the early history of the country. It is situated at the narrowest part of Lake Champlain and practically lies on the dividing line between the two States.

John Austin Stevens Dead.

NEWPORT, June 16.—John Austin Stevens, a well-known New York merchant of a generation ago and the founder of the Sons of the Revolution, died at his home on Rhode Island Avenue here to-day at the age of 83. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1846, and from 1862 to 1868 was Secretary of the New York Chamber of Commerce. He was the first editor of the Magazine of American History and the founder of the Loyal National League. He is survived by a widow, two daughters, and a son.

James H. Mellen.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 16.—Representative James H. Mellen, for more than twenty years one of the best-known Democratic members of the lower branch of the Massachusetts Legislature, died at his home in this city shortly before noon to-day. Mr. Mellen, who was 65 years of age, was stricken with apoplexy on Tuesday morning as he was preparing to leave his home to go to Boston to attend a legislative session. He never regained consciousness.

Mr. Mellen was a native of this city. From the outset of his public career he was active in behalf of organized labor. In the days when Terence V. Powderly was at the head of the Knights of Labor Mr. Mellen was one of his chief lieutenants. He was also prominently connected with a number of Catholic fraternal societies, including the Clan-Na-Gael and the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Mr. Mellen was twice married and is survived by a widow and family.

SHEPARD ADVISES BUDDING LAWYERS

Choose the Law to Fit the Client, He Says, Though Other Statutes May Stand in the Way.

A SUGGESTION ABOUT FEES

Favors Full Value for the Work Done—Talk to the New York Law School Graduates.

One hundred and forty-five members of the senior class of the New York Law School received the degree of LL. B. at the school's commencement exercises last night in Carnegie Hall. The degree of LL. M. was also conferred on thirteen of the alumni.

The address to the graduating class was made by Edward M. Shepard. He told the prospective lawyers that, although it was criminal to be accessories before the fact to burglary, it was all right for them to advise innocent-intentioned men or corporations what statutes they could legally carry out their intentions under.

All the boxes and galleries of the big hall were filled with the friends and relatives of the graduates. The stage, on which were seated Dean Chase, the speakers, the officers of the school, and the thirteen recipients of the Degree of Master of Law, was decorated with palms, daisies, and other flowers, and the white parchment diplomas, tied with red and blue ribbons, were piled on a table on the left hand side of the stage from the audience.

Dean Chase presided, and the exercises, after three preliminary selections of music by an orchestra, began with a prayer by the Rev. William W. Blatchford. Mr. Shepard's address followed.

"Diligence, truth, persistence, courage, and regard for the Decalogue and for your moral obligations are qualities necessary for success in law as in all other professions," said Mr. Shepard. "My first piece of advice would be that you should begin thinking about the practical money side of your business at the very beginning. Insist on getting full value for the work that you do. But make sure that the work you do is worth what you ask for it. A man who refuses to give you what you think is your due will never be a client worth having.

"Make a practice from the start of producing on even the humblest of your clients an impression of loyalty, devotion, and diligence. One of my first cases involved $30. But it resulted in some of the most important and profitable relations I ever established.

"Don't avail yourselves of deceitful technicalities. But if you are convinced a cause is just, fight it to the end. While your face and speech are unfamiliar to the Judges you may be treated impatiently by them. But a man who fears being unpopular should not enter the law.

"Shall a lawyer help his client to violate the law? is a much-discussed question nowadays. If a client comes to you and says he meditates a burglary you will be a criminal if you consent to have anything to do with him. If the client is a corporation this still holds true. But the law is very complex. There are thousands of statutes.

"In the wonderful thicket of statutory prohibitions a corporation or man may wish to do something innocent. It may be illegal if done under one statute and legal if done under another statute. A lawyer is morally justified in advising a man or a corporation under what statute an act may be legally performed."

Three prizes were awarded for highest rank in the degree examinations:

DAY SCHOOL, Senior Class.—First prize, $100, Irwin Slote; second prize, $75, D. H. Miller. Evening School—First prize, $100, William Huck, Jr.; second prize, $75, Martin Lippman. Third year—Post-graduate prize, $100, H. M. Zuckert; Townsend Wandell Gold Medal for real property law, Sumner Ford.

The degree of LL. M. was conferred upon the following:

MISS MAGIN'S FATHER DEAD.

Actress Finds Him Suffocated by Gas in His Summer Cottage.

John R. Magin, the father of Bonnie Magin, the actress and dancer, was found last Wednesday suffocated by gas in the Anderson cottage at Sea Cliff, L. I., which he had just taken for the Summer. He went there on Monday to prepare for the coming of his wife and two daughters, Bonnie and Ernie.

On Tuesday one of the Magin girls followed him. She found the cottage locked, and thinking her father had come back to the city, returned herself. Mr. Magin did not appear and on Wednesday his wife and daughters went down to the cottage. With the aid of neighbors they forced an entrance and found Mr. Magin lying dead in a gas-filled room.

According to the Coroner his death was accidental. The gas is supposed to have blown out while he was asleep. Mr. Magin was once the partner of "Old Hutch," a Chicago wheat operator.

MAYOR INTERVIEWS CROKER AND WALDO

And the Fire Department Opines There'll Be No Serious Attempt to Discredit the Chief.

BUSINESS MEN ALARMED

Talk of Calling Mass Meetings to Get a Real Fire Investigation if Croker Is to be Attacked.

Mayor Gaynor returned to town yesterday, and among his first callers were Fire Chief Edward F. Croker and Fire Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo. The Chief declined afterward to reveal the subject of their conversation. Mr. Waldo said that his call had to do with the plans for a "safe and sane" Fourth of July. The Mayor, when asked if the visits had not related to the attack being made upon the Chief through the medium of an investigation of the Washington Street fire, in which two firemen lost their lives, replied:

"I am not aware of any friction in the Fire Department. All I know of the matter is what I have been reading in THE TIMES."

Nevertheless the conference with the Mayor formed the one topic of conversation in the department yesterday, and the prevailing opinion last night was that the likelihood of the fire investigation resulting in a report such as would cause charges to be brought against the Chief had become exceedingly slim. The general belief was that it would take a far milder form.

Friends of the Chief declined to grant even the possibility of a serious attempt to discredit him as a result of the present investigation, in view of the publicity it has had.

"Just so sure as Croker was not upheld in this thing," one of them declared, "you would see that there wouldn't be an officer in the Fire Department who would dare to send his men into a burning building. Every last one of 'em would stand on the sidewalk outside and fight the fire by 'scientific methods.' They wouldn't dare do anything else. And all New York would have to see would be one big fire fought in that way to realize the advantage of Croker's way. It would be a conflagration that would go down in history."

Chief Croker and Commissioner Waldo did not arrive at the Mayor's office together. The Chief was already with the Mayor when the Commissioner got there. But they left the Hall together, going to Police Headquarters, where for a while they were closeted with Police Commissioner Baker, discussing Fourth of July plans. Commissioner Baker assured Commissioner Waldo that the police would co-operate with the Fire Department in every way to enforce a rigid observance of the order for an orderly Fourth without fireworks.

Later, on his return to Fire Headquarters, and while the Fire Investigating Committee was in session in Chief Croker's private office examining witnesses concerning the Washington Street blaze, Commissioner Waldo told a group of newspaper men that he knew of no friction between himself and Chief Croker.

"There is nothing to all these stories," said the Commissioner. "There is no friction between Chief Croker and myself. As for the investigation of the Washington Street fire, I don't know what report will be made. I can certainly not talk before a full report of the Committee of Investigation is placed before me. When I appointed the Investigating Board the matter passed out of my hands until the report is filed."

At the session of the investigating committee half a dozen firemen who took part in fighting the Washington Street fire were called as witnesses. Another hearing will probably be held this afternoon, and may bring the investigation to a close, but the report of the committee—composed of Chief Croker and his three rivals and subordinates—is not expected to reach the Commissioner's hands before early next week.

Intense interest in the outcome of the committee's investigation is being shown by business men all over the city. Some of these say that should the majority report of the committee seek to discredit Croker, mass meetings of business men will be called at once to bring the entire matter to the official notice of Mayor Gaynor and set on foot a real investigation from the Mayor's office. Such an investigation, it was said, should not be restricted to the Washington Street fire, but should delve down deep into what is generally believed to be a game of politics now being played in the Fire Department.

A meeting of the Fifth Avenue Association was called yesterday to take action concerning the alleged attempt to oust Chief Croker, but lacking a quorum, was adjourned to await a later call from the Chairman. Most of the members are out of town.

Charles Thorley, Vice President of the association, said that should the majority report of the Fire Department's investigating board seek to depose the present Chief, he would call a mass meeting of business men at once and a delegation would call on Mayor Gaynor to ask him to take a hand.

"It is best to wait until the report is made public," said Mr. Thorley yesterday. "But the business men feel that an effort is being made to do a great injustice to Chief Croker, one of the most efficient fire fighters in the world, and we do not intend to sit idly by. We have interests at stake."

Yesterday's story of developments in the Croker matter, said "Battalion Chief John F. Devanney, another Republican, is a second who owes his preferment to Croker." This statement was not correct. Chief Devanney, who is one of the veterans of the department, was promoted to the command of a battalion during the period when Chief Croker was out of the department. He owes his promotion simply to the fact that he knows how to fight fires.

Lone Bid for City Fire Hose.

The box for the reception of bids for supplying hose to the Fire Department for all the boroughs was opened yesterday at Fire Headquarters by Deputy Fire Commissioner Joseph Johnson. The H. W. Johns-Manville Company of 100 William Street was the only bidder under the rigid specifications imposed. The contract calls for 60,000 feet of Para rubber hose of the highest quality and strength. The price bid was not announced.

GLIDDENITES IN ALABAMA.

Ten Automobiles Have Perfect Scores—Rough Roads in South.

Special to The New York Times.

SHEFFIELD, Ala., June 16.—The run of the Glidden tour cars to-day from Nashville added further to the list of mishaps which have reduced the perfect score list in the Glidden and Chicago cup competitions. The rough going from Louisville to Nashville yesterday resulted in a number of penalizations which were not announced until to-night, and the 119-mile journey to-day brought forth a number more.

The revised list shows only ten cars out of the total twenty-six competing machines with perfect scores. Eight of these are competing for the Glidden Cup and two for the Chicago Cup. The cars, which will retain perfect scores are the two Premiers, Chalmers No. 5, Maxwell No. 7, Carter Car No. 8, Glide No. 10, Ohio No. 11, and Cino No. 15 in the Glidden and the Lexington and Maxwell in the Chicago Cup.

To-day's journey was not as long as yesterday's, but it was a severe strain on the cars, as the roads in many spots were fully as bad as those encountered from Louisville. The route led through heavy woods for most of the way and a number of streams had to be forded, which added to the difficulty of the going.

The cars which were penalized to-day were the Moline No. 100, which was assessed 9 points; the No. 105 Parry, 12 points; the No. 10 Carter car, 2 points, and the No. 111 Westcott, 7 points.

The No. 104 Colo car and the No. 109 Carter car reported late and their penalization will not be announced until to-morrow.

Many Attractions at Pastime Meet.

The open annual Spring games of the Pastime Athletic Club, to be held on Sunday afternoon, June 19, at the club grounds, Ninetieth Street and Avenue A, will bring forth the best athletes of the Metropolitan District, some of the entrants being Dorland, Archer, Keating, Rosenberger, Goggin, Slade, Richmond, Kramer, Carr, Jensen, Brennan, Liebgold, Voellmeke, and others. There are nine events on the programme, the feature of which will be the five-pound shot. This is a new event in the history of amateur athletics, in which will be seen the Big Four—Sheridan, Flanagan, McGrath, and Walsh—in an effort to establish a world's record. Another added event which should prove interesting will be the seventy-five-yard three-legged race. Keating and Slade, the champions of the Military Athletic League at this branch of athletics, will attempt to break the world's record at this distance, and inasmuch as the ninety-yard record has been added to their string, there is little doubt that they will fair to attach the seventy-five yards. The one-mile walking race, closed to members of the Pastime Athletic Club, will bring together two of the most closely matched heel-and-toe men in America—Sam Liebgold, the champion, and Al. Voellmeke, a walker who, by his wonderful performances at this game, has the honor of sharing the scratch mark with Liebgold.

Pleasure Drivers' Matinee.

The opening matinee of the Pleasure Drivers' Association of Brooklyn will take place at the half-mile track, Ocean Parkway and Kings Highway, to-morrow. The opening was to have been last Saturday, but the weather conditions necessitated postponing the matinee until this week. The card, which includes thirty-eight of the best horses in and about Brooklyn, remains the same. There are six races, with two silver cups in two events, and prizes almost as valuable in the other four races.

PYNCHON'S ISTALENA BEATS THE AURORA

Fourteen Yachts Sail on Sound for New York Yacht Club Spring Cups.

The New York Yacht Club's annual race for the Spring cups was sailed on Long Island Sound yesterday in a drizzling rain from start to finish. The fourteen yachts that started sailed over a triangular course of 19¼ miles, the start and finish being in Hempstead Bay off Glen Cove. The wind was east, and blowing fairly fresh at the start. It shifted to south by east in the latter half of the race and fell lighter.

George M. Pynchon's 65-foot sloop Istalena, steered by her owner, added another win to her list by defeating Cornelius Vanderbilt's Aurora 3 minutes 52 seconds, and Henry F. Lippitt's Winsome by 6 minutes 51 seconds. By reason of the thick weather only the yachts in the thirty-foot class were ready to start when the signals were given from the committee tug Edmund Moran, anchored off Mott's Point.

The Regatta Committee—H. De P. Parsons, Ernest E. Lorillard, and Grenville Kane—sent the sixty-five-footers away at 12:35 o'clock. The Istalena started at the lee end of the line, crossing just a few seconds after the signal. The Winsome and Aurora crossed in the weather berth, but too soon. They were recalled, the Winsome losing 1 minute 30 seconds and the Aurora about 4 minutes. With such a start the Istalena had no trouble in maintaining her lead to the finish. The first leg of the course—to Woolsey's Reef Buoy—was windward work. To the next mark—Parsonage Point Buoy—it was a run, and the final leg from there to the finish was a close reach on the port tack in light and fluky breezes.

A feature of the day was the trying out of Morton F. Plant's new Herrishoff sloop Shimna. She was sailed by Addison Hanan, and her opponent, the Avenger, was handled by her owner, Harry L. Maxwell. The Avenger got away first at the start, but the Shimna, with better headway, passed her soon after. Both were on the starboard tack. In running and reaching, however, the Avenger proved the best boat. She finally won by 6 minutes 29 seconds from the Shimna.

After sailing alone almost two miles from the start Stuyvesant Wainwright of the Class P sloop Cara Mia saw his class opponent, the Windward, coming through the fog. He turned back and gave him a fresh start. The Cara Mia won by 3 minutes 49 seconds. The "thirty" Alera won by 18 minutes 38 seconds from the Caprice. F. F. Carey's schooner Cygnet sailed the course alone, the Miladi not starting. The summary:

Moore Wins Billiard Match.

In the final block of the 150-point three-cushion carrom billiard match played last night at McGraw's Billiard Academy, Thirty-fifth Street and Sixth Avenue, George Moore, the champion of Greater New York, defeated Charles "Cowboy" Weston, the former pool champion, by a total score of 150 to 125 for three nights of play, or 50 points each night. Moore's score for last night's match was 50, to Weston's 35. Both players made high runs of 6. Moore played a remarkable game, and always kept well ahead of his opponent.

Ora Morningstar, the former 18.2 balkline billiard champion, who is practicing at Maurice Daly's Billiard Academy, Forty-ninth Street and Broadway, defeated John Henry last night by the score of 300 to 250. Morningstar made a high run of 108 and an average of 20, while Henry's best efforts to tally netted him 65, with an average of 16.

SPORTING NEWS IN BRIEF.

Meyerrose Park, Ridgewood, will be the scene of two lively games on Sunday. At 2 o'clock the Royal Giants and Black Sox will again face each other, and the winning team will be pitted against the powerful Ridgewoods at 4 o'clock. Lindermann, probably the best semi-professional pitcher in Greater New York, will occupy the box for the Ridgewoods, while either Buckner of the Royals or Robinson of the Black Sox will oppose him.

The Morris Athletic Association of the Bronx has arranged an attractive programme for its second monthly games, which will be held at Macomb's Dam Park, 161st Street and Jerome Avenue, on Sunday afternoon. The events will be 75 and 300 yard dashes, three-quarters of a mile and two-mile runs, putting 8-pound shot, running broad jump, and a 600-yard run for members who never have won a prize.

The usual attractive double-header has been arranged for Bronx Oval, 163d Street and Southern Boulevard, on Sunday. In the first game the strong Pittsburg Giants will line up with the Central Islips at 2 o'clock, while the main attraction, at 4 o'clock, will be between the All-Nationals and Bronx Athletics. Billy Gilbert, the Giant's old second baseman, will play with the All-Nationals, while the Bronx team will have Ernie Lush, who went south on the Giant's training trip last Spring.

Billy Leary and Johnnie Waltz, both of New Jersey, are scheduled to box ten rounds in the chief bout at the stag of the Atlantic Athletic Association, Hammell's Station, Rockaway, to-night. The indications are that this will be one of the liveliest bouts seen at that club in some time. Another interesting "go" should result in the meeting of Mike Malla of Boston and Willie Scott of Brooklyn for six rounds. Larry Ryan and Mike Farrell are also scheduled to box six rounds, and there will be the usual preliminaries.

The game of the season between crack colored baseball players will be decided at American League Park to-morrow, when the champion Royal Giants and the New York Black Sox will clash in the first game of a championship series. Monroe, Buckner, Earl, Bradley, and other colored stars will be in the line-up of the Royals. The Black Sox will present faces new to local fans. Baron Wilkins has selected the cream of the colored players of the West and South, with Matthews, formerly of Harvard, at short field. Matthews is considered the best colored shortstop in the country.

WEST SIDE SWIMMERS WIN.

Capture First Honors in Washington Heights Y. M. C. A. Contests.

The annual aquatic meet of the Washington Heights branch of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last night in the branch pool, 155th Street, near Broadway. The events were open to all branches of the association, but several failing to enter, the competition became a three-cornered contest between the Harlem, West Side, and Washington Heights branches. The West Side branch carried off the meet with a total of 44 points, while the Harlemites and West Siders ran a nip and tuck race for second place, the Harlem branch winning by one point, scoring 26 against their rivals' 25.

Nine events were scheduled for competition, the feature being the relay race of 320 feet. Four men represented each branch, each swimming twice the length of the forty-foot tank, but the Harlem four had easy sailing from the start and won handily by a margin of fully twenty feet.

Pursell of the Harlem branch won the longest single event of the programme, which was the seventy-five yard swim. Miller of the home team gave the Harlemite a good tussle for the honors, but had to be content with second place. The summaries:

75-Yard Swim.—Won by Pursell, Harlem Branch; Miller, Washington Heights Branch, second; Haight, Harlem Branch, third. Time—0:48 4-5.

50-Yard Swim, Heavyweight.—Won by McHardy, West Side Branch; Yost, Harlem Branch, second; Schwartz, Harlem Branch, third. Time—0:29.

50-Yard Swim, 115-Pound Class.—Won by Peoli, Washington Heights Branch; Lothian, West Side Branch, second; Ennis, West Side Branch, third. Time—0:29 3-5.

25-Yard Swim.—Won by Fulton, West Side Branch; Miller, Washington Heights Branch, second; Ennis, West Side Branch, third. Time—0:16 1-5.

40-Foot Plunge, 130-Pound Class.—Won by Dahlman, West Side Branch; Miller, Washington Heights Branch, second; McCarthy, Harlem Branch, third. Time—0:13 2-5.

Relay Race, 320 Feet—Won by Harlem Branch team, (composed of Pursell, Jewett, Lahn, and Schwartz,) West Side Branch team, (composed of McHardy, Rohrs, Ennis, and Marshall,) second; Washington Heights Branch team, (composed of Brown, Lorenze, Miller, and Peoli,) third. Time—0:61.

Strong Field for Tennis Championship.

The doubles game of lawn tennis has always been a popular one with the spectator, and from the calibre of the men who have entered fast play should be seen in the Metropolitan championships, which begin to-morrow on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis Club, 238th Street and Broadway. Theodore Roosevelt Pell, who won the New England championship in singles at Hartford, Conn., last Saturday, has paired with Wylie Grant. This team holds the Southern doubles championship, and both men are at the height of their game. F. C. Inman, the Metropolitan champion, and George Wagner are another strong pair. Wagner made the trip to Australia with the American team in 1909, and has always shown a high sandard of play. G. F. Touchard and Carlton R. Gardner, the Californians, and the holders of the National indoor championship in doubles, make another powerful team. Raymond D. Little, the New York State champion, and Karl Behr, the internationalist, have been practicing together for some little time with an eye to the Metropolitan championship. This team gave the National champions, Hackett and Alexander, a praiseworthy match in the New York State championship last year. It is expected that there will be at least forty entries in the doubles contest.

You Don't Have to Pick Your Route by the Weather—If You Drive a MORA

You're a hundred miles from home—and it is raining "pitch-forks."

You reach for your route book and eagerly scan the pages.

"Forty miles of clay, if I go this way."
"Rough, sandy and stony, if I go the other."
"What shall I do?" Shall I take Hobson's choice, and run a chance?"

That's the temerity that comes to you with a car of unknown quantity.

If you're in a MORA—all fears of bad roads vanish before the steady chug-chug of a motor that motes through good roads and bad.

You simply don't have to pick your route.

For your MORA will see you through your journey without a stutter.

Now, if the pleasure of automobiling is derived from owning a car in which you feel perfectly safe to go where you choose and when you choose—in comfort and luxury—why there is one way to go and make sure—in a MORA.

Win Again!

In the 1100-Mile Atlanta-New York Good Roads Tour a $1,750 Model 17 Buick, driven by its owner, W. E. Wimpy, was the winner in Class 4.

Thirty-eight (38) cars entered the 400-mile "Montauk Light or Bust" Reliability Contest. Sixteen (16) made perfect scores. Four (4) of the 16 perfect scores were made by Buicks, and a fifth was made by a Welch-Detroit entered by the Buick Motor Company, which had only just finished the strenuous Atlanta-New York Tour in which, as the Secretary and Starter's Official Car, it covered itself with greatest glory.

A $1,000 Model 10 Buick made a perfect score in Class 2-A for cars selling from $801 to $1,200. Three $1,750 Model 17 Buicks made perfect scores in Class 4-A for cars selling from $1,601 to $2,000. Not another car in this class made a perfect score.

These same Buick Cars are entered in the New Jersey Automobile Club Reliability Run on Saturday; in the Ossining Hill Climb, Port Jefferson Hill Climb, Plainfield Hill Climb and all other local contests. You can purchase any car we enter at any time for list price or secure Immediate Delivery of any Buick Model.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, June 16.—It was an unlucky day for the Yankees. Not only did they lose the game to the Naps by the score of 5 to 3, and get set back into second place, with the Athletics in front, but they lost the services of a pitcher for some time.

Quinn was doing excellent work in the box, when he got in front of a terrific drive from Lajoie's bat in the sixth inning. The ball struck his left arm above the wrist. For a few minutes it was thought the arm was broken, but a physician, who made an examination, reported that it was badly bruised, but not fractured. Quinn was forced to retire. Hughes, who took his place, was not much of a puzzle, and the Naps added three more runs.

An incident that aroused the anger of the Yankees and cheering from the handful of Cleveland fans came in the fifth inning. Austin had doubled, and when Sweeney hit to the pitcher he went to third at a hot clip. Koestner threw to Bradley, who got the native son as he over-slid the bag. Umpire Perrine, who was making base decisions, called him safe. The Naps made a concerted yell, and appealed to Chief Umpire O'Loughlin, who was in a better position to see the play than Perrine.

"Will you leave it to me?" yells Silk to Perrine.

"Yes," was the reply.

"You're out!" cried Silk, and the Yankees danced with anger.

A few minutes later, when several of the visitors hurled invidious remarks at Silk from the bench, he turned to them and yelled:

"That will do! Don't get sore at me because I didn't let you pull that off."

Koestner, a youngster, who got his first real tryout in the box, made good. He kept the seven hits made off him well scattered, and in pinches he proved a pretty cool proposition.

Knight and Austin got the first run for the visitors in the fifth inning, when a gift to the shortstop was turned into a score after Austin doubled. O'Loughlin's decision in calling Jimmy out came just in time, as Quinn singled a few minutes later.

Chase was the real Yankee star of the day. He made the next run in the sixth, scoring on a triple and a "squeeze play," in which he was ably assisted by Laporte. Chase also scored the final run in the eighth, when he doubled and came home on Cree's single.

The Naps also did their scoring in three innings. In the second Lajoie singled, and Easterly got a hit when the ball carromed off Quinn's glove. Then, with one out, Lord was passed, filling the bases. Gardner fumbled the ball long enough to give Bradley a life, and Larry scored. Koestner forced Bradley, but Easterly scored. Then Graney died easily.

In the sixth the Naps added another brace of runs, Larry again starting the inning with a hit, the one that put Quinn out of business. Hughes went into the box, and advanced Larry at once on a wild pitch. Then Stovall's double sent Larry home. A passed ball advanced Stovall, and he scored a minute later on Lord's sacrifice fly.

In the seventh inning Graney led off with a triple far over Laporte's head, and scored when Knight fumbled Turner's grounder. Hughes then settled down, and pitched fairly good ball.

Hemphill was out of the line-up again on account of illness, the team being shifted about with Gardner at second.

All games postponed—Rain.

"White Sox" Old Home for Semi-Pros.

CHICAGO, June 16.—The American League Baseball Park at Thirty-ninth Street and Wentworth Avenue, the home of the "White Sox" for the last ten years, is to become a way station on the semi-professional circuit next year, a lease for a term of years having been signed by John M. Schorling, owner of the Auburn Park franchise in the Chicago Baseball League. Schorling plans to open his new plant next Spring, the present park remaining in the possession of the American League Club until next November.

Pitcher Dubec Robbed of Watch.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 16.—Pitcher Dubec of the Buffalo Eastern League Baseball team was robbed yesterday of a gold watch and chain presented to him by Cincinnati fans. To-day the police arrested Harry McGrady on the charge of stealing the watch.

YALE AND PRINCETON CLASH ON DIAMOND

Larry Doyle and Fred Clarke Suspended—C. H. Ebbets Fined $500.

Instead of carrying flags of orange and black and blue the Princeton and Yale supporters around town yesterday carried umbrellas. The rain left American League Park a sea of mud, and the game had to be postponed until to-day at 3:30 o'clock. The interest in the game between the two college nines is unusually keen, and the telephone at the Broadway grounds was continually buzzing all day with inquiries about the game.

Both the Tiger and Bulldog aggregations stayed indoors at their hotels and listened to inside information from the coaches. They are primed for the battle, and the struggle this afternoon will draw a big crowd of enthusiasts. There will be plenty of noise, color, and excitement. The city contains hundreds of undergraduates and college girls who are here to see the game.

Here's a fine bit of gossip about Capt. Larry Doyle of the Giants and Capt. Fred Clarke of the Pirates. On Wednesday Umpire O'Day sent them both off the field for disputing his decisions, and the announcement was made by President Lynch last night that each player had been suspended for three days. This means that they will not be in the game again until Monday. Yesterday's game between the Giants and Pirates was called off on account of the bad weather.

President Charles H. Ebbets of the Brooklyn club has been found guilty of a grievous offense by President Lynch and has been fined $500. It seems that Ebbets let Tommy McMillan go to Rochester and Harry Lumley to Binghamton before all the National League clubs had a chance to waive claim on their services. When Cincinnati learned that McMillan had gone to the minors, it immediately claimed its waiver right and got the short stop, who may get Tommy Downey's place if he comes up to the mark.

It is also rumored that Kid Elberfeld, the ex-Yankee, wants to get out of Washington, and that St. Louis stands ready to trade a couple of players for him. Elberfeld wants to join the Browns, it is said, and a deal may be fixed up whereby a pitcher and outfield will go to the Nationals in return for the erratic short stop.

Brooklyn has corralled a new player, one Jack Dalton of Des Moines of the Western League. This may or may not be the same Jack who has stolen the valuable papers in many a melodrama of former days. The same rain storm which sojourns hereabout also took in Brooklyn and prevented the clash between the Cubs and Dodgers.

There will be lots of double headers before the season is over.

Phillies Win with Big Score.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—Philadelphia shut out Cincinnati to-day, 10 to 0. The home team hit the deliveries of Beebe and Doyle hard, while Ewing was a complete puzzle to his former team mates. Manager Dooin and Second Baseman Knabe of Philadelphia have each been suspended for three days for their argument with Umpire Klem yesterday. Score:

The other teams in the league were Orange, Englewood, and Passaic. The team was as follows: Edwards, Captain, 2b; Binder, lf; Brandenburgh, ss; Doremus, 3b; Farr, 1b; Clarke, cf; Nield and Finger, rf; Garrison, p; Burr, c.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 16.—Norton, Captain and star second baseman of the Dartmouth baseball team, has accepted an offer of the Lynn team in the New England League. Lynn will use him as a utility infielder.

"BUGS" RAYMOND A REFEREE.

Giants' Pitcher Third Man in Ring at Long Acre—Ragl and Alberts Draw.

"Bugs" Raymond of the Giants blossomed forth in a new rôle last night, when he appeared as referee in the ring of the Long Acre Athletic Association. Bugs has tried about everything, and has occupied attention at different times as mixologist, also as a dodger of his keeper, being one of the few folks in the civilized world who has the constant attention of a chaperon.

"Bugs" peeled off his coat, collar, and cravat, and refereed the preliminary bouts. A couple of knockouts were easy, but the six-round semi-final between Young Bossie and Frankie Mango kept "Bugs" on the jump. He thought a good many of the wallops were directed at him, and did as much footwork as the fighters. He worked hard pulling the boys apart in the clinches, and at the end was puffing hard and needed the attention of the towel wavers. "Bugs" looked just as he does when he is knocked out of the box in the second inning. Bossee had the better of Mango all the way, and in half of the rounds had him hanging on and stalling to save himself from the fadeaway.

Two shifty bantams—Young Ragl and Martie Alberts—made their début as headliners in the main ten-round number. It was a lively slam-bang affair and was a drw. Alberts had a little the better of the boxing end of it, being a bit more clever, but he couldn't stop Ragl, who worked his arms like triphammers in the clinches. Ragl also displayed a short, effective uppercut in the clinches which made Alberts wince. Both boys were willing, and jumped at each other as if they enjoyed it. There was action from start to finish, and they were cheered almost as much Raymond was for his contribution to the evening's show.

Somebody said that the pitcher had ambitions to crowd Tex Rickard out of a job on July 4, but "Bugs" admits that's mere gossip.

O'Leary and Wagner in Ring.

Young O'Leary and Joe Wagner, the best of the local bantams, will battle ten rounds to-night at the National Sporting Club. If fight "dope" may be depended upon they should put up the fastest fistic argument of the season. Wagner has as much love for O'Leary as Jeffries has for Johnson. He'd rather knock him out than win the championship. Both are east-siders, with rival followings and interest in their meeting is intense. The bout will be something of a novelty to the patrons of the National Sporting Club, who for a month past have been looking at the big fellows exchanging wallops. Jimmy Kelly, manager of O'Leary, is holding out an inducement to his boy. "Knock out Wagner, and I'll take you to the coast to see the big fight," he said. O'Leary says he will deliver the goods. The winner of to-night's battle will be matched with Johnny Conlon, the champion.

Sailor Burke Starts Training.

Sailor Burke has gone into training at Stratford, Conn., for his bout with Jim Smith at the Fairmont Athletic Club next Tuesday night. He knows that he will have to be at his best to down the middleweight from the Bronx. The latter stayed ten rounds with Joe Jeanette, and any one that can do this is worthy of notice. But it was Smith's game showing against Ketchel that gave his stock a boom. He staggered the middleweight several times. After the bout Ketchel admitted that Smith is a dangerous man to trifle with. "He can hit as hard as any one I have ever met," said Ketchel, "and properly coached will make a great pugilist."

Bouts at Lehigh A. C. To-night.

Terry Young, the Italian lightweight, will swap jabs and jolts with Buck Hagen at the Lehigh Athletic Club to-night in the star bout of ten rounds. There will be lots of doings when these two slashing lightweights clash, and a knockout is expected. Johnny Sullivan will fight six rounds with Harry Ames in the semi-final.

"Birdleg" Collins Badly Beaten.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 16.—"Cyclone" Johnny Thompson of Sycamore, Ill., won a decision over "Birdleg" Collins, the colored lightweight, at Saltair Pavilion last night. Collins was outfought up to the seventh round, when his seconds threw up the sponge to avoid a knockout.

FIVE CREWS PULL OVER HUDSON COURSE

'Varsity Eights All Send Shells Over Poughkeepsie Waters in Fast Time.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 16.—New life was put in the practice of the crews here on the Hudson to-day by a break in the hot weather. Although there was a driving rain, this served to cool off the oarsmen, and with the water flat and the tide favorable, some very interesting tryouts were held over the course by several of the squads.

When the crews left their quarters they all headed up stream, and it was thought then that about all of the five "eights" would be sent over the four miles. Cornell was the first to come down the river in what looked like a time trial, the stroke at the three-mile mark being around thirty-two. But when they reached a point opposite the Oaks they slowed down and turned their eights and fours toward their quarters, not finishing out the fourth mile.

Not far behind the red and white crews the Columbia 'Varsity eight and four-oared boats were coming down the course. The four was leading, with the stroke at thirty-four at the finish of their two miles. The four rowed as well as did the eight, who were but a half length behind. At the bridge Coach Rice urged Clapp to hit up the stroke, but this was apparently not done, for they continued down to the end of the course at the low stroke of twenty-nine. Unofficial clockers on the bank caught the time for the last mile at 5:02. This certainly is not the best that the blue and white can do, for in yesterday's practice they had the pace up as high as thirty-nine strokes to the minute. The slide work of the Morningside eight was about perfect, and they will surely figure as formidable contestants in the regatta a week from Saturday.

The last crews to come down the course this morning were Syracuse and Pennsylvania. They had started even at the beginning, the Syracusians off toward the east bank and the Quakers nearer the west shore. At the bridge they swept past at a greatly increased rate of stroke and pulled over the last mile in what looked like a race. Both were rowing at about the thirty-six stroke, and it was soon evident that they were evenly matched. The same unofficial clockers caught the time at the finish as 4:55 for Pennsylvania and 4:59 for the up-Staters. This showed up the Philadelphians with a strength that was not expected of them and it begins to point toward some very fast if not record time being made this year in the senior eight race before any of the crews pull out the victor.

At the Columbia camp, Brambacher, who rows No. 5 in the 1913 eight, is out for a few days, as he had a slight fever last night, due, the doctor says, to liver trouble.

To Decide Schoolboy Championship.

Baseball "fans" of the High Schools of Greater New York are much exercised over the outcome of the game between the teams of the High School of Commerce and the De Witt Clinton High School, which will be played to-morrow afternoon at McNulty's Field, 149th Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues. Upon the result will hinge the High School championship of Manhattan, Bronx, and Richmond, and as each team has won four games and lost one in the regular series, the battle to-morrow is expected to be stubbornly contested. The winning team will then be pitted against the leaders of the Brooklyn division in a series of three games for the championship of the greater city.

YALE FRESHMAN SHAKEUP.

Three Changes Made in Eight—Brush Between the Fours.

GALES FERRY, Conn., June 16.—A spirited half-mile brush upstream between the fours and a shake-up in the freshman eight furnished the chief interest to-day in the work of the Yale crews. The Thames was smooth when the eights went out separately, doing their work under Coach Kennedy's eye. The 'Varsity eight was sent upstream for a mile and a half and return. The freshman eight covered a similar distance. In the latter boat Philbin displaced Schagg at No. 6, Brainard took Reed's place at No. 4, while Adams was seated at No. 3 in place of Bomeisler. The changes in the freshman eight resulted in a reseating in the freshman four as follows:

Romeyn, bow; Reed, No. 2; Bomeisler, No. 3; Schagg, stroke. Thorne, bow in the second 'Varsity four, changed places with Brainard, the first 'Varsity bow oar.

The race between the fours was won by the first 'Varsity by a length, the freshman finishing second and the second four third.

The afternoon practice was taken shortly after 5 o'clock. The freshman eight went out first and rowed down stream for a mile and a half, spurting for the last half mile. The return was made in short stretches. The 'Varsity eight went down stream two miles coached by Mr. Kennedy, returning at an easy stroke. The three fours also went down stream, going as far as the Navy Yard. There were no changes in the crews for the afternoon practice.

RED TOP, Conn., June 16.—The Harvard 'Varsity eight pulled down the river to the navy yard this morning and then rowed back for half a mile at a thirty-four stroke, covering the distance in 2:27. The stroke was then lowered and the boat paddled back to quarters in easy stretches. The freshman eight rowed down to the navy yard and back. It is stated that Sullivan, who has been tried out at No. 2 in the latter boat, now looks like a fixture there. The 'Varsity four, which had an easy two-mile paddle down stream, rowed in the following order: Stroke, Forster; No. 3, Balch; No. 2, Sargent; bow, Wiggins; coxswain, Voorhees.

Warren and Morgan had several tryouts yesterday for No. 3 in the freshman four, and it is practically decided that Warren, who pulled that oar to-day, will be kept there. The other positions in the boat were filled to-day by Davis at stroke, Chadwick, 2, and Parker, bow. Brownlee was coxswain.

The first 'Varsity four-oared defeated the second 'Varsity four in a two-mile race to-day for the first time since the arrival of the crews on the Thames. The race was rowed over the first two miles of the course from a point in front of the freshmen quarters down to the navy yard, and was won by the first four by two and a half lengths of open water in 11:54. The first four got the better of the start and were a length ahead at the first half mile, and gained steadily until the finish. The men in the two fours have been interchanged constantly, and the winning crew of to-day will probably be the one to meet Yale. The first four was made up as follows: Stroke, Forster; No. 3, Balch; No. 2, Sargent; bow, Loring, and coxswain, Voorhees.

The second four rowed: Stroke, Waite; No. 3, Hooper; No. 2, Smith; bow, Wiggins, and coxswain, Strauss.

The 'Varsity eight rowed down to the navy yard in one stretch at a slow stroke, returning the same way. The freshman eight covered the same course as the 'Varsity, only in short stretches.

Scranton Baseball Men Fined.

SCRANTON, Penn., June 16.—For failure to play at Troy yesterday Owner Edward Coleman of the Scranton Club of the New York State League was to-day fined $100 and Manager Monte Cross $50 by President Farrell of the league. Under threat of forfeiture of franchise the penalties were paid, together with $10 fine each on Cross, Schultz, and Scanlon, and $5 each on McDonough and Kirke for disputing with Umpire Kelly at Troy on Tuesday.

ONLY CAR WITH PERFECT SCORE

in the Big Car Class in which it competed (except one car which may be given a Perfect Score although admittedly late at one control)

The Atlanta-New York Good Roads Tour, finished June 13, was the severest endurance run of the year. Incessant rains made the roads almost impassable. ONLY SIX CARS OUT OF SIXTY-NINE CONTESTANTS MADE EVERY CONTROL ON TIME—THE LOZIER BEING THE ONLY BIG CAR WHOSE RUNNING TIME WAS NOT AFFECTED BY THE BOTTOMLESS ROADS. Although five other cars made each Control on time, they were in other classes which called for a slower running time. The LOZIER therefore was the only car to make every Control on time, on the fast schedule demanded in the Big Car Class.

MR. ASA G. CANDLER, JR., WHO OWNS AND DROVE THE LOZIER CAR, IS A WEALTHY ATLANTA AUTOMOBILIST, AND PRESIDENT OF THE ATLANTA SPEEDWAY. He has owned and driven the best cars made in America and Europe, and owns seven motor cars at the present time. He telegraphed an order for a LOZIER Briarcliff Car, and received it but a few days before the run began, and was entirely unfamiliar with the car when he started.

READ WHAT MR. CANDLER HAD TO SAY ON HIS ARRIVAL IN NEW YORK CITY

"Since we left Atlanta we have travelled over mountain roads and through bottomless mud in an almost steady downpour of rain. The LOZIER IS THE BEST CAR I HAVE EVER DRIVEN. I believe it was the only car that was not in the ditch at one time or another. It was practically the last car to leave the Control each morning, BUT INVARIABLY OVERTOOK THE PACEMAKER DURING THE DAY. We were not delayed a moment through mechanical troubles, our nearest approach to an accident on the road being caused by a balky mule which took a notion to sit down in the chauffeur's seat, on the running board. Not being built for mules the seat retired from business. I HAVE NOT SEEN THE ENGINE SINCE I LEFT ATLANTA."

SUBURBAN DAY AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY

Seven of the Best Horses in Training to Race for Coney Island Club Stake.

Sheepshead Bay and the Suburban Handicap is the racing feature to-day, when the Coney Island Jockey Club is to inaugurate its meeting with an excellent card of races. The overnight entries show a list of seven of the best handicap horses that have been shown this season. as the probable starters. With the exception of Fitz Herbert, winner of the Brooklyn Handicap, the field embraces the best of the older division, and though it has been usual for the field to be a larger one, the race should be a stirring contest from end to end.

S. C. Hildreth is represented by King James and the three-year-old Joe Madden, and he confidently expects that they will ably take the place of Fitz Herbert in the big Handicap. James R. Keene's pair are Ballot, the Voter horse who was campaigned in England last season, and Maskette, a Futurity winner and the best mare in training. Fashion Plate, winner of the Metropolitan Handicap, is the hope of H. K. Knapp, who races under the name of the Oneck Stable. Richard T. Wilson, Jr., is represented by the good four-year-old Olambala, who gave such a good account of himself in the Brooklyn Handicap, and the remaining starter is Prince Imperial, from the Woodhaven Stable.

It is probable that the Keene pair will go to the post favorite. though if the track remains muddy Maskette will be withdrawn and Ballot will be the sole dependence of the white and blue spots. This best son of Voter recently ran a remarkably fast trial for the big race when he stepped the mile and a quarter in 2:05 3-5. A race to that work could not fail to make him favorite in any company. Since his final he has been on the track, and Trainer Rowe has him as fit as a horse can be made. Yesterday morning he galloped a mile in 1:54, and his stablemate, Maskette, was breezed along for the same distance in 1:51.

Joe Madden has not yet distinguished himself under silks this season, but when he was started he was not up to a race. Since his last public trial he has been trained down nicely by Hildreth, and he proclaims him fit and ready for a good race. King James, his mate, has been raced into condition, and his form is public property. They were both breezed along yesterday, King James stepping a mile in 1:47, and Madden finishing out his mile hard held in 1:52.

Prince Imperial was brought to the races early by Thomas Welsh, and he has steadily improved with each appearance. He is in the Suburban under 101 pounds, and his remarkable race in the Brooklyn Derby, when he raced Sweep into the ground and fought it out with Dalmatian, makes him an undoubted contender in the big race.

Mr. Wilson's Olambala has been away from the races for some time, but Trainer Healey has carefully pointed him for the Suburban, and his race with Fitz Herbert in the Brooklyn won for him a great many friends. Fashion Plate has been kept on a good edge by Trainer Karrick, and he is one that will be favored if the going remains muddy. He has been named as a sure starter, and has earned his impost of 118 pounds.

*Ballot, 129, (Powers)	7 to 5
*Maskette, 123, (Reid)	7 to 5
†King James, 129, (Dugan)	2 to 1
†Joe Madden, 117, (Shilling)	2 to 1
Prince Imperial, 101, (Garner)	4 to 1
Olambala, 115, (Archibald)	6 to 1
Fashion Plate, 118, (Glass)	8 to 1

NO CHANGE IN BETTING.

Gravesend Racegoers Continue Old Method of Making Wagers.

Dismal, cloudy weather, with occasional drizzling rain, made the closing of the racing season of the Brooklyn Jockey Club, at Gravesend, decidedly tame yesterday, although a fairly large crowd turned out, despite the unfavorable conditions. The track was deep in mud from the heavy rains overnight, and that resulted in several of the races being heavily scratched.

It was thought by many that the signing of the anti-betting bills by Gov Hughes would result in a change of the method when it came to speculation, but there was no demonstration from the officers, and the oral betting that has been the rule, since it was the only kind permitted, was carried on as usual. The bills prohibiting the bookmaking, "written or otherwise," do not go into effect until Sept. 1, and both layers and players felt secure until that time. at least.

The feature of the closing day was the Myrtle, a selling stake at a mile and a furlong, and it was a very easy victory for Richard T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Beaucoup. He had no trouble in disposing of Far West, Wise Mason, Norbitt, and Hilltop. The summaries:

GOLD CUP FOR BAYARDO.

Danny Maher Wins Four Races at Ascot—Sir Martin Beaten.

ASCOT HEATH, England, June 16.—The Gold Cup, the feature of to-day's racing here, was captured by Mr. Fairie's Bayardo, ridden by the American jockey, "Danny" Maher. W. K. Vanderbilt's Seasick II. was second and J. Lowry's Bachelor's Double third. There were thirteen starters. Bayardo was the easiest kind of a winner, leading by four lengths at the finish. Sir Martin was badly beaten.

"Danny" Maher, the American jockey, who has scored over a thousand successes on the English turf, had a remarkable run of victories at the Ascot meeting today. He piloted horses that won in four races and finished second in another event. "Skeets" Martin, another American jockey, captured premier honors in the fifth race, the Americans leaving only one first and a walkover in the whole day's card for the British jockeys.

The All-Aged Stakes of 5 sovereigns each, with 300 sovereigns added, for two years old and upward, distance six furlongs, was won by H. P. Whitney's Newcastle II. Lawrenny was second and Nevolnice third. Only three horses ran.

Notes of the Turf.

Walter Jennings, who has been identified with the turf for several years, yesterday sold out all his racing interests to his partner, Catesby Woodford, and he said that hereafter he would occupy himself raising alfalfa on his California farm.

Jockey Willie Knapp, who has been under suspension for about two years, has been restored to good standing and will ride during the Sheepshead Bay meeting.

Robert King and Green B. Morris yesterday shipped their horses to Salt Lake, where they will be raced for the rest of the season.

MONTCLAIR GOLF IN RAIN AND FOG

Gardiner White, Cutler Schoolboy, Leads Big Field in Qualification Round.

Although playing under unfavorable conditions, Gardiner White, the Cutler schoolboy, won the medal in the eighteen-hole qualification round of the invitation golf tournament which began yesterday over the links of the Montclair Golf Club. The interscholastic champion returned an even 80 score. Rain and fog proved the undoing of many a strong player, but despite this five got around in 82, while Jerome D. Travers, the Montclair record holder, needed an 83.

There were between eighty and ninety starters, and a majority returned cards, although looking for lost balls became a regular thing. The home talent showed up well against the formidable array of visitors, and it is probably just as well for the strangers that there was no match play in the afternoon.

So far as qualifying was concerned players had to stay in the divisions they were placed in in accordance with their metropolitan handicaps. The first set embraced those rated from 1 to 7 inclusive, the second from 8 to 10 inclusive, the third from 11 to 14 inclusive, and the fourth set included all those with allowances of 15 or more.

With a view to making the affair even more of a novelty the committee ruled that the contestants who failed to make their intended sets would be able to try again to-day for two "down and out" cups. This contest will be run off at handicap match play.

Prior to the start of the tournament the entrants were all carded in their proper classes, and in this instance, at least, few cases were recorded of irregular form. In the first set Alfred Morrell, the strong Hackensack player, a 7 man on the handicap list, failed to get going, and took 93. On the other hand, C. S. Kellogg of the home club played in the second set because of an eight-stroke allowance, but he showed surprisingly good form by going around in 83, figures that would have made the first sixteen in any tournament with usual conditions prevailing. Then there was T. W. Maley, another home man, rated at 11 and placed in the third division in consequence, who reeled off an 86.

A tendency to miss little puts on the sodden greens prevented White from getting around well under 80. Otherwise the schoolboy played sound golf, going out in 42 and home in 38, as follows:

Out ....5 4 5 5 4 5 5 5 4—42
In ....4 4 3 5 3 5 3 6 5—38—80

TIE IN FOX HILLS GOLF.

Freeman and McMenamy Each Turns in a Card of 80.

Groping their way through fog and rain, enthusiastic Fox Hills and Richmond County golfers competed in the annual championship tournament for the Staten Island championship over the Fox Hills links at Clifton yesterday. There was an eighteen-hole medal play qualifying round for a starter, and so keenly did the favorites contest that when the last card had been returned it was found that W. C. Freeman and J. H. McMenamy, both of the home club, had tied for the medal with scores of 80.

McMenamy almost spoiled his chances of making a good score by starting with a 7, but to offset this Freeman had a 7 at the sixth hole. Both made the homeward journey well, McMenamy getting 37 and the other 38. Their cards were as follows

J. W. McMenamy, Fox Hills—
Out............7 4 4 5 4 4 5 5 5—43
In..............4 5 3 5 4 4 3 5 4—37—80
W. C. Freeman, Fox Hills—
Out............5 5 3 5 3 7 5 4 5—42
In ....4 5 3 6 4 5 3 4 4—38—80

In the first match round Freeman met defeat at the hands of his club mate, W. W. Van Loan, but McMenamy managed to beat J. A. Janin, a former title-holder, in a match carried to the home green. A. F. Kammer, the Staten Island champion, after qualifying easily, won his match, and so did B. T. Allen. Contestants qualified in two sixteens. The scores:

A title holder met quick elimination when Charles Brown lost in the first round of the championship tournament of the Hudson River Golf Association on the links of the Saegkill Golf Club, in Yonkers, yesterday. TOM MOORE'S GOLF.

Los Angeles Country Club Probable Winner of Memorial Competition.

CHICAGO, June 16.—The Los Angeles Country Club will probably succeed the Denver Country Club as the holder of the Tom Morris Memorial Golf Trophy, according to the unofficial returns received to-night of the second annual competition held to-day. The Los Angeles team of eight finished 34 down to par.

The Oakmont Club of Pittsburg was second with 41 down, while the Denver and the Memphis Country Clubs were tied for third at 42 down. The Exmoor Club of Chicago finished fifth with 47 down.

Three of these leading teams finished among the first five last year. Denver won the first competition last year in memory of the "Grand Old Man of Golf" at 16 down. Memphis was third last year, and Exmoor finished fifth this year and also last year.

The general average of the scores was lower this time than in the first competition.

Nearly all of the prominent clubs in the Western Golf Association were represented in the competition. All of the West and Middle West was represented, the contest including teams from Los Angeles to Pittsburg and from Duluth to New Orleans.

Kling Beats Hueston at Pool.

INCORPORATED BOOM STARTED FOR BENNET

Accelerators Give Him an Early Start in the Contest for the Nomination.

ANY PARTY SATISFACTORY

Petitions Go Out by the Bale in Many Tongues Proclaiming Him a Friend of the People.

The William S. Bennet Gubernatorial boom (incorporated) is here. It is scheduled to stay until the Republican State Convention is held, at least, and it may remain as late as election day if the hopes of the optimistic Bennet boomers are realized.

At present the young boom is domiciled in humble quarters on the twenty-second floor of the Hudson Terminal Building. But the men at the bottom of it say there is no telling what proportions the movement may assume before they are through. As a beginning it is intended to open Bennet clubs in every one of the 150 Assembly Districts in the State. Just now, it was said at the Bennet headquarters yesterday, the work is being conducted very quietly.

"We are lying low and waiting for the return of Col. Roosevelt," said one of the workers. "Then something may happen."

At present the Bennet campaign is in the hands of a temporary organization of volunteers, with Henry Green as President, Nathaniel J. Feldman as Secretary, and Dr. Maxwell H. Lanes of 85 Second Avenue as Treasurer. But this morning a delegation from the William S. Bennet Republican Club (incorporated) will call on Otto T. Bannard, who ran for Mayor on the Fusion ticket last Fall, and ask him to take the Presidency. Mr. Bennet was Mr. Bannard's manager during the Mayoralty campaign.

It was said last night that Mr. Bannard had too much on his hands now to take on any new responsibilities. In any event the present boomers expect to effect permanent organization some time next week.

The plans of the William S. Bennet Republican Club, (incorporated,) as far as they have been worked out, were detailed to some newspaper men yesterday by Secretary Feldman.

"We are circulating petitions all over the city, and soon we will begin to circulate them in the rural districts in favor of Mr. Bennet's candidacy," said Mr. Feldman. "We expect to have at least 250,000 signatures by the time the Republican State Convention meets to present to that body. Perhaps the delegates won't take notice when we bring that monster petition, eh?"

Mr. Feldman said it was planned also to send a large delegation to the State Convention in Mr. Bennet's interest. This, he said, does not mean that there will be a primary fight. It will be simply a shouting delegation.

"Has the candidacy of Mr. Bennet received the sanction of Chairman Griscom of the Republican County Committee?" he was asked.

"We have had no communication with him on the subject," was the reply. "We have no connection whatever with the organization except that we consider ourselves adjuncts to it in booming Mr. Bennet. Our only concern at present is to spread broadcast before the voters of this State, Republicans and Democrats alike, the Bennet gospel. We are missionaries pure and simple. It would be a rather delicate matter on which to approach Mr. Griscom."

The petitions which are being circulated are printed in many languages. Mr. Bennet, through the interest he has taken in legislation to protect and aid immigrants to this country, has endeared himself to voters of the immigrant class. The polyglot editions of the Bennet petition have been circulated throughout the city. His lieutenants say that the movement already has been organized in these districts: First, Second, Third, Fourth, Sixth, Eighth, Tenth, Twelfth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Nineteenth, and Twenty-first. These districts have all elected delegates to represent them in the central Bennet organization. The petitions say:

> We, the undersigned, having followed the career of William S. Bennet, have noted his earnest efforts made on behalf of all classes, as exhibited by his zeal in behalf of the immigrant population while a member of Congress, his broad sympathy for humanity, his integrity and sterling worth as a man, believe that he is the possessor of those qualities which commend him to us as one most worthy to represent the great State of New York as its executive. By this popular indorsement we hope that both parties will see the wisdom of nominating him to this high honor which he so readily deserves.

"Congressman Bennet is the only man who can place the City of New York safely in the Republican column next Fall," said Mr. Feldman finally. "He can harmonize the Republicans up-State, too. He has the make-up of a statesman. He is the rising star of the Republican Party."

George W. Crossman Surety for Convicted Secretary of Sugar Trust.

Charles R. Heike, Secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company, went before United States Commissioner Shields yesterday and gave $25,000 bail. He was convicted in the recent sugar fraud trial for conspiracy to defraud the United States. Heike's old bail was $5,000 and it was raised to $25,000 by Judge Martin of the United States Circuit Court to cover his release until the argument on the motion for an arrest of judgment is made on Aug. 30.

George D. Crossman of 214 West Seventy-ninth Street gave bail for Heike. He offered real estate valued at $45,000 and subject to a mortgage of $17,000.

RED CROSS GRADUATES.

Class of Five Trained Nurses Receive Diplomas—Miss Ashplant Prize Winner

The first class of trained nurses to be graduated from the Red Cross Hospital at 100th Street and Central Park West, held commencement exercises in the hospital chapel last evening. The class was five in number, including Misses Winifred Ashplant, Agnes M. Cleary, Florence Fraser, Marion Minet, and Stella Sample.

John S. Huyler, Vice President of the hospital, opened the exercises with a brief address. William T. Wardell, President of the Board, presented the diplomas, and Dr. Irving S. Haynes, Chairman of the Training School, presented the Red Cross insignia to each member of the class.

It was announced that the winner of the Julia Bierhoff prize for general excellence was Miss Winifred Ashplant.

Four Police Captains Shifted.

Announcement was made at Police Headquarters yesterday of the transfer of four Captains. All of the precincts affected are in Brooklyn. Commissioner Baker when asked why the transfers were ordered made the stereotyped reply: "For the good of the service." Capt. Christian Reimel goes from the Miller Avenue Station to College Point, and Capt. Owen Rooney of the latter station takes Reimel's place in command of the Miller Avenue Precinct. Capt. Patrick Tracy of the Flushing Avenue Station is transferred to the command of the Williamsburg Bridge Precinct, and Capt. George Alconcle of the Williamsburg Bridge Precinct goes to the Flushing Avenue Station.

Deaf and Dumb Pupils in a Play.

One hundred and seventy-five boys, pupils of St. Joseph's Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, at Washington Avenue and 187th Street, the Bronx, gave their annual entertainment in St. Joseph's Hall, last night. They presented a play entitled "The Lost Heir" in the hand language and pantomime. An orchestra, consisting of the fife and drum corps of the boys' brigade, furnished the music. The youthful deaf and dumb players were from 5 to 16 years old.

Savannah Liner Here for First Trip.

The new Savannah Line steamship City of St. Louis arrived yesterday from the builder's yards at Newport News. She will take her place in the regular New York-Savannah service in a few days. She is commanded by Capt. Fisher, formerly of the City of Savannah.

HORGAN & SLATTERY COLLECT

Architects Favored by Van Wyck Accept $127,706 for $300,000 City Debt.

The claims against the city of the old firm of architects, Horgan & Slattery, which had a practical monopoly of the city's business in this line during the administration of Mayor Van Wyck and which was favored with the contracts for drawing the plans for many structures which have never been built, have finally been settled.

The original claim was for $300,883, but this was cut to $127,706. The matter has been before the City Government and in the courts for a long time.

In talking of it yesterday, Controller Prendergast said:

"The claims were an inheritance which we had to meet. The basis of settlement was approved by my predecessor and the Corporation Counsel, and there was nothing for me to do but pay the money. I have no criticism to make of the settlement. A substantial decrease was obtained in the original amount of the claim. It is unfortunate that the city is compelled to pay for plans which were never used, but that is something over which I have no control. We will endeavor to prevent such things happening in the future."

It was noted with interest yesterday that Daniel F. Cohalan, Grand Sachem of Tammany Hall and personal adviser of Charles F. Murphy, who received $48,000 for legal services from the city in January on an inherited claim, acted as counsel for the architects in the settlement negotiations.

During the Van Wyck administration Horgan & Slattery received commissions to draw many plans for city work, the majority of which were never used. Soon after Mayor McClellan came into office they presented their three-hundred-thousand-dollar claim. It was sent to the Controller's office for investigation and held up there. The firm went to court on some of the items and obtained judgments against the city.

One of the principal cuts made in the bill was in the item for plans for the remodeling of the County Court House. The original claim was for $165,000, based on 2½ per cent. of the estimated cost of the work. This was reduced to $96,000. An item of $14,000 for the plans for a new armory for the Second Naval Battalion was reduced to $6,000.

Some of the other claims were for plans for a new sidewalk about the City Prison, alterations in the trial room at Police Headquarters, alterations in the Willard Parker Hospital, the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory, and several police stations, firehouses, and recreation piers.

When ex-Controller Metz was asked about the settlement yesterday he said:

"I recall the whole matter distinctly. The city could not get out of paying the money. Services had been rendered, and it makes no difference whether or not the plans were used. The law is clear on that point. I do not know how Horgan & Slattery got the plums. It was before my time. It seems to me that, on the whole, we obtained a good compromise and that the city is getting out of the thing very well."

GILLENDER BUILDING DOWN.

Stood at Nassau and Wall and Was Once the Tallest in New York.

The famous Gillender Building, which when erected twelve years ago on the northwest corner of Nassau and Wall Streets was called the tallest skyscraper in the world, its tower rising 300 feet above the street, has gone the way of other landmarks. The wreckers finished their work of demolition, earning a bonus of $500 for the housewrecking company by tearing the building down one day ahead of the contract time of forty-five days.

More than 200 men have been engaged in the work day and night. Two Italian workmen were injured in the work by being hit by falling girders and one of them died in the hospital.

In addition to tearing down the Gillender Building, the old seven-story Stevens Building, which formed an "L" around the Gillender Building, with frontages on both Wall and Nassau Streets, also has been entirely cleared away and the corner is now ready for additional excavating work for the new Bankers' Trust Company Building, a thirty-story structure, which will be immediately erected on the site.

The contract for tearing down the Gillender and Stevens Buildings was $50,000, and in addition the wrecking company receives all the old material, from which Joseph Volk, President of the company, expects to realize about $25,000.

ABERNATHY BOYS SEE LOEB.

They Tell the Collector About Their Long Ride Across Country.

Jack Abernathy, accompanied by his sons, Louis and Temple, called yesterday at the Custom House to see Collector Loeb. There was such a rush to the outer office of the Collector as soon as it became known that the boys were there that Capt. Lutz had to turn out his marine police to keep the corridors clear and prevent a rush on the visitors.

The Collector was busy when his callers arrived, and for a time they had to wait in the reception room. They were entertained by Deputy Collectors Stuart and Baker.

When Mr. Loeb appeared he chatted with the boys for some time and got them to repeat some of their experiences on their long cross-country ride. When they left the Collector's office many in the waiting crowd shook hands with them.

LAUTERBACH SEPARATION SUIT

Wife Says It Is Her Answer to a Slur on Her Integrity.

Concerning the action for separation which she has instituted against her husband, Mrs. Edward Lauterbach said yesterday:

"I instituted this suit with the greatest reluctance, but was impelled to do so by the fact that a slur had been cast on my integrity in the action Mr. Lauterbach brought against me for an accounting of money. I deemed it my duty to refute his charges, and believed that my action for a separation would give me the fullest opportunity to do so."

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Rags of Wool and Vegetable Fibre Are Held Not to be "Woolen Rags."

It was decided yesterday by the Board of United States General Appraisers that rags composed of wool and vegetable fibre need not stand duty as "woolen rags" with a tax of 10 cents per pound under the provisions of Paragraph 374 of the Tariff act of 1909. Castle, Gottheil & Overton, the importers, set up the contention that the merchandise should be admitted free of duty either under Paragraph 644 as paper stock, or under Paragraph 660 as rags not otherwise provided for.

General Appraiser Chamberlain, who writes the decision for the board, says that from an examination of the evidence the claim for free entry as paper stock must be sustained. According to the General Appraiser, the merchandise is not known in trade and commerce as woolen rags and does not, therefore, come within the tariff term for "woolen rags."

On this point, in sustaining the protest, Mr. Chamberlain says: "It is more specifically provided for in Paragraph 644 as paper stock, as the record shows it is used in the manufacture of roofing and other paper. Note abstract 2,625, involving a similar question, where the board sustained the claim for free entry without specifying whether Paragraph 632, or 648, of the Tariff act of 1897, which paragraphs in so far as they may be pertinent are identical to corresponding paragraphs 660 and 644 of the present Tariff act, is the more specific. The protest claiming free entry as paper stock is sustained and the decision of the Collector reversed."

Homing Pigeon Boards a Ship at Sea.

A homing pigeon flew on board the steamer Kansas City, from Swansea, on Wednesday when the vessel was 60 miles east of Fire Island. Upon the arrival of the steamship yesterday Capt. Frankland reported the incident. The bird had a silver ring on its right leg marked "T. S. L., 1904, 1849."

The Magdalena Floated; Undamaged.

News was received here yesterday from Cartagena, Colombia, that the Royal Mail Steam packet Magdalena, which went ashore near the entrance to that port on Monday afternoon, had been floated without damage. The liner was on her way from Southampton to New York via the West Indies and Panama and had 110 cabin passengers on board.

RIVERMAN PLEADS THE UNWRITTEN LAW

But Collins Admits He Might Have Let Capt. Plant Live if They Had "Talked It Over."

THIRD TO DIE BY HIS HAND

Boat Models in Court to Help the Witnesses Describe the Tragedy —Quick Murder Trial.

Alwin O. Collins, late Captain of the coal barge Joel, was the defendant yesterday in what proved to be the speediest murder trial in the history of the county. Starting at 10:45 o'clock with James W. Osborne and Edward D. Dowling as assigned counsel for the defense, the jury was drawn, the case for the People, and all but one witness for the defense were heard yesterday, and the jury will probably retire this afternoon.

The case is a somewhat puzzling mixture of self-defense and "unwritten law." On April 6, as a police launch was patrolling through Hell Gate shortly after noon, there were shrieks from the tug Robert Robertson, accompanied by toots of alarm from the whistle. Capt. Plant of the tug was found dead on deck, shot through the heart, and Capt. Collins, whose barge the tug was towing, surrendered himself. His wife had done it, he said. Later he claimed the deed for himself.

The engineer of the tug told all about it yesterday. He heard the shots from the cabin of the barge, and ran forward in time to see Capt. Plant struggling aboard his own boat, where he fell dead on the deck. Capt. Collins was looking from the little window of his cabin on the Joel, pistol in hand.

"'What are you doing?' I cried, and he answered, 'What was the Captain doing in my cabin?'"

Other witnesses corroborated this much, but none of them had seen the shooting. They illustrated their story by pointing to the two models of the boats, rocking idly on the oak table in front of the jury. One witness became so engrossed in the miniature vessels that his voice was scarcely audible.

"Holler out loud 'Ship Ahoy!'" suggested Mr. Osborne, a pleasantry that was lost upon two jurors and the witness.

Capt. Collins, a short man with a straggly brown beard, told his own story of the killing. He had gone to Astoria to get some beer at the request of Capt. Plant, leaving locked in the cabin of the coal barge his bride of forty or thereabouts, whom he had married in December. He returned with his pail fifteen minutes later, to find her bruised about the face and Capt. Plant's cap upon her bed.

"She told me he had jumped through the window and tried to assault her," testified Collins. "She saw me coming, and warned him to skip. He skipped. I called him over then, gave him a glass of beer, and put it to him. 'Capt. Plant, I thought you was a gentleman,' I says. 'I am,' says he. 'Then, why did you assault my wife?' I asks. He said he hadn't and laughed in my face. Then when my wife, Dolly, gave him the lie, he grabbed me by the throat, so that my tongue hung out a bit. I ran for my revolver, there was a scuffle, and when he ran out of the cabin, I had shot him twice. I fired in my own defence and in defence of my wife's honor.

"If he had not attacked me we would have talked it over quietlike, and he would be alive to-day."

Capt. Collins explained the many marked discrepancies between yesterday's version of the affair and those he has given previously by laying them to his excitement and the errors of other witnesses. Mrs. Collins will take the stand this morning.

Assistant District Attorney Buckner was content with a slight cross-examination. He first brought out from Collins's own lips that Plant was the third man he had killed. He was convicted in 1900 of stabbing two Italians to death, and served nine years in Sing Sing.

ALBANY, June 16.—Three rapid transit law amendments were signed by Gov. Hughes to-day. They were Assemblyman Lee's, to allow the construction of a railroad on Nostrand Avenue south of the Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn; Assemblyman A. E. Smith's, reserving to the city the right to authorize the use of a railroad constructed under the rapid transit law by others than the constructing contractor, and Senator Frawley's, to permit a railroad corporation which has instituted condemnation proceedings for the acquisition of property for the construction of additional tracks of an existing elevated railroad and facilities in connection therewith to enter immediately upon the property to be taken and to devote it temporarily to the use sought.

The maximum penalty includes imprisonment.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

The wheat market opened higher on better Liverpool cables than expected. The market abroad was influenced by reports claiming damage to the Russian crop by hot winds. The weather map also showed an absence of precipitation in the American Northwest, and these facts tended to restrict offerings. The demand was good, with shorts the best buyers, and prices gained about ⅝@1½c a bushel from the previous night's final, the Northwest showing most strength on dry weather. The Western bears sold spasmodically during the morning, but offerings were well absorbed, and the advance maintained until late in the afternoon. Another outburst of pressure came at the high level, with active selling by early buyers and bear hammering. There were reports in circulation which had their origin in the bear quarters claiming that the Northwest was not in need of rain, and that the crops could go along for several days without moisture. The principal pressure was in the July option, and advices from the Southwest continue of an optimistic character, with further reports of continued free movement of wheat and satisfactory progress in harvest. The close was at the low of the day, with sentiment mixed and the market nervous. Cash wheat quoted: No. 2 red Winter, $1.03, nominal, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight; No. 2 red, spot, nominal, $1.04½, free on board, afloat, for export; No. 1 Northern Spring, $1.10¾, nominal; No. 2 hard Winter, nominal, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba, 99½c.

The corn market opened higher, with a good demand from shorts and in sympathy with the advance in the wheat market. Reports regarding crop conditions were in the main favorable, although there was considerable talk of the lateness of the crop. The cash markets were firm, and it is said that although the country movement has been more liberal recently, shipments are in such a volume as to prevent any pressure from this source. In the afternoon the market developed a reactionary tendency in sympathy with the decline of wheat and on good weather. The close was practically at the low of the day. Cash corn quoted: No. 2, 66¼c, nominal, elevator, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight, domestic basis, and steamer nominal, elevator, export basis.

The continued dry weather reports emanating from the Northwest caused considerable nervousness among shorts in oats. Commission houses were good buyers, with offerings light; cash demand was also reported as betetr. In the afternoon, however, a good part of the advance was lost in sympathy with the weakness of other grains and on further selling by bears. Cash oats quoted: Natural white, 41@43½c, and white, clipped, 42½@47c.

The provision market was firm on small movement of hogs and on active buying on the part of shorts and packers. Estimates of monthly stocks were regarded as bullish. In the afternoon the market declined from the high in sympathy with the weakness in the grain markets.

COTTON.

Cables from Liverpool were again disappointing in both the future months and the spot situation. Trade advices from Manchester continue of a discouraging nature, and as the early construction placed upon the weather map was more optimistic offerings were freer, resulting in an opening decline from 7 to 10 points. There was a decided lack of interest, however, in the market and in absence of pressure a slight rally ensued. Commission houses were the best buyers, and part of this buying was supposed to be for the account of the bull party. Advices from the South regarding weather conditions were conflicting. It is generally conceded that there has been an abnormal amount of precipitation east of the Mississippi, and that warmth and sunshine is needed. The fact that this weather seems to be at hand tends to restrict buying, but on the other hand the fears of manipulation on the part of bulls in regard to the near position and the continued rapidity with which the bulls are marketing their spot holdings makes sellers also cautious. There were reports stating that the stock at Liverpool and on the Continent were almost all sold and that a large short interest in the July-August and August-September positions at Liverpool was still uncovered. In the afternoon the market continued within its narrow range with prices showing no decided tendency and values feeling the effect of comparatively small orders.

Southern spot markets unchanged, to ⅛c decline.

COFFEE.

Coffee showed a steady undertone and at the close was 1@5 points net higher, with total sales of 10,000 bags. The European markets were generally steady, with Havre showing an advance of ¼f, while Hamburg was unchanged to ¼ pfennig higher. In Brazil both Rio and Santos were unchanged, but private exchange on London was 3-16 higher, and firm offers from both Rio and Santos continue above a working basis. The visible supply of Brazilian coffee in and afloat for the United States is 2,846,929 bags, against 3,359,516 last year and 3,467,242 two years ago. Spot coffee steady; 8¾c for Rio No. 7.

American Power Subsidiary Formed.

The Pacific Power and Light Company has been incorporated in Maine, with a capital of $7,500,000, divided into $1,500,000 6 per cent. cumulative preferred and $6,000,000 common stock. The new corporation will take over gas properties in Walla Walla and North Yakima, Wash.; in Lewiston, Idaho, and Astoria and Pendleton, Ore., besides traction properties in some of these localities. It is a subsidiary through common stock ownership of the American Power and Light Company, which in turn is controlled by the Electric Bond and Share Company.

The Automobile Exchange published daily in The New York Times expedites the sale of used cars. Many bargains in every list.

The New York Times:

About two weeks ago I advertised my electric runabout for sale in another New York newspaper and did not receive a single answer to the advertisement. Last Sunday I advertised in the Automobile Exchange, cost 75c., and am pleased to say that I received four answers on Tuesday.

LEWISOHNS MERGING MINES.

Properties in Mexico Grouped for Consolidation and More to be Bought.

The Lewisohn interests, which have successfully developed silver mining properties in the Cobalt region since the boom of 1906, have plans under way for an extensive silver mining consolidation in Mexico. Two or more years ago the Lewisohn interests purchased the San Cayetano Mines, Limited, having properties at Guanajuato, Mexico, consisting of 174 hectares, owned outright, and about the same amount of mineral land leases. The company then was capitalized at $250,000, with shares at $5 par value. Recently the company has increased its capital to $1,500,000, and has offered for subscription the shares of the new company at the rate of one and a fifth shares of the new stock for each single share of the old stock upon payment of the par value of $5.

With the funds supplied by the increased capitalization plans have been laid for the acquisition of a number of adjacent properties, including the Meximora Mines, La Jogan, San Juan de al Montana, the Puertecito, Pabellon, San Francisco de la Fortuna, Santa Virginia, and other properties.

In the absence of Adolph Lewisohn in Europe the officers of the San Cayetano Mines, Limited, declined to discuss yesterday the plans for the development of the property.

Roosevelt and Kaiser

Special Roosevelt Section of Next Sunday's Times

This souvenir of the homecoming of the famous traveler will be made up of photographs showing his trip in a pictorial way that will interest everybody.

The photographers of Europe have been extremely busy ever since Colonel Roosevelt came out of the jungle. They have photographed the ex-President hobnobbing with Kings, college students, Teddy bears, Ambassadors, and camel drivers.

The result has been a collection of pictures without precedent. A complete collection of them will be the most interesting thing of the kind ever got together.

The New York Times has chosen from the hundreds of such photographs 39 of the most valuable and interesting. These photographs, reproduced in the style and on the fine paper to which readers of its Sunday issue are accustomed, will comprise next Sunday's Pictoriall Section. It will be a special Roosevelt Number.

The front page will be given over to a remarkable photograph of Kaiser Wilhelm and Colonel Roosevelt in earnest conversation as they sat their horses in the field where the Kaiser paid Mr. Roosevelt the compliment of letting him be the first civilian to review his troops.

Another striking picture will show Mr. Roosevelt marching with the European monarchs in King Edward's funeral procession. A practical joke played upon him by the Cambridge undergraduates, who set a Teddy bear in his path as he entered the Senate House, is the subject of another.

He is shown in Rome inspecting the ruins of the Forum and driving about with King Victor, on the Grand Canal in Venice, at Hamlet's Castle in Denmark, coming down the Nile in hunter's costume, being received at the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences in Paris, of which he was elected a Foreign Associate.

An especially fine picture shows him at the review of the Paris garrison given in his honor by General Dalstein. The now famous scene when the freedom of London was conferred upon him furnishes another picture. There are several dealing with his hunting experiences, including two showing him standing over a lion and an elephant shot by him. He is shown, too, on camel back with General Slatin at Kererri.

Many other pictures, all of live interest, tell the story of the ex-President's record-making tour from the time he mounted the gang plank of the Hamburg at Hoboken to the end of his stay in England. No more valuable souvenir of the Roosevelt homecoming will be obtainable anywhere than the Pictorial Section of next Sunday's Times.

In addition to this there will be reproductions of Foreign Cartoons on Roosevelt

The Magazine Section will include its usual number of timely and interesting articles. Among them may be mentioned:

THE HISTORY OF ROSES— As shown in the Horticultural Exhibition at Paris.

HAVE YOU AN EAR FOR MUSIC?— An interesting scientific theory which will upset, if accepted, all preconceived ideas on the subject.

THE JAPANESE SCHOOLBOY—Hashimura Togo begins a new series of his entertaining letters.

TRADING NEAR LOW RECORD

The Resolution Regarding Steel Corporation Without Influence on Prices—English Bank's Strong Return.

Yesterday's stock market may be dismissed from the day's reckoning of financial affairs with the statement that it was more inactive than the dull session of Wednesday, coming close to the record, in this respect, for the present year, and that on the other hand the movement of prices was distinctly firm with advances of close to a point in a number of conspicuous shares when the day closed. One of the factors in the formation of sentiment on the Stock Exchange yesterday deserves more extended notice. It appears that, having met with some success in a similar campaign several weeks ago, a certain Wall Street figure identified with the most flagrant of manipulative operations, to call these essays in finance by no harsher term, has been making of late frequent visits to the City of Washington for the apparent purpose of stirring up in Congress agitation, although this is usually confined to speeches or resolutions by a single legislator, against corporations whose securities are dealt in on the Stock Exchange. Perhaps it is mere coincidence that the latest visit to the capital is timed with the introduction in the House of Representatives, and the acceptance by it, of a resolution directing the Attorney General of the United States to report any information in his possession tending to show conspiracy in restraint of trade or other violations of law on the part of the United States Steel Corporation and its chief subsidiaries. So far as Wall Street is concerned, or, at least, the thinking part of it, such occurrences are of little importance save in the light which they throw upon affairs at Washington, but in the wider interests of investors in the securities of railroads and industrial corporations it seems only fair that the motives and purposes behind the introduction of such measures should be made perfectly clear in order that they may be dissociated where possible from speculative initiative.

Considerable attention was devoted to the day's movements upon grain and cotton markets and to the news from the fields. It is coming to be realized that weather conditions for some time past have been distinctly unfavorable to the progress of the Spring wheat crop, and the importance of full harvests this year being well understood, this fact is causing some slight uneasiness. The continued absence of adequate rainfall in the Northwest noted in yesterday's dispatches was responsible for the renewal of strength in wheat, while curiously enough the opposite set of facts as to weather in much of the cotton country was hailed as favorable, and led to declines in prices. The "Price Current," an accepted organ of the grain trade, in its review of conditions published yesterday, was distinctly optimistic as to Winter wheat and only mildly disappointed in the conditions surrounding Spring wheat and corn.

Such a return as that made by the Bank of England yesterday explains fully the recent weakness of discounts in London and the hopes entertained in banking quarters here that if need be the English market will be in excellent shape to assist our own during the crop moving period. With bullion holdings up $4,450,000 on the week, this item attained a figure very much larger than anything reported by it in the present decade, while the similar rise in the reserve percentage, which now amounts to nearly 52 per cent., places the proportion above the percentage figure for this season of the year at any time since 1903. In spite of the easy money conditions here revealed liquidation was again the feature of the day on the London Stock Exchange, where little betterment is looked for for some time to come.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 16.—Trading in the local market was rather quiet, and outside of the few more active issues, fluctuations were confined within narrow limits. Amalgamated declined to 61⅝, then regained the loss, closing at 63. Lake lost a point in the early trading, but later recovered the loss. The general list closed steady and with stocks in good demand.

To-morrow being a holiday, there will be no market.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Day of Indifferent Trading, with Nominal Price Movements on the Curb.

SOME COPPERS SELL HIGHER

Chino Copper and Ray Central Make Small Gains—Cobalt Issues Reactionary on Light Trading.

Curb trading was in indifferent volume yesterday, although there was a better tone, which helped a number of issues to small gains at the close. Chino Copper rose from 10⅞ to 11⅛ on sales of 1,200 shares. Miami, after rising ⅛ from the opening price of 19⅝, closed even with the first sale at 19⅝. Ray Central, which was one of the most active among the coppers, rose from the opening at 2⅜ to 2 9-16, which was the closing level. The Cobalt stocks made nominal declines.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—The resumption of buying of Rapid Transit by a house which with important New York connections was a feature on the Philadelphia Stock Exchange. The result was fractional gain, Philadelphia Rapid Transit crossing 20 with apparent ease. Union Traction reflected the movement with a moderate advance. No particular news was forthcoming to account for the firmness of the local tractions, other than the fact that they have both been sold to a standstill. The report was revived that the firm of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co. were now largely interested in the company. About 3,600 shares of P. R. T. changed hands to-day, and the close found the quotation near the day's best figures. Elsewhere things were exceedingly quiet. American Cement, which has been showing heaviness of late, fell a point on small sales, thereby arousing some rather disquieting rumors as to the dividend, which, it will be remembered, was recently reduced.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Move Against Steel Corporation.

The resolution in the House of Representatives yesterday calling upon the Attorney General of the United States to inform Congress of any violation of the Sherman law by the United States Steel Corporation or its subsidiaries aroused more interest in Wall Street than most of the other moves which have been directed against the Steel Corporation. There was a good deal of curiosity regarding the circumstances which prompted the introduction of the resolution at this time. By common consent, apparently, it was taken for granted that the Attorney General's reply will not convey any information such as is outlined in the resolution acted on yesterday, but in some quarters the belief was expressed that the matter would hardly be dropped in that event, but would be pressed in some different form. It was recalled yesterday, in connection with this Congressional resolution, that the Steel Corporation, according to general understanding, had, so to speak, received a clean bill of health in an investigation of its affairs conducted several years ago by the Bureau of Corporations. Wall Street even heard at one time that formal announcement that such an examination had been pushed was about to be made, and that it would be shown that the Steel Corporation had been well within the law in its conduct of the steel business. The announcement was never made, however, although the Street has all along understood that the Bureau of Corporations was well satisfied with the results of its examination of the corporation.

Equipment for Hawley Lines.

The Hawley group of railroads was credited yesterday with the purpose of placing orders for a large amount of new equipment, including between 6,000 and 7,000 freight cars, to cost in excess of $5,000,000. Official confirmation of the report was lacking, although some of those in close touch with the affairs of the Hawley roads expressed the belief that the number of cars was probably exaggerated. The Chesapeake & Ohio recently ordered a large addition to its equipment, and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, still more recently, placed orders for some new equipment. Neither of these lines is in the market for additional equipment at this time. The lines more particularly referred to in yesterday's report were the Iowa Central, the Minneapolis & St. Louis, and the Chicago & Alton. It was not thought likely that these lines would be ordering at this time as large a number of freight cars as was mentioned in the day's report. Mr. Hawley and his immediate associates would make no statement regarding the matter.

Train Telephones for Lehigh Valley.

The Lehigh Valley is said to be planning to equip its trains with a new telephone device by means of which communication can be established with any train on the line of the road. By means of this apparatus the conductor of any train at any point on the road can telephone to the train dispatcher or to any one else with whom he may need to communicate, and the officers of the road can thus be immediately apprised of any accident to the train, or may be applied to for instructions. In case of need, too, it will be possible to communicate with passengers aboard any of the company's trains at any point at which the train stops. It is planned to equip freight as well as passenger trains with this auxiliary telephone service, by means of which it is expected that many delays which occur to freight trains can be lessened.

Wheat Prospects Better Still.

The prospect of improvement in wheat crop conditions over those reported by the Government in its June figures are confirmed in the crop summary of Price Current, which tells of the bettering of the Winter wheat in regions where it has still a period of growth ahead of it before harvest. In some localities, this authority says, "the conditions have exceeded in development the hopes and expectations of farmers." In Spring wheat, too, the outlook has been improved by recent rains. Last year the crop exceeded the June estimates, and, as far as private advices show conditions, the prospects seem to be that the same bettering of the crop as the season advances is occurring this year.

Smaller Profits for Farmers.

The declines which have been taking place in market prices of farm products over recent months are reaching substantial totals, as compared with levels of a year ago. The Department of Agriculture has collected figures relating to first-hand sales by farmers to local buyers in different parts of the country, and these show heavy average declines, as compared with June, 1909. This must affect considerably the cash resources of the man with the hoe. Wheat, for instance, this month has been selling for 25.9 cents a bushel less than in June last year. Corn sells 11.1 cents a pushel less, oats 14.4 cents less, and barley 7.3 cents less. Cotton, which is, of course, one of the most important crops, remains 4.1 cents a pound higher in the farmers' hands than it was last year, selling at 14.2 cents a pound, with very little left in the hands of the planter. The hen, which has been laying golden eggs—at city prices—since last Summer, has appreciated somewhat in value, too, selling, for table purposes, 1.1 cents a pound higher than in June, 1909. Eggs, in the meantime, have receded .1 cent a pound. Butter is down 1.6 cents.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, June 16.—Money was in good demand and supply to-day. Discount rates were easy.

Trading on the Stock exchange was dull and uninteresting, with the tone generally easy. Paris sold Kaffirs and Rio Tintos, and the latter declined nearly a point. The majority of the losses were due to the marking down of values rather than to actual sales. Canadian issues were weak, and consols dropped an eighth, despite the good Bank of England statement.

American securities opened dull, but a fraction above parity. Realizing caused a decline, after which the market became dull. In the afternoon New York alternately sold and bought, and prices moved narrowly. The closing was irregular.

Bar silver steady at 24 11-16d per ounce.

Money, 2½@2¾ per cent.; rate of discount in the open market for short bills, 2 11-16 per cent; for three months' bills, 2 9-16@2⅝ per cent.

Bullion amounting to £158,000 was taken into the Bank of England to-day, and £12,000 was withdrawn for shipment to Gibraltar.

Gold premiums are quoted as follows: At Madrid, 7.10; at Lisbon, 10.

The rate of discount of the Bank of Bengal was reduced from 5 to 4 per cent. to-day.

PARIS, June 16.—A heavy tone prevailed on the Bourse to-day.

Exchange on London, 25f 25c for checks.

BERLIN, June 16.—Trading was quiet on the Boerse to-day, and prices declined on unfavorable New York advices.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 48 pfennigs for checks.

Money, 3 per cent.

Private discount rate, 3⅝ per cent.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The Consular and Trade Report will note the following trade opportunities abroad. Further information regarding these may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufactures, care of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of item referred to:

NO. 5,068. FIRE-FIGHTING APPARATUS.—An American Consular officer in Latin America reports that the heads of the Fire Departments in the various cities and towns of the country in which he is located are interested in all sorts of fire alarms, fire extinguishers, chemical engines, annunciator systems, &c. The names of the different officials with whom correspondence should be taken up are given in the report.

NO. 5,069. MACHINES FOR CORKING BOTTLES.—A report from an American Consul in a country of Northern Europe states that a business man in his district wishes to be placed in communication with American manufacturers of machines for corking bottles. The party writes that he desires to purchase these machines wholesale and wishes prices and terms accordingly.

NO. 5,070. FLOUR MILL MACHINERY.—A business firm in a European country advises an American Consul that it would like to enter into correspondence with manufacturers in the United States of machinery for equipping flour mills. All correspondence should be in Czechish or German, and prices, terms, and route of shipment plainly described.

NO. 5,071. AMERICAN GOODS OF VARIOUS KINDS.—A business firm in Russia has requested an American Consular officer to place it in communication with American manufacturers of the following articles: (1) Tinned spoons, for which the officer states there is a large market; (2) bedstead fittings, tubes for metallic bedsteads, round tubes cased in brass, both round and square and plain and ornamental, (these are now being supplied by Great Britain and Germany;) (3) combs, hard rubber, celluloid, and gallalit, in which two German firms are now doing an enormous business in Russia; (4) this same firm desires to be placed in communication with the company manufacturing the new invention known as the Doremus cotton gin.

NO. 5,073. DEMAND FOR ALFALFA.—The owner and operator of a number of public carriages in a Mexican city advises an American Consular officer that he desires to get in touch with dealers in alfalfa. He states that he buys on an average fifty tons per month in 100-ton lots—that is, purchases two months' supply at once. It costs him generally $25 gold per ton, free on board certain city. The Consular officer states that alfalfa ordinarily sells for from $25 to $35 per metric ton of 2,000 kilos. Correspondence should be directed the individual in Spanish.

NO. 5,074. TIME RECORDERS AND ADDING MACHINES.—A report from an American Consul in Germany states that an American in business in his district has found it an excellent field for time recorders, and wishes to hear from manufacturers of similar stamping or recording outfits, also adding machines, &c. Correspondence may be in English.

NO. 5,075. AMERICAN PROPRIETARY MEDICINES.—An American Consular officer in Western Europe reports that a chemist and drug store proprietor in the city in which he is located is desirous of securing the agency for American proprietary (patent) medicines. His store is located in the centre of the city, and having no engagements with other foreign patent medicine manufacturers, he could devote all his time and attention to the establishment of a depot for the American product.

NO. 5,078. MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS.—An American Consul in the Far East reports that recently a city in that region floated a loan of 8,000,000 yen to be used in certain municipal improvements. These include a city water supply and purifying plant to supply 1,000,000 inhabitants, public park and grounds for an exhibition, street improvements, a tidewater canal for drainage purposes and commercial use, payment of a large commercial and historical museum, and land for a public cemetery.

NO. 5,079. AGRICULTURAL AND FOREST SEEDS.—An American Consular officer in Germany reports that an importer of agricultural and forest seeds, who has already imported seeds from the United States, desires to make other connections, looking especially to the importation of American forest seeds of both the coniferous and deciduous varieties. He states that there is quite an opportunity in that country for these seeds and desires American producers to send him catalogues and price lists.

NO. 5,082. DRUGS AND SUPPLIES.—A business house in Latin America has made inquiry at an American Consulate in regard to America drugs. The manager of this company advises the Consul that he wishes to improve the stock and would like to receive catalogues and price list, in Spanish, from wholesale drug houses in the United States.

NO. 5,083. HARBOR WORKS.—A report from an American Consul in the West Indies states that a certain colonial Government in that region intends to open a local harbor so as to encourage the entrance of larger vessels than are accustomed to touch there. The budget for 1911 includes for that purpose about $26,000. The contract will be awarded by the colonial Government and contractors should get in touch with an official whose name is given in the report. Correspondence may be in Dutch or English. The work calls for mud, earth, and rock excavation to widen the entrance.

NO. 5,084. COTTON GOODS.—One of the special agents of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who is now traveling in Latin America, writes that there are good opportunities for the sale of American cotton goods in that region, as this is one of the chief articles of import. He furnishes the names of a number of dealers in this line, several of whom have expressed a desire to form business connections with firms in the United States.

NO. 5,088. ROSIN.—A prominent commission firm in Germany advises an American Consul that it desires connections with large exporters of American rosin, which is handled in that country in large quantities. Correspondence may be in English and firms should take up this matter with the inquirer as soon as possible.

NO. 5,089. DRILLING MACHINERY AND TOOLS.—An American Consul in a European country reports that extensive deposits of petroleum have been discovered in his district, and companies have been formed to exploit the same. Another company is being organized in England with a capital of about $1,000,000 for this purpose, and catalogues of American drilling machinery, tools, &c., should be sent to the Secretary or to the engineer in charge of the drilling. A Belgian company also has claims and is installing powerful machinery to enable it to drill to a depth of 1,000 or 1,200 feet.

NO. 5,090. STEEL RAILS, CASTINGS, BLOCKS, &c.—An inquiry has been received at an American Consulate in the British Isles from a local business man for the names of American manufacturers of steel rails, wrought iron, steel castings, steel blocks, &c. The inquirer wishes to place bids for considerable steel construction work in connection with certain harbor works, and he desires to be placed in immediate communication with American manufacturers who are in a position to quote on the above-named steel articles.

NO. 5,091. MARINE ENGINES.—An American Consul in Canada, in response to an inquiry from the United States, reports that there are no firms in his district handling gas and gasoline engines, but within the past year there have been several American marine engines purchased by fishermen from catalogues on file in his office, and in all probability motor boats will be utilized more and more by fishermen in their work. He suggests that American firms mail copies of their catalogues to the Consulate that they may be placed on file for reference to those interested.

NO. 5,092. ROLLER SKATES.—An American Consular officer in the Far East reports that steps are being taken by certain individuals in his district toward the establishment of a roller skating rink. He states that this form of amusement is very popular in the Orient, and will no doubt be followed with considerable enthusiasm. It might be well for American manufacturers of roller skates and other supplies to place themselves in communication with certain firms whose names are given with the view of getting them interested in these lines.

NO. 5,093. PANAMA CANAL SUPPLIES.—Sealed proposals, in triplicate, will be received at the office of the General Purchasing Officer of the Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. C., for furnishing the following supplies: (1) Bids will be received until June 20, 1910, for furnishing lumber, manganese shells for revolving screens for rock-crushing plant, steel castings, fire-box steel, crucibles, and hose couplings. (Circular No. 587.) (2) Tenders are invited until June 21, 1910, for supplying air-brake hose, rubber, belting, packing, gaskets, copper tubing, bolts, anchors, rail benders, saws, diaphragm pumps, water gages, hose couplings, flue cleaners, oarlocks, carriage lamps, marine lights, plate glass, tents, matches, axle grease, harness dressing, steel tapes, rules, arch files, steel erasers, pins, blank books, paper, shipping tags, &c. (Circular No. 588.) (3) Proposals will be accepted until June 28, 1910, for supplying locomotive crane, steel plates, and lumber. (Circular No. 589.)

NO. 5,095. AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY.—A report from an American Legation states that a European Government has expressed its willingness to construct a railroad to connect a certain country with Continental Europe. The completion of this line should have a most stimulating effect upon local industries, and with the opening of a direct route to European markets there will doubtless be a large development in agriculture, particularly in the growth of wheat. This will in turn stimulate a demand for agricultural machinery, of which American manufacturers should be prepared to take advantage.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 16.—On the local Exchange sharp advances again occurred in South Side and Metropolitan Elevated preferred, pursuant to the general belief that these securities will command a good figure if the proposed merger works out successfully. Small lots were wanted by investors looking for quick profits. Metropolitan preferred sold at 66 and South Side at 65. The Metropolitan Elevated will not go into the proposed merger, it is said, unless the Blair syndicate offers better terms than any that have been named so far. On the other hand, the stockholders of the South Side Elevated seem well enough satisfied with the offer made them.

Why All Investment Is Affected by Interest Rates for Money

A sound investment must have for its security established value and demonstrated earning power. The fact that sound investment bonds now sell at what are comparatively low prices does not by any means imply that they are unsafe or insecure. It must be remembered that all investment is affected by the rates of interest for money. In the case of marketable investments, it is not the intrinsic value that is affected. It is simply the market value. There is a great distinction between intrinsic value and market value. If you keep this thought in mind it may aid you in making a sound and profitable investment.

For example, people with surplus funds are now demanding, for various reasons, a higher return upon their money. Where in times past they were content with 3½ to 4%, they now require a return approximating 5%. Therefore many issues of sound investment bonds are selling on this basis. Others, of a more or less semi-investment type, yield a higher return.

And yet, the value of the security behind sound investment bonds is just as great to-day as when they sold at prices yielding a lower return, if, perhaps, not greater. Money is being constantly expended upon the properties to maintain and improve them, which must be done in order to reduce as much as possible the operating cost. Economy of operation, in all lines of business, helps to increase profits, and one of the most effective means of keeping down operating expenses is to maintain property in good condition.

High interest rates for money affect all types of investment, whether readily marketable or otherwise. They have the same effect upon an ordinary mortgage, which has no established market. The difference is that with salable investments the condition is clearly observable by the market price; whereas, in an ordinary mortgage, it is reflected by the higher rate of interest demanded by investors. Hence it is obvious that when money becomes plentiful all investments will return a correspondingly lower rate of interest.

This should serve to make it clearly understood why sound investment bonds may be expected to sell at prices approaching the higher quotations of the past, when general conditions warrant a return to normal interest rates. In the meantime, it is well to remember that when discriminating investors seek the best of security for their capital there is almost invariably an increasingly large demand for sound investment bonds.

We will gladly give you the benefit of our forty years' experience in the investing banking business and will aid you in selecting bonds which seem to be best adapted to your personal requirements.

BUSINESS TROUBLES

JULIUS H. HAAS.—Julius H. Haas, real estate operator of 2,008 Bathgate Avenue, against whom a petition in bankruptcy was filed on June 4, has put in an answer denying that he has debts to the amount of $1,000, or that he is insolvent. He asserts that he is solvent, asks to have the petition dismissed, and demands a jury trial.

SPAVENTA EMBROIDERY COMPANY.—Judge Giegerich has appointed George W. Clune receiver for the Spaventa Embroidery Company of 329 Lexington Avenue, on an application of William Michael, a Director and creditor for $4,720, on proceedings for the dissolution of the corporation and an accounting. Algernon S. Norton was appointed referee in the case. The company has a capital stock of $2,000.

LINCOLN TOOL AND SUPPLY COMPANY.—Schedules in bankruptcy of the Lincoln Tool and Supply Company of 145 Chambers Street show liabilities of $8,140 to 180 creditors, and assets of $4,108, consisting of stock, $800; fixtures, $200; accounts, $3,000, and cash in bank, $108. Among the creditors are Fairbanks & Co., $239; Lansing Wheelbarrow Company, $291; Pittsburg Shovel Company, $236; Sargent & Co., $339; Swedish Iron and Steel Corporation, $333, and Watson Wagon Company, Canastota, $347.

GETZ & COHEN.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Joseph M. Getz and Joseph Cohen, who compose the firm of Getz & Cohen, shoe dealers at 129 Second Avenue, by these creditors: Clark Hutchinson Company, $2,038; David Davis, $64, and Harry Katz, $44. It was alleged that they are insolvent, made preferential payments of $500 between June 1 and 12, transferred shoes and rubber goods without adequate consideration, and removed part of their property to places unknown to the petitioners. Assets are estimated at $2,000.

FEDERAL-HUBER COMPANY. — Deputy Sheriff Hahn has received three attachments aggregating $32,881 against the Federal-Huber Company, manufacturers of plumbing supplies of 244 Fifth Avenue and Chicago, all in favor of George F. Neidlinger. Two of the attachments are on notes of the company, dated Sept. 1, 1909, for $1,883 and $20,998, and the other attachment is for $10,000, money paid to the company on Sept. 1, 1909, for 100 shares of stock of the company, which he claims was never delivered to him. All were granted on the ground that it is an Illinois corporation. The Sheriff has been served with a copy of the order appointing receivers for the company on Wednesday, which stops any action at present on the attachments.

ARTHUR M. AND ALVIN WERTHEIMER—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Arthur M. and Alvin Wertheimer, who compose the firm of Wertheimer & Co., glove manufacturers, of 80-92 Fifth Avenue, by Thomas & Oppenheimer, attorneys for these creditors: Little & Preuss, $137; Peter Hinrichs, $493, and William A. Burr, $61. It was alleged that they are insolvent and made preferential payments. Judge Hough appointed Henry Melville receiver, with a bond of $20,000. Edward S. Thomas said that he understood that the liabilities are $80,000, and assets, as far as he has been able to learn, are about $50,000. James Talcott & Co., commission merchants, claim to have a lien on some of their property. The firm was formed in 1898.

SMERLING & BOROWITZ.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Morris Smerling and Louis Borowitz, who compose the firm of Smerling & Borowitz, manufacturers of clothing at 83 Canal Street, by Elgin L. McBurney, attorney for these creditors: Pollack Lob Company, $873; Samuel Goodman, $375, and Samuel Kaplan, $100. It was alleged that they are insolvent, made preferential payments of $2,500, and transferred merchandise and accounts of $1,000. Mr. McBurney said that the liabilities are $25,000 and assets $10,000. They have been in business here since May, 1900. Mr. Smerling, it is said, was previously in the dry goods business in Key West, and went through bankruptcy there in 1899. The partners are brothers-in-law. They were formerly at 119 Canal Street, and sold their lease, it is said, for $2,100 in February last. They were reputed to own real estate on Seventy-third Street, Brooklyn, valued at $9,000, and mortgaged for $4,500. For some time past, it is said, business has been dull and payments slow. Judge Hough appointed Leonard Bronner receiver and authorized him to continue business for twenty days. He was appointed on request of seven creditors, whose claims aggregate $6,765, among whom are Cohn Brothers, $2,500, and T. Kramer, $2,500. The firm consented to the receivership. It was stated that they claimed to have paid out $10,000 in the past six weeks, which made them short of ready cash.

JUDGE STEPS IN TO AID LEVINSON

MAY CHANGE PLEA OF GUILTY

Court Says, After a Conference with White Slaver, That Prisoner Complained of Unfair Treatment.

The even tenor of the white slave investigation was broken again by Judge O'Sullivan yesterday when, quite over the head of his counsel of record, the court made it possible for Harry Levinson to withdraw his plea of guilty to the charge of selling girls to the agent of the Rockefeller Grand Jury, and assigned James W. Osborne and George Gordon Battle to his defense. The move was a complete surprise to District Attorney Whitman, and its consequences are now a matter of speculation to those who have been interested spectators of the investigation which Judge O'Sullivan initiated last January in his charge to the Grand Jury.

Edwin Carpel, who has been Levinson's lawyer since 1905, had no notification of any sort that his client was scheduled for sentence yesterday. Judge O'Sullivan, who is not sitting this month, held court for a short while in the morning to dispose of a number of convicted prisoners. Levinson was the last in line, and approached the bar unattended.

"You are without the lawyer you had when you pleaded guilty," observed the court.

"I have no lawyer," said the man shortly. Then, when asked what he had to say in his own behalf, he replied, quite without any apparent animus, "I believe it was all a kind of a frame-up. That's what I call it."

Wouldn't Hear Prisoner's Criticism.

"We don't care to hear remarks of that kind," said Judge O'Sullivan, adding after a very slight pause, "just yet."

He then reminded Levinson that he had given his plea after ample warning and that his lawyer had assured the court that there was no loophole in the case.

"Do I understand that this morning you would like to withdraw that plea?" asked the court.

Levinson, who had said nothing about any such desire, seemed pleased with the idea, but pointed out that he lacked a lawyer and means to hire one. It was then that the court assigned the defeated candidates for the office of District Attorney in the last two campaigns. Such a combination is seldom assigned to a criminal case.

"The court does not care to enter into any conversation about what your opinion is concerning the proceeding in this case," resumed the Judge. "What has been done was done by an officer of the law. The court will hear no criticism of that from you. So far as the court is concerned and so far as the treatment you received from the officers of the law is concerned the court knows you are mistaken."

Judge O'Sullivan then gave Levinson another chance to withdraw his plea, but he preferred to consult first with his new lawyers, he said, and the matter rested there. A rumor that the prisoner had recently been sent for by Judge O'Sullivan in his chambers lent color yesterday to the impression that the proceedings in court had not been entirely unpremeditated. This rumor was partly verified by reference to the Warden's books in the Tombs and was wholly so by Judge O'Sullivan yesterday afternoon.

He had heard, he said, that Levinson had been complaining of an overhasty plea, of unfair treatment, and much more of the same character. Some sort of intervention seemed the wisest course.

Meanwhile Lawyer Carpel got wind of the proceedings, and much exercised at being thus summarily set aside, he bounced into Mr. Whitman's office for a discussion that lasted two hours. It was attended by Assistant District Attorney Press, who prosecuted the case against Belle Moore. From this Mr. Carpel went to Judge O'Sullivan's chambers. He reported the Judge as explaining matters in these terms:

Court Upholds Lawyer.

"Levinson was complaining that there had been a great big 'beef,' and that he had not been given a square deal. You did the wisest thing by him when he pleaded, of course."

Both the Judge and Carpel later explained their great mutual esteem, but Carpel was none the less ruffled, and both he and Mr. Whitman pointed out last night that Carpel is still Levinson's counsel of record and that there have been no substitution proceedings.

It is thought that the District Attorney's office will not relish reopening the Levinson case. It derived small enjoyment from the trial of Belle Moore, and should Messrs. Osborne and Battle decide that the charge must go before a jury all sorts of fireworks may be expected. On the other hand Mr. Whitman has a full and elaborate confession made by Levinson before him and witnesses.

Levinson was arrested on the same day that found Belle Moore in custody, charged with selling Gussie Erlich and Ida Greenberg to George A. Miller for $40. He pleaded guilty almost immediately.

Yesterday's proceedings followed by one week the episode in which Judge O'Sullivan thwarted the efforts of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., foreman of the Grand Jury, to file the presentment of the Grand Jury. The Judge insisted that he should learn the character of the document before it was filed.

Things stood thus even after a long conference between the Judge, Mr. Rockefeller, and Mr. Whitman. It is believed that Mr. Rockefeller still holds the secret of the presentment. Whether he will be able to file it on Thursday, the day to which the proceedings were adjourned, is a question that has not yet been officially answered.

TRIBUTE TO TREAT'S MEMORY.

Republican County Committee Adopts Resolutions to Late U. S. Treasurer.

Resolutions honoring the memory of the late United States Treasurer Charles H. Treat, who died in this city on May 30, were adopted at the regular monthly meeting of the New York County Republican Committee held at the Murray Hill Lyceum last night.

"By the death of Mr. Treat the Nation, the State, and the city lost a patriot," the resolutions said in part.

After authorizing the Executive Committee to issue the usual primary call and appointing committees to welcome Col. Roosevelt when he returns to-morrow the committee adjourned. It is not probable that the County Committee will meet again until September unless some emergency should arise to make a meeting necessary.

BEATTIE COMPANY LOSES SUIT

After Five Years' Litigation Vice Chancellor Orders Profits Divided.

PATERSON, N. J., June 16.—Vice Chancellor Eugene Stevenson announced to-day his decision in a suit which had been pending before him five years. The litigation relates to the distribution of the profits of the Beattie Manufacturing Company of Little Falls.

According to the will of Robert Beattie the executors were to receive 1,300 out of 3,000 shares of Beattie Manufacturing Company stock, and they were to divide the income of the stock between his four daughters. At their deaths, the stock was to go to their lawful heirs.

It was alleged in the bill that Robert and William Beattie, the sons of Robert Beattie, and the managers of the manufacturing company, declined to divide up reasonable profits in the hope that they and their heirs would finally get all.

It was set up in the bill of complaint that at the time of the death of Robert Beattie the assets of the company were $300,000, whereas at the time the bill was filed the assets were $1,200,000, and besides this several hundred thousand dollars were on deposit in trust companies bearing a nominal rate of interest, and a mortgage was held against the East Jersey Water Company for $315,000, a payment by that company of $200,000 to be made in 1915.

Counsel for complainants argued that some of these profits should be divided among the stockholders.

Vice Chancellor Stevenson declares that the accumulated profits of the company are altogether too great, and have been so for a number of years, and he will accordingly issue a decree compelling the present managers of the Beattie Company to declare a substantial dividend.

LIMITS DECISION TO LEGS.

Precedent Set in Jersey Court Doesn't Apply to Other Members.

TRENTON, N. J., June 16.—The well-known "wooden leg" decision of the Supreme Court, which held that a jury in fixing the compensation for the loss of a leg should take into consideration the skill with which modern surgery makes use of an artificial limb, does not apply to other parts of the body.

The same court to-day sustained a verdict for $5,184 recovered by John Ramsay against the Raritan Copper Works of Perth Amboy. Ramsay lost an eye from molten metal from a pot of copper on which he was at work.

In differentiating between the substitution of a glass eye and that of a wooden leg for an injured member the court cited the case of Mullen against the Central Railroad Company, in which a verdict for $6,000 damages for the loss of a foot was reduced to $3,500. It was pointed out that Mullen was 54 years old and that by the use of an artificial leg he was enabled to earn about the same wages as before the accident.

In the case of Ramsay, however, an artificial eye would not assist his earning capacity.

FIXES OKLAHOMA'S CAPITAL.

Governor Says Oklahoma City Has Been Elected—Judge's Ruling Otherwise.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 16.—Gov. Haskell to-night issued a proclamation declaring the capital location bill carried and officially declaring Oklahoma City to have received the greatest number of votes. The proclamation is based on the complete election returns furnished the Governor by the State Election Board. The measure carried by approximately 33,000 majority.

Gov. Haskell said to-night that the overruling of his demurrer by Judge Ruston in Guthrie to-day will not in the least interfere with the determination of the State officials to remain permanently in Oklahoma City.

"The demurrer was merely a basis for securing a writ of prohibition in case it was overruled," said the Governor.

Gov. Haskell did not indicate his intention with reference to a writ of prohibition.

A message from William J. Bryan to Gov. Haskell, received to-day, congratulated the Governor on his administration of State affairs.

"It is a remarkable showing," writes Mr. Bryan. "You have with great ability and clearness presented a record that ought to appeal to your people."

CHICAGO TATTERSALLS GOING.

Scene of Horse Shows and Prizefights Being Torn Down.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Tattersalls, for many years one of the most prominent structures of the city, is being torn down. It was erected in 1891 at a cost of $300,000 by the Chicago American Horse Exchange, representing English capital for the greater part, and the purpose was to make it a great horse exchange, similar to Tattersalls in London.

This purpose, however, was realized only to a limited extent, and while in its early days it was the scene of several horse shows, it was used subsequently for other purposes, including political conventions and prizefights.

It was the fiasco there between McGovern and Gans which ended the fight game in Chicago.

BLACK HAND THREATENS HIM.

Bronx Realty Dealer Gets a Demand for a Share of His Property.

Jacob De Bold, a real estate dealer, of 531 East 150th Street, brought to the police of the Morrisania Station late last night a threatening letter he had received demanding $500 under pain of death, and asked for police protection. De Bold, up to two years ago, had a fruit store at 149th Street and Courtlandt Avenue, he told the police, and his prosperity was annoying to a number of Italians in the neighborhood, who were engaged in the same business.

The letter he got told him that "One of our members will meet you at a place you frequent, 149th Street and Third Avenue, and he will ask you for a potato. He is the man for you to turn over the money wanted." This was accompanied by drawings of a skull, a flag, and a heart pierced by a stiletto, and signed "Black Hand."

The police promised Mr. De Bold protection, and detectives from the Bronx Bureau were assigned to the case.

Strikebreaker Is Convicted.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—John Huber of Jersey City, who ran down and killed 3-year-old Eugene Platt while serving as a motorman during the street-car strike last March, was convicted of involuntary manslaughter by a jury in the criminal court here to-day. Sentence was deferred. George W. Garner, the conductor, was acquitted.

OLD ARMY SERGEANT THE FRIEND OF ALL

MANY GENERALS FOR HIM

He Has Served in the Army Hospital Service for 57 Years Steadily Through Epidemics.

"No hospital steward has ever been so widely known, none so generally beloved, and none more highly respected," is what Col. John Van R. Hoff, Surgeon General of the Department of the East, on Governors Island, said of Sergt. David Robertson, U. S. A., in his indorsement of the old Sergeant's application for retirement from the service as a Second Lieutenant. Robertson is the oldest soldier, either officer or enlisted, in the army, and his entire career has been spent in the medical branch on Governors Island. He is 78 years of age, and of those years fifty-seven have been passed in the service of the Government.

The bill that will make possible the retirement of this old Sergeant, not as an officer, as his friends had hoped, but with the pay of his present rank, with certain allowances that will make his pay in his declining years almost equal to that of a Second Lieutenant, has just passed the Senate. In a few days it will come up in the House of Representatives, and if the indorsements of the President of the United States, ex-President Roosevelt, six Lieutenant Generals, nine Major Generals, thirty-two Brigadier Generals, and Colonels, Lieutenant Colonels, and Majors in great numbers mean anything, there can be no doubt of the result. This gray-haired old soldier has served under the two Grants, Sherman, Sheridan, Hancock, and a score of other famous general officers.

When Taft was Secretary of War he heard of the movement to retire Sergt. Robertson under a special act of Congress, and he gave it his indorsement, as did also his predecessor, Senator Elihu Root, and Lieut. Gens. John M. Schofield, Adna R. Chaffee, Henry C. Corbin, Nelson A. Miles, and Arthur MacArthur, and Major Gens. Frederick D. Grant and Thomas H. Barry—in fact, nearly every officer who has occupied a leading position in the army in the last twenty-five years.

Sergt. Robertson was at his desk, in the old division headquarters building, yesterday afternoon, looking as spry and as busy as he was fifty years ago in the very same place. He does not like to talk of his record, and much persuasion was necessary to get him to show his fifteen honorable discharges from the service, every one bearing the commendatory remarks of some distinguished officer of the United States Army.

"A faithful, sturdy, dignified old soldier," Gen. Ruggles wrote on one of the discharge papers.

"I personally know this old and faithful servant of the Government," wrote Lieut. Gen. Chaffee.

"He well deserves the recognition of a beneficent Government," said Gen. Grant.

"Would reflect credit on the service as a commissioned officer," Col. Rogers Birnie, the great ordnance officer, wrote.

Scores of other distinguished officers have borne similar testimony to the worth of Sergt. Robertson, and every one of them hopes that Congress will reward him as they say he deserves.

Robertson came to New York from Edinburgh, Scotland, nearly sixty years ago, and soon after he arrived he was wearing the uniform of an American regular. He has nursed soldiers and civilians through three epidemics of cholera and two of yellow fever, and there is not an officer in the army, active or retired, above the rank of Captain who does not know and, as Col. Hoff says, love him.

"Cholera and yellow fever were not uncommon in New York fifty-odd years ago," said Sergt. Robertson yesterday, "but the Health Department was not then what it is now."

Gen. Hancock, the Sergeant said, was the handsomest officer he had ever served under. Gen. Grant, he said, looked exactly like his son, the present Major Gen. Grant; while Robert E. Lee, whom he saw when that famous soldier was a Colonel, like Hancock, was one of the handsomest officers he had ever looked upon. Sheridan he served under, too, and for the little cavalryman he cherishes the memory of a warm personal friendship, and so it is, also, with Chaffee, Miles, and, in fact, all the famous army figures since the civil war.

Sergt. Robertson lives in a flower-surrounded cottage near the Governors Island Chapel. His flowers are famous, and no army function on Governors Island is ever complete without a supply of American Beauties, carnations, or other clippings from the Robertson beds. It took him twenty-five years to bring his garden to its present state of perfection.

"I don't know whether the bill will pass or not," said Sergt. Robertson yesterday, "but I do know, no matter what the outcome is, that I have a lot of splendid friends in the service, and some of them are Generals that I knew as Second Lieutenants just out of West Point."

Sergt. Robertson is soon to celebrate his golden wedding, and they are preparing to give him the time of his life.

BOY A HABITUAL TRUANT.

Charles Osborne Has Run Away from Home Three Times in a Year.

A bedraggled boy, 11 years old, crept into the home of Mrs. Helen Kepler, at 496 Southern Boulevard, last night and asked for something to eat and a place to sleep. Something about the boy's face reminded her of a newspaper picture she had seen of Charles Osborne, who lived in that house a year ago, and who had since then three times disappeared from his new home. But when she questioned the boy he denied stoutly that he was the missing lad.

"My parents died a year ago," he said. "Since then I've been living at the homes of playmates, who took care of me. But they got tired of me a few days ago, and I have been walking all over the city ever since."

Mrs. Kepler, still unconvinced, called Policeman Hay of the Alexander Avenue Station. He looked at the boy, and said that a general alarm had been sent out for him by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Osborne of 258 West Sixty-seventh Street, for he had run away on Wednesday evening while his mother was out shopping.

At the police station Lieut. McLaughlin repeated the boy's history to him—how he had run away three months ago, and had been found sleeping on a pier of the North River, and how, after a second escape a month ago, he was recovered sleeping in an elevated train.

The boy to all this shook his head in emphatic denial, [illegible] so vigorously that he sank back upon the station bench. There his parents found him to-night and reclaimed him.

SHE GETS HER TICKET.

Now Colored Girl's Father Insists on Dance Invitation for Another Daughter

Partial capitulation by the white members of the graduating class in the fight waged by James N. Vandervall, a colored man of East Orange, N. J., in behalf of his daughter, Isabel, denied a ticket to the class dance on June 24 in the Woman's Club, put a new phase on the case yesterday. The young colored woman got her ticket yesterday, after insistent demands by her father, made to John Hermann, Chairman of the Dance Committee. Vandervall now says that another daughter, Irene, who should have graduated last year, but did not receive her diploma then because she had not covered the required number of subjects, is entitled to a ticket for the dance, because she is to get her diploma with this year's class.

This demand has been refused, the class holding that she is not a member, because she belonged to the class organization of 1909 and was written up in the year book of that class.

Vandervall would not tell yesterday what he intended to do to enforce his demand for a ticket for his second daughter, but it was said that, failing to get a ticket for her, he would escort her to the dance himself and demand that she be admitted.

Vandervall declared yesterday that his daughters had been subject to petty indignities throughout their school careers and that the effort to keep them away from the dance was the culmination of a long series of annoyances.

HOW TO KEEP BEES.

Agriculture Department Issues a Bulletin Imparting Needful Knowledge.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The Department of Agriculture in a new Farmers' Bulletin on "Bees" says that there is money in bee keeping if it is managed properly. Bee keeping is being carried on with both profit and pleasure by many thousands of people in all parts of the United States, and while, as a rule, it is not the sole occupation of those who pursue it, there are many places where an experienced bee keeper can make a good living by devoting his entire time and attention to this line of work.

The average annual honey yield per colony for the entire country should be from 25 to 30 pounds of comb honey, or 40 to 50 pounds of extracted honey. The money return to be obtained from this crop depends entirely on the market and the methods of selling the honey. If sold direct to the consumer, extracted honey brings from 10 to 20 cents per pound, and comb honey from 15 to 25 cents per section. If sold to dealers, the price varies from 6 to 10 cents for extracted honey and from 10 to 15 cents for comb honey. All these estimates depend largely on the quality and neatness of the product.

The bulletin contains much information on the subject. Its aim is to give briefly the knowledge needed by persons engaged in the keeping of bees, and to answer inquiries that are frequently received from correspondents of the department. It discusses the location, equipment, and stocking of the apiary, the habits of bees and their manipulation, the production of honey and wax, wintering, and diseases and injuries. It also gives such general information as how to obtain and introduce queens, laws affecting bee keeping, and journals and books on the subject.

VICTOR HERBERT IN PERIL.

He and His Party Unhurt in $4,000 Explosion and Fire.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., June 16.—Victor Herbert, the composer, his wife, daughter and son, and Mrs. Rida Johnson Young, the dramatist, who is a guest of the Herberts at their camp on the eastern shore of Lake Placid, had narrow escapes from injury this afternoon when Mr. Herbert's boathouse was burned.

The party was preparing for a boat ride, and Clifford Herbert, a Princeton student, was starting the engine on his motor boat when the engine back-fired. The boathouse took fire and a twenty-gallon tank of gasoline exploded, wrecking the building and the boat. Young Herbert and the other members of the party, who were just outside the boathouse and about to enter when the explosion occurred, were not injured.

Mr. Herbert estimates his loss at about $4,000, which includes the motor boat, valued at $2,300 and uninsured.

A TURKISH BATH EXODUS.

Bursting of a Steam Pipe Affords a Strange East Side Parade.

A steam pipe in the hot room of the Turkish bath of Elias Berschleiser at 32 Orchard Street burst last night, flooding the room with scalding steam and burning slightly eight men who were in the room. The men fled to Orchard Street, each clad only in a brief towel, and immediately, before the refugees could take shelter, a crowd of some thousand people gathered. Finally the men managed to find refuge in doorways and clothing enough for temporary necessity was provided for them.

A piece of the burst pipe struck Louis Manschuck, a rubber, in the face, inflicting a slight wound, and in trying to stop the flow of steam from the pipe he was scalded badly enough to necessitate his being taken to Gouverneur Hospital. He is not in a serious condition.

The steam had to be shut off before the break could be repaired.

Woman of 70 Who Wedded Yale Student Gets Back $20,000 Estate.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 16.—By decision of Judge Lucien F. Burpee in the Superior Court to-day the action of the Probate Court in appointing a conservator over the estate of Mrs. Lucinda M. Cushman Treat Goddard, 70 years old, is set aside. The conservator was appointed upon suit brought by her son, Edward A. Treat, following her marriage last September to Charles R. Goddard, 21 years of age, a student at the Yale Law School.

Mrs. Goddard is now adjudged capable of managing her own affairs. She is said to have property valued at $20,000 or more, and after her marriage her son instituted the proceedings, alleging that she was not capable of managing her affairs properly.

Another Graft Conviction.

Special to The New York Times.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 16.—After a deliberation of five and one-half hours a jury at 11 o'clock to-night returned a verdict of petit larceny against George A. Pepper, indicted for grand larceny in the county graft inquiry here. The penalty is one year in jail or $500 fine, or both. This is the second conviction of the eighteen indicted for graft.

Fleeing Secretary Caught in the West.

District Attorney Whitman received word yesterday of the arrest in San Francisco of Frank H. Turner, who was indicted for grand larceny following a complaint that he had appropriated some $6,000 of the funds of Mrs. Irene Denison, for whom he was secretary at Lake George some six years ago. No indictment was filed until last December, when Turner had been found working in Chicago.
